

Broad World

#Chapter 41 - Read Broad World Chapter 41

Chapter 41 Werewolf Battle

When Henry went to sleep, the werewolves who lived in the forest gathered under the leadership of Carroger. At the same time, a large number of bloodstains and missing persons were also found in the village. The leader Sheila said to his wife and deputy Tyras: "These missing tribesmen must be horrible. A total of three hundred people, whether men, women, young or old, are all in one night. All of them were killed and taken away. Only the ethnic group on the opposite side of Karrog had the ability and courage to do this kind of thing." As he was talking, suddenly a person ran in and shouted: "Boss! Leader Shera, in the forest. The ethnic group is attacking our town, and everyone is not prepared to be killed and injured now." Kaishas Gan was taken aback and said loudly, "Damn! They were a premeditated attack. The goal should be to kill us all. Now. We must fight back." Sheila nodded and said, "Taras, you go and ring the alarm to summon the staff. I'll stop them for a while." As he took off his clothes, his whole body began to grow long. Heimaos rushed out after letting out a howl. His wife did not show weakness, took off her shirt, turned and followed out.

Karrog is commanding his army to slaughter the villagers everywhere, and most of the werewolf civilians are quickly besieged and killed. The scene is extremely bloody. Suddenly two tall werewolves rushed out and killed one of his people with sharp teeth. Then he yelled to him: "Carroger, you bloodthirsty beast, today is your death date!" He heard this voice and replied loudly: "Sila, you despicable villain, I will lead me. The tribe razed this poor village to the ground. And you! The beautiful little Biaozi Kaishas, I will enjoy you after I kill your husband." Kaishas Gan wanted to rush up but was caught by him. Sheila's husband stopped, and Sheila said to his wife: "Don't be impulsive! He wants to irritate you. We just need to delay time here. We can launch a counterattack when the village guards are assembled. Don't worry, I'll bite myself personally today. Shatter his throat."

After a while, Terras gathered more than two thousand strong werewolves, transformed and rushed out, and the two groups of beasts fought fiercely. With his huge figure, Karroge seemed to have no effort to deal with Sheila, his wife and his deputy alone, even if he was bitten out of a huge wound, it healed automatically within a few minutes. He laughed and mocked: "You want to kill me at your level? Overpowered kid." After that, he suddenly speeded up and grabbed Tyras, opened his blood basin and bit his head. Sheila saw her deputy being killed, her eyes were bloodshot and crazy, and she rushed forward. Karrog kicked him and grabbed Kaishas who was in a daze and knocked her out. Then he howled loudly, and all the attacking werewolves began to leave their opponents and quickly retreat. When Karroge left, he shouted at Sheila who fell on the ground: "Incompetent boy, I am waiting for you on the boat. I will personally enjoy your beautiful wife tonight. Hahahaha!" He took it after he said it. He moved away from Sheila's sight. Sheila yelled after hearing Karrog's words and then spit out a mouthful of blood. The villagers hurriedly walked over and lifted him onto the bed.

An invisible eye in the sky watched all this. Henry had already woke up. He was controlling his mage's eye to watch the deja vu plot. What a classic (dog blood), the enemy broke his home and killed his friend and took away his beautiful wife. Then the protagonist rose up to chase the enemy's lair and cut down the enemy's head to find that his wife had been raped. A dog-blood drama at eight o'clock happened alive before his eyes. After sighing, he canceled the third-level spell, left the cabin and walked onto the deck. Standing on the bow, thinking: Since Sheila has vomited blood now, he must wait until night if he wants revenge. In other words, tonight is the gaochao of the entire island competition, and the plan is unexpectedly smooth. Everything started on the boat in Bodean, and everything ended there. What a dramatic ending. After informing all the combatants of the decisive battle tonight, everyone returned to their rooms and started to rest.

