

Broad World

#Chapter 31 - Read Broad World Chapter 31

Chapter 31 ceremony

As soon as I walked into the hotel, I saw the bartender arguing with several people and shouting: "This is not a place where you can go wild. A mage asked me to take care of this little girl. If you have any questions, wait for him to come back. Besides." A fat businessman stood up and said to the bartender: "This little girl's parents owe us a lot of money. I have the right to take her away and sell her to pay off the debt." The little girl hides behind the bartender. I looked at the situation in front of me in a daze.

"Who dares to sell my servant!" Henry walked in, his silver eyes swept across the group of businessmen coldly. The surrounding temperature dropped quickly, and the originally noisy hall was silent. Because they saw the mage's hands began to burst into flames. Robert saw the eyes of the former creditors glowing with hatred, and his hands were tightly grasped on the weapons around his waist, waiting for the master to kill them all. Amy saw that his master and brother were coming and ran out. Robert hugged his sister gently and said, "Okay, my sister, the master will teach them a lesson when it's okay." Henry walked over. The bartender ignored the businessmen and asked directly, "What's the matter?"

The bartender sighed and said, "You can be regarded as Mr. Master. These * flies have found here three days ago and are annoying me every day. If it was more than ten years ago, I would just pull out the sword and chop them into pieces. Two halves. They claim that the girl owes them a large debt."

Henry nodded and said, "Thank you for protecting Amy these days. I know about the situation." After speaking, he took out ten gold coins and put them on the table.

The bartender smiled and collected the gold coins and said, "Thank you for your generosity. It is my responsibility to serve every guest who lives here."

Henry turned his attention to staring at these merchants coldly and said, "How much does she owe you?" The fat businessman just now hesitated and finally stood up and said carefully: "Please forgive us for offending Mr. Master, she owes you We two thousand gold coins." He turned his head to look at Robert when he heard the number. Robert nodded and said that the merchants did not increase the price. He took out the dimensional bag and poured out two thousand gold coins and threw them on the ground, saying: "I will pay the debts for my servant, but you must also be punished for offending me." After speaking, he performed a magic trick on the gold coins. Whenever merchants picked up a gold coin, they would be stung. Seeing the merchants grinning and picking up gold coins, the brother and sister smiled happily.

bought a lot of food and ordered a bottle of red blood wine and the three returned to the room. After sitting down around the table, Henry opened his mouth and said, "Today we celebrate the completion of Robert's training. You two can drink this bottle of wine separately." Then he handed over the bottle. I started to eat quietly. Robert borrowed the bottle to pull out the cork and poured himself a glass first. He knew his owner never drinks and then poured some for his sister. He remembered that his sister used to drink this sweet and sour wine the most. . Amy raised the glass happily and looked at Henry expectantly. Henry smiled and nodded, she shouted loudly: "Cheers." Robert also lifted the glass and touched her gently and said, "Cheers."

Henry left the table after eating and lay on Chuang and started thinking about the ceremony of tomorrow. The siblings happily ate the sumptuous food on the table and touched the cups from time to time. At the end of the dinner, Amy's face was red and smiling, and Robert looked at his sister in relief. Considering the inconvenience of three people living together, Henry went downstairs and opened two rooms. After driving the two little drunks back to their respective rooms, he fell asleep.

The next morning, Henry took Amy and Robert to the second floor of the witchcraft grocery store early. The Archmage Habassah has already begun to paint the patterns needed for the magic ritual on the ground. Seeing Henry, he stood up and said happily, "Ah, you guys came really early. Are you ready for the lovely warlock girl? I didn't expect that I would be able to complete such a ritual once in my lifetime. You have to know someone with the blood of a warlock. Most people are inspired by themselves."

Henry nodded, took out the dragon blood and handed it to Habassah and said, "Master, this is the dragon blood needed for the ceremony. In addition, this boy is Amy's elder brother."

"Are they brothers and sisters? If the younger sister has the blood of the Golden Dragon, then the elder brother must have it too. Let us have a test." The old man grabbed a handful of transparent dust from the table and began to chant a spell. One minute later, a spell was released into Robert's body. After the blood test, the archmage said, "It's a pity that the blood is not as pure as his sister. And he's still a thief, but he can still activate a part of his bloodline after completing the ritual together. Get a few talented spells."

Robert was very happy to hear that, after all, a few more life-saving cards are also good. After the test, Henry and the Archmage began to paint the patterns of the ceremony, and it was all completed in an hour. Followed by a careful inspection, after all, as long as there is a small flaw in something like a magic pattern, it is easy to cause irreversible consequences. Fortunately, the current bloodline stimulation is fairly simple. It is said that when summoning * devil and far-reaching demon, most mages will spend several months checking and correcting the entire circle. After the inspection, the Great Master Habatser opened the dragon blood and gently poured it from the center of the magic pattern. The red blood flowed to every corner along the carved pattern.

"You two stand in the middle now and hold hands. Don't come out for a while, no matter what happens." The archmage said to the two brothers and sisters. After hearing the order, Robert took his sister by the hand and walked to the center of the magic circle and stood there. After seeing the two arrived at the designated location, Habassah handed Henry a piece of paper and said: "I will guide the energy generated by the entire magic circle, and you will be responsible for presiding over the operation of the entire ritual. This is the word you need to pronounce in a while. , Make sure you don't make any mistakes." Henry took the parchment and looked at it and didn't have many words, and quickly memorized it. Then he said to Dafa: "I have all remembered, and I can start the ceremony."

