

Chapter 374 His Daughter Is Injured

The sound of the child attracted everyone’s attention. Ryan looked towards the door and his brows instantly knitted together.

Why did he find this voice familiar?

The next second, a middle-aged woman appeared at the door of the office behind James. There was a child in her arms.

The child was very small and was crying loudly with its hands and legs swaying. The woman kept coaxing the child but she was unable to calm the child.

When Ryan saw the child, he instantly stood up from his chair and rushed towards the woman.

He didn’t need to ask to know who this child was.

The moment Ryan came in front of the woman, he immediately snatched the child from her arms. His actions seemed rude but he was very gentle when he carried the child away.

The woman was a little stunned and looked up, only to meet with the man’s dark and gloomy face. She shivered and hid behind James in fear.

This man was simply too terrifying!

Ryan held the child in his arms tightly. It was his daughter, Rayna.

It had been a long time since he had seen his daughter.

He lowered his head and found his daughter’s fair face was red. It was unknown what happened but she was crying so hard that even her voice had turned hoarse and raucous.

Ryan had many questions but he didn’t have time to ask as his daughter was crying. He held the little girl and began to coax her.

It was only then he spotted some blood stain on Rayna’s forehead. The child was wearing a hat so he failed to notice it just now.

Ryan was instantly shocked. He took off the cap she was wearing and found a big wound on the little girl’s forehead.

Even Spencer and James were stunned when they saw Rayna’s injury. Previously, they were in a hurry to come here so they did not notice the child’s injury.

No wonder the child kept crying just now. She was injured and crying in pain.

“How did this happen?” Ryan looked up, only to find the woman to be injured too.

He was distracted by the child so he only took a glance before. Now that he saw, the woman was heavily wounded as if she had survived some serious attack.

Everyone turned to look at the woman. The woman was shocked and stammered. “I don’t know. . . I think it was because of the explosion. . .”

The woman wanted to say something more but upon seeing Ryan’s ferocious face, she lowered her head and did not dare to continue.

Fires of anger flared from the man’s eyes when he turned to look at Spencer. If it wasn’t for the child in his arms, he would have already strangled Spencer.

However, his daughter was injured and was crying in his arms. No matter how angry he was, his daughter was still his first priority.

Ryan held the child tightly and glared at Spencer. “You stay here.”

He then ordered Michelle to bring a doctor over and went inside the lounge with his daughter in his arms.

Spencer looked at Ryan’s back and lowered his head. He didn’t expect the child to be injured.

It was because of his inability that Elena and her children faced such a danger. It was only right for Ryan to be angry.

Michelle quickly brought a doctor over.

Ryan nervously watched at the side as the doctor checked on Rayna. No matter how fearless and bold he was on the outside, when it came to his family, Ryan felt his heart tremble.

Elena and Ian’s whereabouts were still unknown. Although Ryan wanted to go and deal with Spencer and his brother, he didn’t dare to leave Rayna’s side at this moment.

He had just lost a child. The despair and pain was still fresh in his heart. He couldn’t imagine something happening to his other child.

It took the doctor a few minutes to complete the check-up.

After inspecting the child, the doctor concluded that it was just a superficial injury and wouldn’t affect the child. But she still needed to take an injection to prevent any infections and inflammations.

It was only then Ryan heaved a sigh of relief.

The child quickly fell asleep after taking the injection. Ryan arranged someone to take care of the child before walking out of the lounge.

The Foster brothers were still outside. When they saw the man coming over, they stood up eagerly, wanting to explain the situation.

However, before anything could be said, the man suddenly rushed forward and punched Spencer’s face.

The hit was heavy and ruthless. Spencer was almost thrown to the ground.

“Brother!” James was shocked and immediately cried out in surprise.

Ryan took a step forward and grabbed Spencer’s collar. His eyes were red and filled with bloodthirst. “How did my daughter get injured? Where is Elena? Where is my son?!”

His previous doubt was correct. It was indeed Spencer who helped Elena escape again.

Ryan really regretted for letting Spencer go last time. He should have locked Spencer up. In that case, Spencer couldn’t be able to help Elena escape again.

One side of Spencer’s face instantly got swollen but he didn’t try to fight back. Instead, he said anxiously. “Ryan, listen to me. I was the one who helped Elena escape from here. I apologize for what happened earlier. I just didn’t expect the things to. . .”

Before Spencer could finish speaking, another fist flashed before his eyes and landed on his face.

“Who are you putting an act for? What you didn’t expect? You first took my wife and children away and now apologizing? My daughter is only six months old but she’s injured like this! My wife and son are still missing! Where did you put them?” Ryan growled in fury.

Rayna was a premature baby who was born in the wild. Just after her birth, she underwent a surgery because of umbilical cord infection. Since that day, Ryan had taken utmost care of his daughter.

But because of this man, his daughter got injured like this.

Though it was a minor injury, Ryan still couldn’t see his children in pain.

Spencer was already feeling guilty because of Rayna’s injury. Thus, he didn’t fight back ever after the second hit.

However, James couldn’t see it.

Although it was indeed their fault, James could not withstand his brother being bullied like this. He was about to step forward to pull Ryan back when Spencer shook his head to stop him.

Spencer looked at Ryan with distressed and fretful face, “Ryan, you can beat me as much as you want but you have to listen to me first. Elena is in danger!”

Ryan, who was about to hit Spencer again, suddenly stopped when he heard these words. His breath paused. “What do you mean?”

Spencer didn’t beat around the bush and directly said, “After I picked up Elena yesterday, I sent her to another island since you have found the previous one. But I lost contact with her afterwards. When I went there to check, I found the entire island was destroyed by the royal family. However, Elena was not there. The maid only found your daughter. Elena and your son are nowhere to be found.”

Spencer only wanted to help Elena escape from the pain. He didn’t expect such an accident to happen.

If he knew this would happen, he would rather Elena stay with Ryan.

Ryan let go of Spencer’s collar. He brows furrowed over. “Why did the royal family destroy the island?”

Since the establishment of KING Group, Ryan had spent a long time in Western Europe and knew the royal family very well. Even if they wanted to hurt someone, they would do it discreetly so as to not attract any attention.

Something like destroying an entire island was not the way of their doing things.

“I don’t know why they did it but I’m sure Elena wasn’t there during the explosion. I’m afraid. . .” Spencer’s face showed a trace of fear. “Both Elena and your son are kidnapped.”

After being chased by the royal family’s people, Spencer waited until those people left the place before getting back to the island. They began to look for Elena.

However, no matter how long they searched they only found ruins.

If something really happened to Elena in that explosion, then they must be able to find some traces but there was no trace of Elena there.

It was only then Spencer doubted that someone might have kidnapped Elena before the island exploded. They even took Ryan’s son.

With this doubt, Spencer immediately came to Ryan with his daughter.