Sheila slowly opened her eyes and found herself lying on the chuang. He hurriedly got up and walked out of the room to find that the whole village was gloomy and a large number of young people were crying. Karrog's attack was very successful, and all the old people and children in the village who did not have the ability to resist were all killed. Only three thousand five hundred adults are left. He stood up and yelled at the sad crowd: "People! It's not the time to be sad! Karrog, this cruel beast rushed into our home! He killed our relatives and friends, and he even took me away. His wife used this to humiliate me. Now there is no time to grieve, what we need is revenge! Kill all the beasts that live in the forest!" His words pulled everyone back from grief. Now the villagers are full of anger. They shouted: "Vengeance! Revenge! Kill it now." Sheila howled when she saw that she had achieved her goal, beckoning everyone to calm down, and then he shouted: "Calm down! We have just experienced it now. After a fierce battle, what is needed now is rest and food. Wait until the night we give them a surprise attack, just like they attacked us last night. Now we should gather together to eat and sleep. Tonight I will lead you Completely eradicate this enemy."

Carrogg returned to the boat with the spoils, and he shouted to his men: "Today we launched an excellent raid. Those weak guys were turned upside down by our killers. And I brought back their leader's spouse! Speaking, he lifted Kaishas, who had recovered his human form after being unconscious, and tore off the woman's clothes with his huge claws. The beautiful body activated the hormones of all male werewolves, and they screamed to vent their emotions. Carrogg stroked the woman's smooth back with satisfaction and said loudly, "Enough! Listen to me now, do you think that fellow Sheila will give up? Today we killed at least 700 tribesmen, and we killed Two thousand to three thousand opponents! They will definitely come to retaliate. Whoever shows the most heroic performance in the next battle will get her after I have eaten this woman." Karroge took Kaishas away after speaking. Into the cabin. Within a few moments, there was a woman's crying and Karoge's howling, and within a few minutes the crying and scolding became shenyin. The male werewolf standing outside also grabbed the surrounding female werewolves and started mating, the scene was extremely chaotic.

In the evening, Henry took all the combatants into two small boats in batches and quietly approached the wreckage. When they approached, they found that a large number of werewolves were lying naked on the ground and sleeping, and there was a smell of yinmi in the surrounding air. Cagan said softly: "Damn, these guys really think of themselves as beasts. They must have just completed a group mating." Amy hurriedly lowered her head and flushed quickly when she heard this. Robert glared at the dwarf, seemingly condemning him to pay attention to a young girl here. Henry looked at it and said, "This is a good phenomenon. Their raid in the morning caused huge losses to the village, and the people in the village will definitely come to retaliate at night. These werewolves now consume so much energy and their combat power will be greatly reduced at night. , So that the fighting power of both sides will be restored to balance, which will help us fish in troubled waters." Robert and Kegan nodded in agreement.

Everyone landed a little far away and dragged the boat ashore and hid it in the grass. After finding a huge tree, everyone climbed to the top of the tree and started to rest. Robert sat at the highest point and kept an eye on the situation in the distance. As the sky gradually darkened, the werewolves on the opposite side lit a large number of bonfires on the ground. Start cooking food and talk about the results during the day. After dinner, the werewolves were tired after intense exercises in the morning and afternoon, and soon rang out. The night was quiet, and there were no other sounds except the calls of insects and frogs.

As it was approaching midnight, the people on the tree began to get a little impatient, and suddenly Robert at the top stabbed the people below with a branch. Following the direction of his fingers, Henry saw a group of werewolves carefully alternately advancing in the woods, the number was very large, at least 3,000 people. The villagers should have been dispatched. When they were about to approach the camp, Heng used the phantom sound technique to make a loud noise beside the campfire, and all the sleeping werewolves woke up. They immediately made a sound after seeing the guy on the other side who was moving forward. Howling after another, Sheila turned to a strong attack as soon as the sneak attack failed. A large number of werewolves rushed together and began to bite each other. When Carloge heard the roar from outside, he knew that Sheila was looking for his revenge. He stood up and said to the crying woman in the bed: "Baby! Your husband is here to save you. I will take you out to meet him." Face it." Said Kaishas, who had a lot of scratches on Chiluo all over his body, resisted.