Habasser stood to the north of the circle and began to chant a spell, as his voice became louder and louder. The dragon blood flowing on the ground quickly began to flow and boil, gradually forming a pattern of a giant dragon. Henry took a step forward and said loudly: "Great King of Dragons, Lord of the North Wind, Platinum Dragon Bahamut! Please bless these two children to find their blood and restore the glory of the descendants of the Golden Dragon." There was a violent concussion in the formation, and the dragon blood penetrated little by little along the skin of the brother and sister. Amy and Robert knelt on the ground in pain, their skin glowing red as if they were cooked. After seeing the second stage of the ceremony, he opened his mouth and said loudly: "Great Golden Dragon! Please watch your bloodline, they are struggling to pursue you. Your descendants need your care, and they long for your approval." After speaking, a huge golden dragon phantom slowly appeared in the magic circle, and he uttered a huge roar at the two children. "Roar!" The entire room was blown up and down, and the items on the table fell all over the floor.

Henry quickly got up from the ground, and saw the two brothers and sisters lying quietly on the ground making bursts of breathing. He let out a sigh of relief, and it seemed that the ceremony was a success. Habassah Dafa walked over and stroked his beard and said: "The ceremony went well. The roar just now was the recognition of the dragon soul in the blood. The girl should already be a warlock. Don't worry about it now. Let's start our class. They won't wake up in a few hours." He used the hands of a few wizards to rearrange all the mess around.

The old man stood in front of the alchemy stand and said to Henry: "The selection of materials for making magic items is a very important thing! You have to consider the strength of the materials, the nature of the magic, whether it has the possibility of secondary processing, the maximum endurance, etc. You My teacher told me that you used Mithril to make an invisibility ring. This is a typical waste. Mithril is known to have a particularly high magic tolerance, but you only use it to carry a mere second-level spell. Most second-level spells only require silver to carry. And you don't need to add an expensive emerald at all."

Henry quietly listened to the explanation of the alchemy materials by the archmage, UU reading from the bearing capacity of the materials to the later inlay craftsmanship. He absorbed this knowledge frantically. Six hours later, the Ristan brothers and sisters slowly opened their eyes. Seeing that they were awake, the archmage stopped the lecture and walked over and asked, "How do you feel, what spells have you awakened?" Amy stood up and said, "I learned two spells: magic missile and intimidation. It can be used three times in total." Robert stood up and took his arm, and saw that his arm quickly grew thin scales from the original skin and then disappeared.

The old man nodded and said: "The girl has become a level 1 warlock, and the boy has gained the special talent of dragon scales. Don't look at the scales because the scales are very thin. It has at least one piece of leather armor protection, and it has considerable resistance to magic. . With exercise, their abilities will be strengthened.

Henry smiled and nodded and thought: "They are included in the system, and they can grow quickly by killing monsters and enemies. After a few battles, their abilities will be greatly improved, especially the younger sister Amy. It is a very good assistant. The powerful number of spells cast per day makes most wizards envy, jealous, and hate, and they never need to prepare in advance, and do not need spell materials. But the types of spells cast are very few, and When the spells are awakened, they can't choose by themselves, and they can't protect themselves well when fighting with the same level of wizards. But Amy does not have this problem, and I will select all the spells for her to form a set after each upgrade. Offensive and defensive tactics."

ask for clicks, ask for recommendations. Seeking collection

Chapter 32 Kolo Parrot

Henry took his brother and sister to leave after chatting with the Great Master Habasser for a while. When he left, the old man told them to come with them tomorrow. The younger sister can follow along with the alchemy courses, while the older brother learns how to use and disarm magic traps, the use and identification of magic items, and other knowledge that can be used by thieves with the apprentices downstairs. After leaving the witchcraft grocery store, Henry took the two directly back to the Fairy Song Hotel. After a brief dinner, he returned to his house and turned on the system.

Occupation: Mage 7 level 96813/90000, Druid 8 level 96812/90000 you have upgraded

A 19th-level archmage brought him a full 18,000 points of experience. Recalling that the battle at that time was really thrilling and almost wiped out. There was a silent upgrade.

Occupation: Mage 8 level 96813/135000, Druid 9 level 96812/125000

1st level spell slot, 4+4+1

2nd level spell slot, 3+3+1

3rd level spell slot, 3+1

4th level spell slot, 2+1

1st-level magic power position, 6

2nd level magic power position, 6

3rd level magic power position, 4

Level 4 magic power position, 3

After preparing the spells and magic arts he needs tomorrow, he lay down and rested, and there are still very important lessons to be listened to tomorrow. Henry was awakened by the noise from downstairs the next morning. He got up and opened the window and found a red parrot on the signboard at the entrance of the hotel downstairs. People around him stopped to watch and buzzed. Just when Henry wanted to close the window and wash his face and brush his teeth, the parrot said, "You * crap! Have you ever seen such a beautiful and mighty bird? Look at me and I will take all your eyes off. Oh! I know that your pig-like IQ may not be enough to understand what I'm saying. But let me go now!"

Henry lay stunned at the window, who taught the parrot to talk like this. This yin and yang tone is matched with a disdainful expression, what a mocking technique this must be. Then, as expected, the crowd onlookers became angry. They began to pick up the stones on the ground and threw them towards the parrot. The parrot flew directly and cast a cone of colored light at the crowd. The scene suddenly became more chaotic. Some people fainted directly, some stood there in a daze, and others shouted that they were blind. Looking at the parrot's red feathers, curved beak and black eyes, he suddenly remembered that it was a Korot parrot. The colored light just now should be a colorful rainbow that resembles a level 1 spell, which means that this parrot is a magical beast.

