

Chapter 329 She Left

On the other hand, Ryan started to investigate who took the children away.

Since there was no licence plate, they tried to track down the car. But the car model was too common and there were hundreds of similar cars running on the road.

Ryan used all his power in the Hai City to investigate about the kidnappers. Just as he was about to use the power of Western Europe, Xavier ran over again. This time more anxious than the previous time. “Mr. Monor, we are in a big trouble. Mrs. Lewis has been kidnapped!”

The Mrs. Lewis, Xavier was talking about was Elena’s mother, Eleanor, who was still in a coma and was undergoing treatment.

“What?” Ryan was shocked. “How did that happen?”

Xavier wiped the sweat off his forehead and explained the situation. “The guards informed that some people suddenly barged inside the house and before they could do anything, they were knocked down by those people. When they woke up, Mrs. Lewis was nowhere to be found. They were now searching for Mrs. Lewis in the nearby areas.”

Xavier was bewildered. Hai City was their territory. Who was so powerful and daring enough to kidnap Ryan Monor’s family under his nose?

Ryan was lost in thought. He felt that something was not right.

First, the twins went missing. Then, they took Eleanor away. What exactly did they want to do?

Even if those people knew about his children and took them away to deal with him, how could they possibly know about Eleanor?

The only people who knew about Elena’s mother, Eleanor’s existence were the people of the Lewis family. But even they did not know about Eleanor’s whereabouts after he took her out of the hospital.

And Eleanor went missing, just after the twins. The timing was too coincidental.

Or, he should rather say that it was premedicated.

What did this mean?

Ryan was connecting the dots, when a thought suddenly came to his mind and he immediately stood up. He grabbed the car keys and ran out.

On the way, he broke through more than ten red lights and almost ran over a person before he arrived at the hospital. Ryan got out of the car in a panic. He did not even bother to lock the car as he ran towards Elena's ward like a lunatic.

On the way, he bumped into Mrs. Baker, who just came back from shopping, in the corridor.

The things in Mrs. Baker’s hands almost fell onto the ground. She looked at Ryan in astonishment. “Ryan, what happened? Why are you in such a hurry?”

Mrs. Baker had never seen Ryan act like this. Could it be that something really big happened?

Ryan stopped and looked back to see Mrs. Baker. He saw she was holding some food. He quickly asked, “Where is Elena?”

"Elena just woke up and was resting in her room. After she woke up, she said that she was hungry so I came out to buy food for her. It can be seen that she is slowly recovering and there is no need. . . "

Without waiting for Mrs Baker to finish speaking, Ryan turned around and ran towards the direction of the ward.

Mrs Baker was stunned on the spot. Then as if she thought of something, she quickly followed Ryan and ran over.

When the two of them arrived at the ward, Ryan pushed open the door and found that the ward was completely empty. Elena, who should be on the bed, was nowhere to be seen.

The things in Mrs Baker's hands fell to the ground, making a loud noise. Her face turned pale. “This. . . How is this possible. Elena was still here just now and her body has not recovered yet. How can she walk on the ground?"

Ryan thought for a moment and went out of the ward. The bodyguard, who went to fetch Elena’s reports, happened to come at this moment. When Ryan saw the bodyguard, he rushed forward and directly grabbed the bodyguard’s collar, “Where is Mrs. Monor? Where is my wife?"

The bodyguard was shocked. He turned pale with fright. “I. . . Mrs. Monor should be in her room. Sir. I went to the test department to fetch Mrs. Monor’s medical reports. I don’t know where Mrs. Monor is.”

The bodyguard did not know what had happened, but after he went to the test department, the nurses kept asking him various questions about Mrs. Monor. It was only now that he got rid of those annoying nurses and came over. But seeing Mr. Monor’s reaction, it seemed that Mrs. Monor was missing.

This thought made the already frightened bodyguard even more scared.

Ryan was so angry that he directly kicked the bodyguard to the ground. “Bastard! I have arranged you to protect her! Not leave her alone!"

Ryan felt like his head was about to explode. He was about to kick the bodyguard again, when Mrs. Baker pulled him back. “Ryan, relax! We need to find Elena first!"

Mrs. Baker then asked the bodyguard, “You went to fetch the reports, then where is your other subordinate?"

It was only then Ryan remembered that he had arranged two bodyguards for Elena. He looked around but did not see the other one.

Just as he was about to lose his mind again, the bodyguard took out his phone and called his subordinate. The call ended very quickly and the bodyguard reported to Ryan.

“Mr. Monor, Mrs. Monor wanted to eat chicken porridge from Hotel Hilton. She sent him to bring it for her.”

“But Elena asked me to bring her food. Why did she ask the bodyguard again?" Mrs Baker was somewhat lost.

Amidst all the confusion, Ryan seemed to have thought of something and immediately ran upstairs. This hospital was one of the best hospitals in the city. It was also the hospital where Mason Lewis was appointed.

When he opened the ward where Mason lived, he found that the ward was already empty. Only a nurse was tidying the things inside.

Ryan ran over and asked, "Where is the person in this ward?"

“He passed away this morning. It was such a pity. He was showing signs of waking up. He even met with one of his granddaughters few days ago. I did not expect that he would suddenly pass away. Sigh. . .” The nurse sighed as she spoke.

Ryan was shocked. Mason Lewis passed away. . . He did not expect Mason to suddenly die.

Ryan’s mind was in a mess. The twins disappeared, followed by Eleanor and then Elena was not in her ward. And now Mason passed away.

Ryan was lost in thoughts when a young girl appeared in front of him. She handed him an envelope and said, “Sir, this is for you.”

The girl ran away after that.

Ryan hastily tore the envelop and some documents fell onto the ground. His eyes fell on the two words that was written on the top of the document: DIVORCE AGREEMENT.

There was also a note. Ryan picked up the note. He was familiar with the handwriting. It was Elena’s. He read the note.

‘Thank you for everything that you have done for me. I am very grateful to you for accepting me, giving me my beautiful children and saving my mother’s life. But you don’t need to do it anymore. I have signed the divorce papers and I set you free from this wrong marriage. I am taking my children and mother with me. I wish for your future happiness.’

- Elena.

The note fell from Ryan’s hand. He staggered and sat on the ground.

A terrifying thought appeared in his mind.

She not only left him but also took everything that she had given him. . .
