

Chapter 333 Like A Mad Dog

After settling Elena down, Spencer came downstairs where his assistant was waiting for him.

The assistant did not say anything. He just handed an iPad to Spencer silently.

Spencer took the iPad and skimmed through the screen briefly. He then sneered heavily, “Heh!”

“Sir, Ryan Monor has gone crazy. He has attacked our companies in Hai City, both internally and externally. He even hacked our database.”

Spencer was silent. He knew that Ryan would know he was the one who took Elena away sooner or later. But he did not expect it to be this soon.

It had not even been 24 hours since they left the Hai City and Ryan had already started to destroy his power in Hai City so quickly.

It seemed like he could not underestimate Ryan Monor’s rapid development in the past few years.

"Sir, if Ryan doesn't see you, he will continue to destroy our power. We have to think of a way to stop him as soon as possible." Spencer's assistant, Paul, said anxiously.

Paul really couldn't understand why their Young Master would fight with Ryan Monor face to face for the sake of an unimportant woman like Elena. Even though Ryan Monor had let her down, it had nothing to do with their Young Master. Why should she drag their Young Master in their personal conflict?

It took two years for their Young Master to build up his power in Hai City. Now, it was all gone because of that woman.

Hearing this, Spencer fell into a deep thought. Ryan was attacking his properties in Hai City to force him to come out. If he showed up now, Ryan would definitely not let this matter rest. He would definitely send someone to monitor him 24 hours a day, and at that time, Elena's location would be exposed.

“Sir, please say something!" Paul was very anxious. That Ryan Monor was really insane. It had not been 24 hours, yet he had destroyed half of their power. If this continued, it would not take long for him to reach Western Europe.

If Young Master’s father knew about this matter, he would definitely be furious. At that time, Sir would be in a great problem. He would definitely be punished by the family.

“Why are you shouting?” Spencer sat on the sofa leisurely. He leaned back and said without any care, “The properties in Hai City were built to monitor Ryan. If he wants to destroy it, just let him do it.”

"But. . ." Paul was about to say something when he was interrupted by Spencer.

Spencer suddenly leaned forward and his eyes were filled with malice, “Don't you think Ryan's crazy and anxious look is funny? His wife and children all left him. He must be going insane, right? I have never seen Ryan behaving this way, just like a mad dog ready to bite anyone who came in front of him. Even if the property there is destroyed, it's still worth it."

These small properties were nothing to Spencer. He was powerful and was the Young Master of Foster family. He even had the support of the Western European royal family. He didn't care about those properties at all.

Even if he had to lose more of his property in exchange of Ryan’s crazy look, he was still willing to do it happily.

"But Sir, if your father knew about this, he would definitely be furious. And your engagement with. . ."

"Only we know about this matter. If my father received the news, it must be you who betrayed me." Spencer suddenly stood up and took out a gun from his back. He pointed the gun on Paul’s forehead. "You should know the consequences of betraying me."

Paul was given to Spencer by Spencer's father, Marcus Foster. Naturally, Paul was loyal to Marcus.

However, Paul had followed Spencer for so many years, and he knew what kind of character Spencer had. If he betrayed Spencer, Paul wouldn't have a good ending.

When Paul felt the cold metal pressing his forehead, he immediately knelt on the ground. "Forgive me, Sir. I will definitely keep my mouth shut and not let the news leak out."

“Good.” Only then did Spencer take back his gun and place it on the table. He turned around and slowly said, "Let the plane wait for me. Tomorrow morning, I will head back to Western Europe."

"Yes!" Paul did not know why Spencer suddenly changed his mind, but it was a good thing that he had changed his mind.

At night, Elena was called down by a servant to have dinner.

Spencer and Elena sat face to face on the big dining table.

The big table was filled with various dishes. The food was delicious.

Elena, however, did not have any appetite. She only ate a small portion before putting down the chopsticks.

“Is the food not up to your taste?” Spencer could not help asking.

Elena shook her head. “No, it’s delicious.”

Spencer knew she did not have any appetite, so he did not ask her anymore.

After a moment of silence, Elena asked, “Where is my mother? Can I meet her?”

Spencer had sent her mother before he came to pick her up in the hospital. She did not know where her mother was now.

“Don’t worry, I have already sent your mother to the best hospital in the Western Europe. Your mother’s treatment has already started. After this matter resolved, I will take you to your mother.”

When she heard the words ‘Western Europe’, Elena could not help but become nervous. Western Europe was Ryan’s territory. He had a lot of power and influence there. What if Ryan found her mother?

Spencer could read her thoughts from her face. He put down his chopsticks and said seriously. “Western Europe is not only Ryan’s territory, but also mine. The hospital where your mother is comes under the Foster family business. Ryan won’t be able to do anything to the Foster family.”

“And for safety, I have put your mother under a different name. No one knows her real identity and my people will monitor her all the time. Ryan won’t be able to find her. Don’t worry.”

It was only then Elena heaved a sigh of relief. She looked at Spencer gratefully, “Thank you very much, Spencer.”

Spencer gave her a comforting smile. “We are friends. It’s nothing. As long as I am here, Ryan won’t be able to do anything to you. You just need to relax and take care yourself properly. I will take care of everything else.”