Looking at the chaotic crowd downstairs, Henry directly used the hand of a mage to grab the parrot and close the window. The little guy was rather unfriendly and yelled: "Despicable boy! You will regret it. Untie your sordid spell, or I will shout indecent." He shook his head when he looked at the swearing parrot "Dear Mr. Parrot, although I don't know who taught you the lingua franca. I don't mind pulling your tongue out if you don't stop talking about swearing." The parrot immediately closed his mouth and said nothing. Seeing the effect of the threat, Henry nodded in satisfaction and continued: "You see it is obviously better now than before, we can talk about it. What is your name? What kind of experience have you had? Who taught you to speak?" The parrot saw the mage in front of him who looked very cruel and answered honestly: "My name is Bamberk. I used to travel with a ship called the Plump. The one who taught me the common language is a sailor whose name is Gene. Then the ship met the pirates and everyone died. The pirates said they would cook me, so I ran out by myself."

“Then what happened to those people outside just now?” Henry continued to ask. The parrot raised his head proudly and said: “Don’t mention those petty people, I just ate something at their stall, and after a bit of excretion, I kept chasing me here. You know I used to be on the boat. It was eaten and excreted casually. After listening to the parrot, he pressed his forehead with his hand, and suddenly wanted to hit the wall with his head. I thought you would steal someone else’s food and eat it. After eating, you would still * on the stall! If you change, no one has to teach you a lesson. He simply explained the rules of human society to the Bamburk parrot and why it was besieged. Bamburk nodded and said, “You humans are really Complicated, otherwise I will travel with you. ”

Henry thought for a moment that the Koror parrot is also a flying magical beast, and this one is proficient in language mockery. It should be useful when traveling. He opened his mouth and said to Banburke: “You can travel with me, but we have to make good terms first. First of all, you must not speak insults to anyone without my consent, and you must not provoke incidents at will, or destroy things. I try my best. Satisfy your diet and housing requirements.” Considering this parrot’s provocative motivation and chaotic level, he had to get vaccinated in advance. Bamberk stood on the table shaking his head and walked around for a few laps, then nodded and said, “Well, I agree to your request. If someone attacks me, I will fight back.”

After reaching an agreement, Henry started washing his face and brushing his teeth, and then took it downstairs to get some breakfast. When they came to the hall, they found that Robert and Amy had eaten breakfast and were waiting for him. After ordering a few sausages and two pieces of bread, they moved to the side of the siblings. Robert glanced at the parrot on his shoulder and did not speak, while Amy stared curiously. Finally, Banburke couldn’t help but said, “What are you looking at, haven’t you seen such a beautiful bird?” Amy was surprised to cover her mouth with her hand. “Shut up! Banburke. Did you forget our agreement?” Henry scolded. When the parrot heard what he said, he turned his head and closed his mouth. Amy asked curiously: “Master, is it the parrot that created a lot of chaos in the morning?” Henry nodded and said, “Yes, but I have reached an agreement with it. Where will we go in the future? Just follow wherever you go.”

At this time, the waitress brought breakfast. He broke off a small piece of bread, cut another piece of sausage and put it on the table and said, “Here, this is your breakfast. Remember not to excrete here after eating.” Banburk swayed to the food and started. Eat it up. While eating, he said, “I’m a civilized bird. This morning was just a misunderstanding.” After breakfast, I took my brother and sister and a parrot to the witchcraft grocery store. Henry threw Bamberk directly to Ares, who had always lived here, and he didn’t want this parrot to cause any trouble.

After seeing the parrot, the Archmage Habassah smiled and said to him: “Your luck is good, the Koror parrot is a good travel companion. They can be a simple spell, and they can be released in unlimited amounts. They are especially Being good at telling jokes brings a lot of color to the lonely journey.”

"Color? Bless the gods! It is a great thing for me not to cause trouble." Henry said with a wry smile. Then he told the old man what happened this morning. The archmage leaned forward and back after hearing the laughter, and finally he gasped and said: "Oh! The guy who taught it to talk is really a genius, but this parrot has a very curious character. I can anticipate your future journey. It will be wonderful."

After sending Robert downstairs, Master Habasser started today's class. Today is about the identification and carving of magic lines. Henry and Amy listened carefully, and Amy even took a pen and a few sheets of paper to make notes. The lecture was over near noon. The archmage clapped his hands and said: Alright! The theory is here first, and in the afternoon we start to practice. Henry, your request this afternoon was to make a magic leather armor. I remember you still have a lot of pterosaur corpses, right? "Henry nodded and said: "Of course the master, I have many more." "As for you, Amy made a magic missile wand considering that you are not very familiar with magic." I will provide you with materials for free. "The old man said to the girl. Amy immediately stood up, bowed, and said, "Thank you, Grandpa Habasser." "

The archmage smiled kindly and said: "You are welcome, my child, you let me complete a dragon vein warlock ritual myself. This is very helpful for my future research. Okay, now you all go to the first floor to eat, Henry, you Your animal buddy can feed it by yourself. Yesterday, the apprentice downstairs helped you to feed it In the evening, Ares wanted to show that he was close and threw him down and licked a few on his face. Next, the child thought he was going to be eaten by the brown bear and peed his pants." The old man shook his head in disappointment.

Henry and Amy went to the basement to order a lot of food, then brought them to the third floor to share with their animal buddies. Robert said that the knowledge explained by the apprentices in the morning was very useful, and he would eat with them at noon and ask some questions by the way. As soon as I arrived on the third floor of the stairs, I heard Banburke's croaking voice saying: "Hey, big guy, you are always so stupid. I asked you to stand up! Not to lie down! Damn you, you can't be well. Understand what I said. Stand up! You pressed me down." After walking up, he found Ares pressed the parrot's paw with his head. Seeing Henry walking up with food, the brown bear got up and let go of the parrot and ran over, drooling.