The woman resisted desperately and shouted: "You bastard, beast, let me go! Let go of me!" Karrog did not pay attention to it and walked out directly. He raised Kaishas up to the crowd in the melee and shouted loudly: "Sila, I saw that my wife has been enjoyed without yours. I have to say that you are a lucky guy. You can get such a beautiful and strong first. His spouse." As he said, he squeezed the woman's chest and continued: "But I'm not bad, now she belongs to me. It's a pity that you didn't hear her shenyin under me in the afternoon." Sheila Seeing the scratches on his wife, his eyes turned red and rushed up and shouted: "Enough! You crap, I want to tear you apart." Carlo Ge laughed and threw the woman aside and bit Sheila's. On the arm. The werewolf was so mad that he bit his enemy's ear directly regardless of his arm, and Karrog immediately let go of his mouth and kicked him in pain.

Henry and his group watched the melee in the distance and all climbed down the tree, and began to quietly approach the battlefield. As long as there is a trace of fighters, they will rush in immediately and wipe out all the werewolves.

---

ask for clicks, ask for recommendations. Seeking collection

Chapter 42 Two dogs fight, play off

The werewolves were fighting each other, Henry and Kegan took out the crossbow they were carrying, opened the bowstring and hit the silver-plated crossbow to shoot secretly. The sky is so dark and the two sides are fighting each other again, and the yelling voices are endless, and it is impossible to find anyone sneaking behind. The werewolf shot by the silver arrow quickly fell to the ground and was poisoned to death. After the battle lasted for more than an hour, the number of werewolves began to decline rapidly, and two men had already shot six quivers empty. If it hadn't been for the pulley block for the crossbow, the two of them would have been unable to pull the bowstring. Stayed and rested for a while, seeing that there were less than a hundred werewolves left on the battlefield, Henry made a gesture to Robert, and the young thief swiftly jumped out of the shadows. Everywhere he passed by A werewolf came down.

Karrog and Sheila quickly discovered the anomaly on the battlefield. They stopped fighting and watched the thieves on the battlefield. Karrog shouted loudly: "Who are you? Why did you kill my people." Robert ignored him and turned and began to leave. On the battlefield, Henry had already begun to chant spells. Cagan held a shield in front of him, and Amy's threatening technique standing behind was ready to complete. She cast it at a crowded place, and the werewolf immediately flew the pot and began to run around. No matter how stupid Sheila and Carogo were, she knew that they had been tricked by others. Sheila yelled at the crowd angrily: "The people killed them all! They provoked the fight between us! Despicable mice!" After he turned around and rushed forward.

Karrog made a gesture to his men and rushed over. The giant werewolf moved very fast, he quickly passed Shera and was about to rush to the dwarf. At this time Henry's chanting ended, and a cloud of gas flew towards Carrogg's back and exploded among the ordinary werewolves. Many werewolves fell directly to the ground and died, and other people who inhaled the gas tried to pinch their necks to spit out the inhaled poisonous gas. "Dead Cloud", a powerful large-scale killing spell, almost wiped out the werewolves. The two werewolf leaders saw that their men were dead and wounded and turned around, staring at Henry with red eyes and howling loudly.

