

Chapter 354 She Needs A Good Opportunity

The next afternoon, as she was inside the room, Elena kept an eye on the movement outside.

If what Xavier said was right, then at 3 o’ clock in the afternoon the people present would leave and another batch of staff would take over their positions. It would take some time to do all this and she might get a few minutes to sneak out at that time.

Elena kept looking at the time and had been waiting for those people to leave outside the room. But to her surprise, it was almost four o’ clock, and the people outside were still unmoved.

There was not change in staff at all.

Elena brows twisted in a knot. Could it be that Xavier lied to her?

Just as she was wondering what was going on, there was finally some movement outside. Elena went to the door and pushed it open a little. Through the gap between the door and the wall, she saw people outside were already handing over their tasks. It seemed like they were reminding the other party how to keep an eye on her.

Elena observed the situation seriously. Even though Xavier’s words were true, there were still many people present outside. If she went out, she would be caught on the first possible moment.

Elena looked around the room. She was currently on the 40th floor. It was impossible to jump through the window or bathroom airways, unless she wanted to die.

She could only use the door, which was guarded by many people, to escape.

Elena fell into a deep thought. Even if she somehow managed to get out of this room unnoticed, she still had to pass through the security checks on the ground floor.

KING was a big enterprise and its security was quite strict and precise. All employees who worked in KING had their special ID cards which they used for security checks.

Previously, she used to come with Ryan and they used Ryan’s exclusive elevator which was why she never faced front security checks.

Now, she could not use the exclusive elevator. If she went through the normal one, she had to pass through the front security in order to step out the KING headquarters.

Elena sighed and closed the door. She sat on the bed again. Now that she did not have a phone or money, even if she managed to pass all these hurdles and ran out, she would not be able to go far away.

Western Europe was Ryan’s territory. She was afraid that Ryan would find her before she even reached the next block.

She could not just run away like an idiot.

Elena thought about it carefully. If she really wanted to leave this place, she had to properly plan every thing and find a correct route to escape.

She already knew the time when the staff change shifts. She just needed a good opportunity.

But before that, she needed to lower everyone’s guard first.

Thinking about this, Elena did not continue to starve herself anymore. She was already weak enough. If she did not eat, her body would not have energy left. At that time, she would have no strength to escape.

She had already tortured herself enough. There was no need to punish herself for the things she had not done.

Following the days, no matter what was sent over, Elena would eat it all obediently. There was no anger, no tantrum or denial.

She cooperated with the staff who took care of her. She even allowed the doctor who was sent over by Ryan to check her wound, without a word.

Xavier was very surprised when he saw Elena’s calm and obedient comportment. He originally thought that Elena would run away, or at least try to escape again.

But not to mention about leaving, she seemed to be adopting with the life here.

It was truly unexpected.

Could it be that Elena had already thought it through and did not want to leave anymore?

Xavier could not understand Elena’s thoughts. But no matter what the reason was, it was already a good thing that Elena was willing to eat. As long as she ate and rest properly, she would able to recover soon.

No matter what Elena wanted to do, Xavier only hoped for her to come out of this abyss and get well again.

The doctor soon came out and informed that Elena’s wound had been healed and she needed to eat and rest properly for complete recovery.

After seeing the doctor off, Xavier hurriedly reported this matter to Ryan.

When Ryan heard this news, he instantly stood up from his seat. His face showed genuine surprise, "Are you serious?"

Previously when he sent the doctor over, Ryan had originally thought that Elena would be dissatisfied and would create a scene. He was mentally prepared for another fight.

But to his surprise, Elena actually let the doctor to check on her. She was having her meals properly, too.

It was a little unexpected.

Ryan did not know how to get along with Elena these days. After what he did last time, he was really guilty and did not want to bother her anymore.

In fact, he did not dare to face her. He was afraid that Elena would say something hurtful again.

But now that Elena was willing to eat again, Ryan felt as if a huge rock had been lifted from his heart. He felt relaxed and relieved.

Subconsciously, a subtle smile appeared on his lips.

Xavier saw Ryan’s change in mood clearly. In these past few days, Ryan had been very depressed. But as soon as he heard about Elena’s recovery, his eyes instantly lit up.

The light in his eyes just now was enough to prove how much he cared about Elena.

Xavier smiled as well. “Of course it’s true, Mr. Monor. If you don't believe me, you can go and take a look. Madam’s mood has recovered quite well these few days. . I believe that it won't be long before you reconcile with Madam."

They all hoped that the two of them would get back together. No one knew how many people would be tormented if this continued.

Ryan nodded his head. He had to see Elena’s recovery in his own eyes, otherwise, he would not be at ease.

Ryan went to the room where Elena was locked. There were people guarding outside. He first sent those people away before reaching to the door.

Ryan did not open the door directly, instead he cracked it open a little and leaned against the wall as he looked inside the room.

Through the gap, he saw Elena sitting on the bed with her legs folded. She was holding a bowl of noodles in her hands. She seemed not to notice his presence as she continued to eat quietly.

Ryan looked at her intently. It had been a long time since he took a good look of her. In these past few days, they were either fighting or blaming each other. He could not remember the last time when they sat quietly and talked with each other.

Ryan could not help but suddenly miss their time together in the past. How they used to love each other and enjoy each other’s company.

Even if they had an argument, a kiss could solve all the dissatisfactions. When did they fight for so long?

Ryan was lost in thoughts. When he came back to his senses, he noticed that Elena had almost finished her meal.

He held the door handle and hesitated for a while. Finally, he decided to push open the door and walk in.

Elena was originally eating. But when she heard the sudden sound of door opening, she was startled and the chopstick in her hand fell on the ground.

“Relax! It’s me.” Ryan saw the fear in Elena's eyes and could not help but say, “You don't need to be afraid. I will not do anything to you."

Ryan knew that what happened that day had cast a shadow on Elena. It was only right for her to guard against him now.

After the last incident, Elena was truly somewhat afraid of Ryan now. She did not know if he would try to do something like that again.

Ryan could tell what was going on inside her mind. He could not help it last time and he was really guilty about his actions, but that didn’t mean he was that type of beast who could not control himself.

Ryan sighed dejectedly. “I really won’t do anything. I just came to see how you have been these few days."