Banburk combed his feathers hard and cursed: "Damn blind bear, you messed up the uncle's fur." Henry touched Ares' ear and said, "Okay, Banburk, let's start now. Eat. If you don't want to be swallowed by Ares someday, you'd better shut up now." The parrot shook its feathers and closed its mouth and flew to the food. He simply divided the food and sat down with Amy to start eating. The girl asked Henry about the production process of the Missile Staff while eating, and Henry answered patiently and meticulously. The parrots and brown bears on the side continue to play you teasing me. I will never get tired of my teasing game. Lunch time passed quickly, and Amy said goodbye to the two animals and followed Henry to the second floor, waiting for the archmage to return.

ask for clicks, ask for recommendations. Seeking collection

Chapter 33 Create magic items

After a quarter of noon, the archmage appeared on the second road alchemy platform on time. He took out a wooden stick, a red crystal and a small amount of gold from the dimensional bag and put it on the table and said to Amy: "Come on, lovely Miss Warlock. I have prepared your main materials and put them here. Now, you have to find other auxiliary materials on the alchemy table yourself. Henry, go to the table on the other side and start making your leather armor. When making leather, you can use some of the energy of the mage tower. Now start moving. ."

Henry nodded to Amy and came to the table on the other side of the hall. He poured out the body of an adult pterosaur and began to peel the skin. Use a sharp knife to pull down the skins that are six to ten feet square, and use the energy of the mage tower to dry them. After drying, he began to test and engrave some magic patterns in each piece of leather. After the engraving, he evenly smeared the special oil on the leather surface. Finally put it aside, let the mage tower use the power of the wind element to let it dry as soon as possible. He took out some Mithril ore and added some combustion aids to the stove, and waited quietly until it melted and filtered out the slag, took out the hot Mithril and poured it into the abrasive tool. After cooling down, he got about fifty rivets, and then made some special magic marks on these slightly hot nails. Soon the originally soft leather became hard, Henry recalled Robert's figure, and after simple cutting and rivets, they were connected to form a simple double-layered leather armor. He carefully went to the burr and clamped two round alloy plates on his chest and abdomen. This was based on the original ideal of the goggles to better protect the fragile internal organs. After the crafting process was completed, he began to prepare to cast spells, first with four-level spells, high-level invisibility, then soul armor, secondary spell deflection, protection from long-range weapons, protection from negative boundary damage, freedom spells, and protection from flames. After casting the spell, he almost sat on the ground collapsed, and a huge force was drawn away from his body.

After he turned his head and saw that Master Habassah was instructing Amy, he secretly opened the system and took a look and was directly extracted five thousand points of experience. After resting for a while, I was going to finish the final process of wrapping the leather armor. Use a cloth made of spider silk to gently wrap the outer layer of the entire wallet and then the whole was completed. This is a skirt armor, the upper body is made of hard leather sandwiched with metal plates. The lower demigod only reaches the thigh, and several pieces of leather are connected in series to form a skirt shape. This magic leather armor provides a high level of invisibility once a day, as well as permanent freedom and fire protection. Two positions formed around the armor have very good protection against physical attacks and low-level magic attacks. He nodded in satisfaction and then turned to look at the girl making a missile wand.

Amy has already carved the magic pattern of the entire wooden staff, and she is carefully inspecting the staff to ensure that there will be no mistakes. The production of the Missile Staff is very simple. Find a wooden stick that uses magic to pass the ability, a slightly larger red crystal and finally use gold to connect them together and cast a magic missile. But for the little girl who was new to alchemy, the complex carvings already made her sweat profusely, but fortunately, it is now finished. The Grand Mage Habassah smiled and comforted: "Don't be nervous boy, you have done a great job so far. Now you only need to heat the gold and carefully set the crystal as the energy storage." Amy points. I nodded my head and picked up the tongs pan with tongs, put the gold nugget in and started heating, the gold soon became soft. Amy took the opportunity to use tools to change its shape, and a slightly ugly three-fingered claw was ready in a while. The crystal was put in to fix the whole wand and it was made. The girl then cast a magic missile at the crystal. The red crystal flashed a ray of light to absorb the spellcasting and the production was completed.

Henry walked over and said to her: "Very good, the first time I can successfully make a missile staff. I believe you will be a good assistant in the future."

"Haha, indeed very talented. Especially the personality is calm and cautious enough, and the inspection is very careful. Most warlocks do not have such a good patience, they are either enthusiastic or cold and ruthless, and their personality has changed too much." The old man also Give a high rating.

Amy blushed happily and said, "Thank you very much, Master, for your praise. Master, I will become a good assistant in the future."

Habassah nodded and said to Henry, "Okay, now let me see your results." As he said, he walked up to the leather armor and began to examine it carefully. While checking, he used spells for some detection, and finally looked at the lines on the inner side. After reading it, he said to Henry: "The pterosaur skin itself is strong enough. You also used grease on the surface to make its hardness continue to increase. After double-layer production, the metal plate is slightly redundant. In the link part, you used Mithril, and you can see that they carry the most spells. This time your materials are not wasted. The leather armor itself has too much magic. In fact, only one soul armor is enough to protect ranged weapons. I personally suggest that you can replace it with acceleration next time. Generally speaking, it is a good work."

Henry nodded and said, "Master, I added a long-range protective weapon because I wanted Robert to avoid the arrows flying from behind when he was escaping. But the acceleration technique you mentioned is a very good choice."

The archmage stroked his beard and said, "Okay, the practical class is over, Amy, come over and I will fill up some basic courses for you. As for Henry, you can move around freely. I allow you to use some energy quotas to make items."