Kegan raised his shield and wanted to fend off Carrog's attack. Unfortunately, he was shot in the air. After rolling out a dozen steps on the spot, he immediately stood up and picked up his axe. Ares directly rushed up to fight with the giant werewolf, and Henry took the opportunity to bless himself with an iron skin technique. As soon as his skin changed color, he heard the sound of a huge wolf claw grabbing his neck, but it was blocked by the spell. The dwarf found that Henry was in danger and immediately lifted the axe and threw it over. The flying axe hit Sheila's back and the huge force directly caused him to fall to the ground. Amy quickly cast two magic missiles and blinded him. The huge trauma did not kill him. He stared at a pair of blood holes and desperately grasped the surrounding air, Henry hid behind the tree and began to prepare the spell. The sound of his singing aroused Sheila's idea, and he rushed to the tree and bumped into the trunk of the tree. The huge impact on his head made him fall to the ground and fainted. The dwarf ran over and drew out the axe embedded in his back and chopped off his head.

Ares has been fighting with Carrog for a while, and the brown bear is covered with all kinds of scratches and bites. Karrog's body also had a few serious wounds, but he had obviously stopped bleeding and started to heal. Robert took advantage of Ares to attract most of the attention of the werewolf leader, and slammed his back with a long sword. The silver-plated long sword made Carogo scream in pain and knocked the thief away. . Robert spit out blood in the air and fell to the ground. Amy hurried over and poured a bottle of healing potion on his brother. Henry's chant is over, "Spell Start", Ma Youfu's acid arrow X2. Two green acids hit Carrog's head, and the acid dripped on his head. He screamed and grabbed the acid on his head with both hands, hoping to clean them. The girl stood up and took out a magic scroll to activate the spell on it. The "flaming arrow" was the scroll Henry gave her. Karoge instantly enjoyed the two days of acid and fire. He rushed to Henry wishing to drag him before he died, but unfortunately he was hit by the fifth-level divine art flame strike before he rushed to the front. A pillar of fire soaring into the sky burned on him, and soon the huge werewolf was burned into a scorched corpse.

Everyone breathed a sigh of relief after he died, Henry immediately walked over to treat his animal companion and Robert and gave Ares a mouthful of belladonna. After the death cloud technique dissipated, everyone made up for the werewolf who fell on the ground. Kaishas, who was lying in a coma at the door of the wreckage, woke up. She found a dead body and everyone who was mending the knife. Seeing that there was still a remnant, Robert immediately rushed up to smash the woman's wrist and ankle, then grabbed her hair and made her look up. Henry nodded when he saw Robert's unrelenting gesture and indifferent expression, thinking that this was the performance of a perfect assassin. He walked over and lowered his head and said to Kaishas, "Madam, your husband and enemy are dead." The woman's eyes widened and quickly began to transform. Robert plunged a silver-plated dagger directly into her lungs. unit. Kaishas's transformation was interrupted. She vomited a few mouthfuls of blood and then glared and roared: "Why! Why! Design and kill us. Is it wrong for us to want a peaceful life here?"

Henry looked at her somewhat distorted expression and said: "It's not wrong, madam, it's just that you blocked my way. I'm sorry to have caused you pain for so long. Now I will send you to reunite with your husband." Nodding to the thief, Robert chopped off a beautiful head with a single sword. After searching the wreckage of the Bodhian ship, I found about three thousand gold coins and some potions, a lightning staff, a frost staff, twenty magic darts, a magic shield amulet and a protective cloak, and Bode Ande carries a magic sword and a famous butter knife, and finally a book of magic and a nautical record. Henry said to Cagan: "Old friend thank you for your help this time. You can choose the trophies you can use first." The dwarf smiled and said, "Little Henry, you plan to use this place as a territory in the future. Come to run it?" Henry nodded to him and said, "When I return, I plan to go to Luskan to buy some slaves, and then return to Baldur's Gate to let the Seven Suns Chamber of Commerce and Habassah Archmage help operate and become a nobleman. Here it is. This is the territory I prepared for myself."