“Thank you very much for your generosity, then I will continue to make some leather armor to exercise my craft.” After that, he began to continue the process of making leather armor. It’s just that I didn’t care so much this time. A simple single layer of pterosaur skin was added with a mage armor and invisibility. This is considered complete. After Master Habassah finished teaching Amy, the little girl stood up with a dozen pieces of parchment. Henry also produced four simplified pterosaur leather armors and put them into the dimension bag. Each of these leather armors consumed 1,000 experience.

The great mage touched the girl’s head and said: “Today’s lesson ends here. From tomorrow on, it will be practice in the morning and afternoon like this. You are tired today and take Robert back to rest.”

Henry nodded and said, “Thank you again for your teaching, so I will leave today.” After he said he took Amy, he went to the first floor and found Robert who was dismantling the magic trap. As for Banburke, he threw it on the third floor. Let Ares be your company. After taking the two of them back to the hotel for some dinner, they went back to the house to sleep.

For the next more than a month, Henry and Amy were listening to classes in the morning on the second floor of the witchcraft grocery store and conducting practical operations in the afternoon. The level of alchemy is advancing, Henry here also forged Robert a mithril dagger and a three-sided adamantite thorn. Giant black fangs are added to the triangular thorn. Anyone who is cut will be quickly poisoned. If there is no antidote potion or magical magic to neutralize the toxin, they will quickly die within two minutes. The Mithril dagger was enchanted by Henry with weapons and flame knives, which made this dagger possess a certain magic-breaking ability. The wounds in the stab would show flames and burns and could resist cold damage. The skin of the Shadow Leopard made a cloak for himself, the buttons used two diamonds and attached an undetectable magic and protective ranged weapon.

Amy also had a very fulfilling life, she has more than sixty notes in a stack. The front and back were densely filled with words, and finally the Great Master gave her a rope to sort out these scattered handwritings and put them into a book. The Missile Staff was also given to the little girl as a gift. Relatively speaking, Robert was much miserable. After finishing his theory class, he went to the basement to conduct a practical test. A short passage was filled with magic traps by the apprentices, perhaps out of a mischievous mentality. Most of these traps do not directly harm the body. For example, if you step on it, you will spray a puddle of stench on your face or spray a puddle of dirty water when the demolition fails. Robert was tortured by these traps and almost went crazy. Fortunately, Henry gave him a powerful magic leather armor and two magic weapons, which gave him a lot of comfort and persisted in training.

The Northland was covered with heavy snow in early February, and the cold wind was blowing wantonly. The witchcraft grocery store is still warm as spring, and tomorrow is the day to say goodbye. The Archmage Habassah deliberately prepared a ritual to summon the demon chong for Amy to perform today. After a day of magic rituals, she got a ferret, which is a very flexible little animal. UU reading They are proficient in theft and can be competent for some reconnaissance activities, especially in narrow underground caves. Amy liked it very much and gave her a cute name Shirley. This little mink usually stands on her shoulder or gets into the pocket of her jacket.

After a day's rest, the three of them bid farewell to the master, and the group of people walking on the street attracted the attention of passers-by. It's not because of Henry's handsome appearance, or Amy's cute little face. It's Ares, a huge brown bear. After a month of adequate feeding, it has grown into an adult. With a body length of nearly five meters walking in majestic manner, Bamberk stands on the bear's back triumphantly. Fortunately, in a big city like Baldur's Gate, there are occasional druids and rangers. The existence of animal companions did not cause panic. Henry did not choose to leave the city directly, he had to go to the thieves' union first. Robert's actual combat experience is too little, he needs to leave the boy here to follow the guild to do some tasks to accumulate experience, by the way, send the four pieces of leather armor promised to Alatus. In the next period of time, he will take Amy back to Koryo Castle for the final magic study, and then he will graduate. After all, he is already an eighth-level mage, and it is time to start the territory plan.

A group of people came to the door of the thieves' union. The thieves who were in charge of letting out saw a few people carrying a huge brown bear and thought that someone was coming for trouble, so they sounded the alarm. In the blink of an eye, Alatus walked out with his little brother, and laughed when he saw Henry, "Oh! I thought who was causing trouble. It's so cold, let's go in and talk about it." "After speaking, he dispelled his younger brother and walked into the guild.

ask for clicks, ask for recommendations. Seeking collection

Chapter 34 Trade and leave

When Henry walked into the guild hall, Henry found that the thieves here were obviously a lot more than the previous few times. After seeing the puzzle on his face, Alatus explained with a smile: "You must be very surprised why we are here all of a sudden. There are so many people, right? In fact, because there are fewer people taking to the streets in winter, many pickpockets and thieves can't act. They gather here to rest for a few months, exchanging some information with each other and they will leave when the spring starts next year. I went out to work. Our business has been bleak in recent months, so I hope you can bring us some good things today."

Henry nodded in understanding and said: "I did bring you some good things, but you have to promise me one condition."

"What are the conditions?" the thief leader asked subconsciously. He was cheated in the last transaction.

Henry pointed to Robert who was standing behind him and said, "I hope he will join the guild for a while. After all, he has too little actual combat experience."

Alatus looked at Robert astonished and then shouted at Henry: "Damn it! You paired this rookie with a powerful magic leather armor! Do you know that I have been the leader of thieves in this city for so many years? Not mixed with a decent armor."

"Don't get excited! Calm, calm. You see, I also brought you a few." Then he took out a few condensed versions and put them on the table, thinking, "Fortunately, I made a cover for Robert's weapons. Otherwise, the thief leader might start to grab it."

Alatus greedily stroked the surface of the leather armor and almost licked it with his tongue. With his recognition level, he could only confirm whether it was a magic item. As for the effect and whether it is strong, it is not his professional expertise. After confirming that a few of them were magic leather armors, he raised his head and asked: "Tell me about the special functions of these treasures, and then I will ask for the price."

"Uniform production and uniform enchantment. A layer of energy is formed on the leather armor to offset some physical damage. At the same time, invisibility can be used once a day. Because the pterosaur skin is hard enough, it is also very good at fighting toxins." Henry gave a brief introduction to the thief leader.

Alatus stood up, took off his leather armor and threw it on the ground, then picked up one and quickly replaced it for himself. After doing a few simple actions, he said: "Very good, very fit. The materials themselves are rare enough, and the spells are more suitable for thieves. I want them all for 18,000 gold coins. But I don't have so much cash on hand for the time being. , I hope you can accept some ore and alchemy materials. And I have agreed to your terms. I will try my best to ensure the safety of Robert."

Henry nodded and said, "No problem, I have never too much of rare materials. When do I go to see the goods?"

The leader of the thief stood up and took the magic leather armor up and stood up and said to him: "Just now, we will evaluate the price after you have selected it. I will use gold coins to make up for the shortage." After that, he took a group of people to the underground warehouse of the guild Up.

This is a cave built in the second underground level, and the door is guarded by two confidant thieves of Alatus. They confirmed that the boss personally led him, and opened the huge iron gate without any threats or spell control. Walking into the treasure house, Alatus found a few shelves to put the magic leather armor, pointed to the ores piled aside, said: "Those are rare ores, including fine gold, mithril, cold iron, and some of us. Did not recognize it. There are some magical plant seeds and some special poisons, medicinal drugs, and aphrodisiacs on the shelf over there. If you are interested, you can choose some very cheap ones.” After that, he stood aside with Robert and Amy. to chat with.

Henry began to wander around the treasury, looking at this and that. He quickly understood the classification of items here, most of which were raw materials such as ore, tendons and hairs of gems and animals. There are also a small amount of thieves’ supplies, some strange tools. Magic items are basically zero, and some books on the high-level shelves are covered with a thick layer of dust. He took down the hands of the mage and looked at it and found that most of them were some experience notes and poison formulas, and then he put them back in his head. When selecting the ore, he found a large pile of gray fragments with a special luster. When I picked it up and observed carefully, it was very brittle. These were all pure silicon. I glanced around and found that this pile was about five tons piled up in the corner. It seemed that the thieves didn’t know what it was for. With this he can make hundreds of millions of transistors, which can be pieced together into a transistor computer. As for electricity, that is not a problem.

In order not to arouse suspicion, he chose some cold iron and fine gold and then walked over and said to Alatus: “I have chosen, that pile of gray ore plus these cold iron and fine gold. You can estimate the price.”

“Why did you choose that pile of useless gray ore? Do they have any special purpose?” the thief leader asked suspiciously.

Henry answered cautiously: “Oh! I found that the gray ore has good magical properties. You can take it back and try if it can be added to the magic item manufacturing. Where did you get this thing?”

Alatus smiled and said, “That’s an unlucky thief. When he was digging a hole to enter someone else’s home to steal, he suddenly dug a huge gray stone. He chiseled hard and took note and the stone broke. I smashed him into a crippled man, and later found someone to transport these strange ore back and put it here. These ore is about five tons and counts you two thousand gold coins, plus cold iron ore and fine gold ore, which counts you two. Ten thousand gold coins.” Henry did not counter-offer and nodded his head in agreement. Then the leader of the thieves asked him to count 52,000 gold coins in the vault and give them to him. After putting all the things into the dimension bag, the transaction ends.

A few people returned to the ground and Henry prepared to leave. Before leaving, he said to Robert: “Follow Alatus and learn all his experience. Don’t perform too dangerous missions. You’d better not let others see you when you use magic weapons. “Here.” The boy nodded and said: “Don’t worry, Master, I will work hard to become the dagger behind you.” Then he turned to his sister and said, “Amy, take care of yourself when I’m away. Don’t be naughty. , Listen to the master’s words.” The girl nodded and said, “Brother don’t worry, I will.” After saying goodbye, Robert came to the thieves leader’s side, and Alatus opened his hands and gave him a hug and said: "Welcome to join. Guild, my dear apprentice. Goodbye to the respected Master Master and the lovely little girl. I hope you can bring more good things when you meet next time."

Henry waved at him and said, "Goodbye Mr. Arates, I hope your business is prosperous. Then I'll leave." After that, he took Amy Ares and Banburk out of the thieves' union. After passing the Julong Bridge, he looked back at the city and thought: "Next time I come back, it will be the day when I go out to search for islands. I hope it won't be too far." The arm simply rested for one night. After all, camping in the wild in winter is not a good idea. Hungry beasts are searching everywhere for anything that can eat their stomachs. It is said that winter wolves in the north will go south this season. He is not like these cunning guys in the wild. It's a pity that things went counterproductive. On Coastal Avenue they encountered a pack of wolves led by two winter wolves attacking a caravan.

Seeing that someone was attacked, Henry pointed out that everyone listened, and then Banburk flew over and made a mockery: "Lovely puppies! You are naughty here again. Let Banburk's father teach you something profound. !" When the headed Winter Wolf heard it, he turned his head and stared at the red-haired parrot. Then it opened its mouth and said: "Smelly bird, close your mouth or I will tear you to pieces." "Shards? Use it. Is your ugly mouth? Can you catch me? Can you fly? Don't make me laugh, your poor IQ is not as smart as a feather of mine." The parrot flew in the sky and continued to mock. The winter wolf's eyes were red with anger and it howled angrily, and the wolves put down the merchants and began to gather.