"Then I don't need these trophies. When the territory is built, I will leave a place for me. I plan to move the Hammersmith's shop over." Kagan said to him with a smile. Henry smiled happily and said: "Thank you for your support of Kagan, I will definitely make your smithy famous all over the world." After finishing Henry, he gave Amy the shield amulet, frost staff, and protective cloak. The magic sword and lightning rod gold coins were thrown into the dimension bag. All that is left is physical work, and they must throw these corpses into the sea, otherwise it will be no fun for the plague on the island. After working hard until dawn before the battlefield was cleaned up, Henry suggested to go to the village to check if there were any residues. Everyone rowed to the village in small boats, and the werewolves who died during the day had been thrown into a big pit. After the search, only a dozen seriously wounded people were found in the village. A group of people killed them and threw them into the sea. The werewolves on the island were finally cleaned up.

Returning to the Sword, he ordered the captain to sail towards the werewolf village. Captain Hawke and the sailors were shocked when they saw the huge village and the big pit filled with werewolves. Henry publicly announced that this was his territory and asked loudly if anyone would like to settle here. He would give sailors who settle here a house and a piece of land for free. All the sailors except the captain agreed immediately. If there is a piece of land, who wants to float on the sea all day long at the risk of being swallowed up by the sea. After pacifying the sailor, he asked the first officer to start cleaning up the house. After all, there were still a lot of blood stains on it that needed to be cleaned before people could live. The sailors happily sang songs, carrying buckets and began to wash away the blood.

Henry took Captain Hawk to the beach and said to him: "Mr. Captain, you saw that I have taken such a large archipelago. There will be at least two seaport cities here in the future. Why don't you join here? Is there something? concern?"

The old man nodded and said, "Mr. Employer, after seeing the corpses of the beasts, I have no doubt that you have powerful power. But you know that the merchants are greedy. I am worried that the merchants will be greeted by the merchants before it is built. The pretending pirates ransacked and occupied.”

After hearing Hawke’s worry, Henry smiled and said, “This worry is unnecessary. Don’t you think I’m alone? Then I’m telling you now, my teacher is the Great Master Tailan Tier from Gaolibao. I myself also fought side by side with the Habassah of the witchcraft grocery store. Seven Suns was my trading partner. Do you now think those merchants dare to come?”

The captain’s frowning brows spread and smiled and shook Henry’s hand and said: “This is really a powerful force! I chose to join, now I am yours.”

“Welcome to join my captain, now we should discuss the problem of the population of the territory. There are not tens of thousands of people in such a big place that can not be developed.” Henry said to Hawke.

The captain looked at the large fields and houses and said: “Yes, this field full of wheat alone can feed at least 40,000 people. These ready-made houses can also accommodate 10,000 people immediately. The fish around the islands are also There are so many, this is really a beautiful treasure.”

Henry interrupted Hawke’s imagination and said: “Mr. Captain, I hope to go directly to Luskan, the city of a thousand sails when I return. I heard that the slave trade there is very developed, and I am going to buy thousands of slaves and come back for construction.”

The old man thought for a while and replied: “Theoretically, there is no problem, but there are a lot of pirates near the City of Thousand Sails. When we set out, we must leave half of the people here. I’m afraid that we might encounter pirates. A little embarrassed.”

“Don’t worry, if there are pirates approaching the Sword, I will use fireball to teach them a profound lesson. Maybe you will become a fleet admiral when you come back.” Henry said.

“Admiral of the Fleet” The old man looked at the sea and smiled and said, “Then I will pick you up. If there is one day, I will defend this fleet with my life.”

---

ask for clicks, ask for recommendations. Seeking collection

Chapter 43 Sailing and Pirates

At noon, the sailors had already cleaned the largest house in the center of the village, and Henry and the others who had been fighting for the whole night moved in. Everyone else went to rest, and Henry sat in the hall alone. He quietly turned on the system and began to check the harvest last night. After a simple check, he and his siblings have been upgraded.