Henry found that the opportunity was a direct fireball technique. The huge explosion took away all the evil wolves. Only two cunning winter wolves escaped, and one of them took the opportunity to rush over. "Aris! Go!" After he yelled, the brown bear slapped the winter wolf. The poor winter wolf rolled out several meters in the snow, and then struggled to get up. This is another winter wolf rushing towards Amy. The little girl appeared panicked and directly activated the Missile Wand, and a magic missile hit the Winter Wolf's nose with precision. The severe pain suddenly stopped it and started wailing. Ares rushed to the Winter Wolf who had just stood up and was about to give it a fatal blow. The Winter Wolf turned his head fiercely and used the frost spit. The brown bear rolled on the spot but was still sprayed a little. The thick fur has begun to freeze.

Henry saw that Ares was in danger and threw the prepared monster directly to the winter wolf. Then he drew a scimitar and stabbed it into its eyes, destroying the brain. After Amy interrupted the other one's sprint, she became calmer and released a threat after the winter wolf began to turn around and run away. The parrot flying in the sky chased after it to make up a colorful rainbow, and the winter wolf stood in place dumbfounded. Henry walked over and took the opportunity to pierce his eyes and destroy its brain. Henry checked his animal companion and found that there was nothing else but a little frostbite. The merchant on the opposite side found that the wolves had been wiped out and walked out from behind the truck.

“Hello, respectable Mr. Master. My name is Bobby, thank you for saving us. We would be dead today if we hadn’t met you.” A fat middle-aged man saluted Henry.

Henry nodded slightly and said, “It’s nothing, the travelers on this cold winter road need to help each other. In addition, I think you’d better set off quickly. The * smell here will soon attract more carnivores. .”

Poppy nodded and took out a sapphire brooch and said, “This is a little thanks. Please accept it.”

After accepting the gift, Henry installed the bodies of the two winter wolves. After all, the fur of the winter wolves is still very good and can make two coats for his sister and mother. After saying goodbye to the caravan, he continued to move towards Belgoost.

ask for clicks, ask for recommendations. Seeking collection

Chapter 35 warm home

Belgoost is very quiet in the winter in the evening. Most of the residents go home early after a busy day to light the fireplace around the fire to warm up and eat. There was a cold wind on the street, and only a few adventurers and drunks came in and out at the entrance of the tavern and hotel. Lily returned home after delivering the last piece of bread and led the horse into the house. It was too cold and the animals would die overnight. Lina saw her mother come back and hurriedly walked over and took the coat and hung it on the wall and said: “Mom should not deliver bread on such a cold day. The money left by my brother is enough for us to live a comfortable life.”

Mother shook her head and drove the horse into the vacant house behind and said, “The money can’t be moved around, it’s for your brother’s marriage and your marriage.” After that, she started to prepare dinner.

The little girl muttered angrily: “I don’t want to marry. I want to learn magic and become a respectable archmage like Ms. Ellastro.” After she finished speaking, she picked up what her brother had left him. The book began to concentrate on learning the reading and writing of lingua franca.

Lili looked at her daughter and smiled. No matter whether she can become a mage in the future, as long as she can read and write, she can become a scholar or manager. You don’t have to work every day like yourself. When you get old, if you can’t save a lot of money, you may be begging on the streets all day long. Looking at her daughter, she thought of her son, and there was no news since he returned home a few months ago. I don’t know how his son is doing, but he shouldn’t be too bad as a mage and druid.

Just when she was thinking about it, the door full of outside was knocked, she immediately recovered, put down the chicken in her hand, wiped her hand and opened the door. Henry took two animals and Amy stood at the door looking at his mother and said, "Mom, I'm coming back to see you. This is my new servant Amy, this big brown bear is my animal companion, and this parrot is A partner who travels with us."

Amy walked over and bowed to Henry's mother and said, "Hello Madam, I am the master's servant and assistant. My name is Amy."

Lily was taken aback for a moment and nodded to the girl, then hugged her son quickly and said, "Hehe, it's fine to come back. Go and sit inside the house, it's too cold outside." A little accident happened when she entered the house. , Ares was a bit big, and he got stuck in the middle, and Heng used his foot to kick his * fiercely before pushing it forward.

Entering the living room, my sister stood up in surprise and looked at the big brown bear and asked, "Brother, you brought a big bear back! Oh my goodness, we don't know if the food in our house is enough for it to be appetizing."

After Banburk entered the house warmly, he came over and opened his mouth and said, "Haha don't worry about the little girl, this stupid big one was fed by his master. Introduce myself, my name is Banburk, the most majestic in the world. Beautiful parrot." After speaking, she shook her wings.

Henry hurriedly said nonsense before it spoke: "Bamburk! This is my home. You are not allowed to talk nonsense here! Especially don't you understand?"

The parrot shook his head proudly and said: "I have always been Binbin and polite in front of beautiful ladies. Ask me a gentleman."

At this time, the mother came over and said to Henry: "Son, I think our family may not have enough meat. I will go out and buy some. You and your friends will sit here for a while."

He smiled and took out the two winter wolves from the dimension bag and said: "Mom, you can cook our meal first. As for Ares, stew the meat of these two winter wolves and put some salt and potatoes on it. Up.

Lily ate in and looked at the two winter wolves, she was just such a cruel and cunning monster. And their skins are very valuable, a complete skin can be sold for 1,500 gold coins. After regaining consciousness, she said to her son: "You killed them? Are they injured?"