Occupation: Mage 9th level 24363/250000, Druid 11th level 243612/3000000

1st-level magic power position, 7

2nd level magic power position, 6

Level 3 magic power position, 5

Level 4 magic power position, 4

5th-level magic power position, 2

6th-level magic power position, 1

Master the new six-level magic: misery, fire, healing, three-level summoning animals, injury, Thor Scorching Ball, unexpected memories, abnormal dawn, and summoning elements. At the same time, he also mastered the ability to transform into a brown bear and a wolf.

Robert Ristan, occupation: Rogue Level 11 302600/44000

Silent Action: 165

Shadow hiding: 175

Amy Ristan, occupation: Warlock 8th level 127.600/135000

Number of uses of level 1 spells 6: Mage armor, protection from evil, intimidation, magic missile, greasy

2nd level spell usage number 6: invisibility, vocalization, and Shaderek's killing arrow

The number of uses of level 3 spells 5: Human hold art, dispel magic

4th-level spell usage 3: Stoneskin

After a few days of fighting, the siblings have quickly become stronger, and it seems that they will soon become their own right-hand men. While Henry was thinking, the first officer came in and said to him: "Sir, the things in the village have been calculated through preliminary statistics. The whole village has about two thousand tons of flour, and there are also a lot of bacon and dried fish. Not less than 300 tons. The spring wheat in the fields has also risen very well, and most of the farm tools and daily necessities in the village can be used directly. That is to say, we have sufficient food and tools but not enough people use them.” Listen. After the report, he said to the chief mate: “First, distribute the houses and land of the sailors. The land will be divided into dozens of ordinary houses on the periphery according to the houses of 150 acres per person. Pick three big houses and divide them separately. Leave Captain Hawke, you, and the sailor in one room. I allow the three of you to choose the 1,000 acres of wheat fields with the best growth as your property.”

After hearing this, the chief officer said excitedly: “On behalf of everyone on the ship, I thank you for your generosity. I will immediately order this matter. Is there anything else you want to order?” He thought for a while and said, “House. After cleaning up, let’s start to organize people to clean up the dock. In addition, select 15 people to distribute the weapons and form a patrol team led by you. Later I will take half of them to Luskan to buy slaves. When I come back it’s up to you to maintain law and order.” “Don’t worry! I will definitely not trust you.” The first officer patted his chest and said. After dealing with everything, he also went into the house to find a place to start sleeping.

After three days of rest in the village, Henry left the first mate, Kagan, Ares, and Robert on the fourth day. The command of the left-behind personnel was handed over to the young thieves. Henry looked at Robert and said: “Everything here is up to you. If anyone wants to incite a rebellion, they will kill them all. I will let Kegan and Ari. If Si assists you, the first mate will also follow your orders. Don’t let me down.” Robert said with a serious expression, “Don’t worry, my master, I’ll take care of this place before you come back.” Henry recruited others. Beckoned and brought Amy, Banbury, the captain, and twenty sailors into the boat on the Sword. After Captain Hawk yelled and set off, the sailors put away the anchors and lowered the sails and set sail to the north.

After studying the chart, Captain Hawke said to Henry sitting in his chair: “I just calculated the route. Starting from the Angome Islands, it passes through Jianwan, Deepwater City, and Neverwinter City to Luss. It takes 20 days to a month for Kan. Since we now have half of our sailors, the supply is sufficient. However, the closer we get to the City of Thousand Sails, the more dangerous it is. It is a well-known pirate port. And the city’s security is very chaotic. I heard that the rat people there have fully occupied the sewers.” Henry made a reassuring gesture to the captain and said: “Please relax. Generally, there will be no spellcasters on the pirate ships. They will be when they approach the Sword. I was hit by my spell and turned into food for sharks. And there is no need to worry in the city. Few people in the area ruled by the Arcane Brotherhood dare to provoke a mage casually. And we are just going to buy slaves, not with Other forces clashed.” The captain rubbed his forehead and said, “Maybe I’m too nervous. I’ve been a bit nervous since I was attacked by the sea monster whale.”