"I'm fine. These two guys met on the way to home. They were directing the wolves to attack the caravan. I killed them all. Only Ares suffered a bit of frostbite. You see here is still There is a gift from the leader of the caravan.” He took out the sapphire brooch and handed it to my mother.

The mother took the brooch and watched carefully. The younger sister also leaned over and said to her mother: “Mom, show me.” Lily put the gem brooch directly into her pocket and said, “This is not a child’s toy, which is worth at least five hundred gold coins. Help, drag these two winter wolves to the kitchen. Then we pulled out the skins intact. Two skins are worth a lot of money.” After dragging the two wolves into the kitchen, Henry helped his mother to remove the two skins. . Then half of the wolf meat was washed and the viscera was thrown out of the cauldron to start cooking, and the other half was cut into small pieces and hung on the wall in the backyard with a rope.

Lily smiled while dealing with wolf skins and said to her son who was helping to cook: “These two wolf skins are really good, they can be sold for a good price without any scars.” “Mom, winter wolf skin can resist very well. Han make two coats for you and your sister to wear. Don’t worry about money, I have at least tens of thousands of gold coins now.” Henry said to his mother while scraping potatoes. His mother raised her head and stared at him and said, “Tens of thousands of gold coins! Where did you get so much money? Don’t you do anything dangerous again?” He shook his head and said, “No, I made it. Several pieces of magic leather armor were purchased by people from the Thieves Guild. They paid the price of more than 10,000 gold coins each.” Lily sighed and said, “My god! Magic is really terrifying. If I didn’t have you, I would. Maybe I will never see more than a hundred gold coins put together in my life. Okay, listen to you, the winter wolf fur is no longer for sale. After I have processed it, I will make two coats and enjoy the life of the nobility.”

Supper was ready soon. Chicken and mushroom soup was placed on the table. Each person was a big fried wolf steak and some bread. A large pot was placed directly on the ground next to the table, full of potatoes stewed wolf meat. The brown bear is already eating his meal happily. Lina happily cut a piece of wolf with a knife and put it in her mouth while chewing and said to her brother: “Brother, who is this sister? Is your new girlfriend?” After hearing this, Amy’s little boy His face immediately flushed like a monkey’s butt, and he quickly lowered his head and cut his own steak in a panic. Henry smiled and said to Xiaoguida’s sister: “You have too many thoughts, my dear sister, Amy and her brother are my servants under Baldur’s Gate. Don’t look at her cute and long Harmless is actually a warlock. One of the two winter wolves was beaten by her.”

Lina widened her eyes when she heard that the girl who was slightly older than her could solve such a cruel animal and asked: “Sister Amy, did you really defeat a winter wolf by yourself? Amy blushed and explained shyly: “Actually, I just gave it a magic missile, and then scared it away with intimidation. Banburk caught up and knocked it to the ground with a colorful rainbow jet. I pierced its eyes with a machete.” “Wow, then you are quite good.” My sister exclaimed.

The parrot heard someone mention its glorious deeds and hurriedly drove off and said: “Of course, when the battle began, the great Banburke rushed to the front and mocked the wolves. When these stupid dogs were caught After being angered, your brother used a fireball technique to get rid of most of them. Of course, this is all my credit. Then when the wolf pack leader fled, I caught up and made a fatal blow to release it. Fall to the ground. Now you know how powerful and mighty I am! Come and praise me quickly.”

The people on the table laughed after hearing the parrot’s boasting, Henry turned his head and said to it: “Okay, great Bamberk, you should eat. And shut your mouth, and don’t stay in the house. excretion.”

After dinner, a few people did it around the fireplace, and Ares fell on the ground and began to doze off. Amy and Lina are playing with ferrets, this furry little animal is extremely lethal to women. Mother sat in a chair and said to Henry, “How long do you plan to stay at home this time?”

After thinking for a while, he replied: “Three to four days, I will go to see Cagan tomorrow. How is his life recently?”

Lily smiled and said to him: “Good can’t be better. He now has all the wealth, iron, and spirits in the dwarf’s life.” After chatting with his mother for a while, he went back to the room to sleep alone. Amy was arranged to the sister’s room and the two little girls were going to sleep together. UU reading

After Henry got up the next morning, he went to Cagan’s house after a simple wash and breakfast. Even in this cold winter, the Hammersmith was still visited by many people. As soon as Henry walked in the door, he was recognized by the apprentice and hurriedly led him to the basement. As soon as I got down I felt a heat wave, and the old dwarf was beating a piece of rough. He stood aside and watched. He didn’t walk up to say hello until Kagan had finished the work at hand and said, “Hi! Kagan heard that you have had a great time recently.” The dwarf drank a sip of water and said, “Of course. , Didn’t you see how good my business was when you came in! What’s the matter with you this time?” Henry smiled and said to him: “It’s okay, just come back and have a look. Next I’m going back to Gaolibu for the last time. After studying, it is estimated that it will take a whole year and then I will graduate. At that time I want to go out to the sea to find an island as my territory, and then I will get a noble title from the Council of Baldur’s Gate to take my mother and sister to live. You also know that Belgost is too dangerous and is often attacked by ogres or trolls.”

The dwarf nodded and said: “No way, most towns in the Northland face this problem. If you want to venture out to sea, remember to call me, my old bone can still move.”

“Okay, if I go to sea, I will definitely come to you. I’ll be relieved to see that you are okay. I will go home first.” After saying goodbye to the dwarf, Henry stayed with his mother and sister in his home for three days. On the fourth day, he took Amy and two animals and left Belgost to the mentor’s castle. This will be his last apprenticeship.

ask for clicks, ask for recommendations. Seeking collection