Henry stood up and patted Hawk on the shoulder comfortingly and said: “Understandably, if I was attacked by such a big guy, I would be nervous for a while. By the way, I haven’t asked you how you escaped? I’m in the book. I have seen such a giant ocean overlord but always followed by a large number of sharks, black rays, and Saha murlocs. It is not easy to escape from their hands.” Hawke smiled bitterly and said: "I happened to be sitting in a boat. The boat was hit by a huge wave so far, I could only watch the other sailors being swept into the whirlpool and eaten. I turned around and rowed desperately until I sailed out of the sea and was rescued by other boats and brought back to the Baldur's Gate. Every time I think about it, I think it's a nightmare." Henry left the captain's room after comforting the captain for a while.

He came to the door of Amy's room and knocked on the door. The door was quickly opened. Amy saw that he was his master standing at the door and hurriedly asked him to come in and wait for him to sit down and say, "Master, what do you want? Is it?" He looked at Amy's eyes for a while until the girl blushed a little and said, "Yes, after the battle that night, you must have found that your spell power has increased, right." The girl nodded and said, "Yes. Yes, I have awakened a few more spells. And the number of spells has increased." Henry continued: "Then you must apply the newly learned spells as soon as possible to form your own set of offensive and defensive systems. Teach you not to forget." Amy thought for a while and said, "Only a mage who protects herself can better cast spells to attack the enemy." Henry smiled and said, "Since you understand now, then I won't bother you. Now, carefully consider the tactics that suit you." After speaking, he turned and left.

The Sword sailed steadily for more than ten days, gradually changing from the warm turquoise waters to dark blue. They have entered the frigid zone, and the sailors who were running around in single clothes also put on their own jackets. The Northland in spring is still very cold. Captain Hawk looked at the sea chart and then at the scenery outside the window. If the voyage was okay, he would be able to reach Luskan, the city of a thousand sails in two days. Suddenly the alarm bell on the observation deck rang, and he suddenly stood up and walked onto the deck. The sailor standing in the watchtower yelled at the bottom: "Four unidentified ships were found! We are quickly approaching us with unknown intentions." Henry and Amy also walked out of the cabin. He walked up to the captain and asked: "What's the matter?" The old captain smiled wryly and said, "If my inference is correct, we have encountered pirates. Four ships from the other side are surrounding us. Preliminary estimates are crossbows. Cannon, the pirates around here like to use it to launch hooks to grab merchant ships and then engage in hand-to-hand combat."

Henry looked at the anxious captain and said, "Don't worry about the captain, Amy and I will solve them." After speaking, he began to chant spells loudly. After a while, two flying skills were blessed to Amy and him. Body. He took the female warlock into the air and said: "You will be in charge of the two ships on the left, and I will be in charge of the two ships on the right. Try not to damage the hull. I hope to receive these ships intact. Remember to give yourself when you approach. Bless the protection of long-range weapons to fly as high as possible. The pirates will definitely have a certain number of long-range weapons." The girl smiled and waved two dead cloud scrolls and said: "Don't worry about my master. The scrolls inspired the entire ship to ensure that there would not be any living creatures." After speaking, the two people started to clean up their goals separately. After Amy blessed the protective long-range weapons, he directly ignited a scroll at one of the ships. When the entire hull was enveloped in poisonous gas, most of the sailors on the ship died. The remaining ones began to jump into the sea. The pirates next to the ship found the caster flying in the sky and the miserable situation on the other side and abandoned the ship and fled without hesitation. They jumped into the sea and started swimming without a trace of hesitation. The female warlock was stunned when she saw this scene. She overestimated the morale and discipline of these ordinary pirates.

Henry also started to move his hands, but he did not like to use the death cloud technique because it would fill the ship with poisonous gas, and he would not be able to board the ship for a long time without using the wind-making technique. Standing in the sky, he first released a fourth-level magical ice storm. Large pieces of hail hit the deck, and the pirates began to cry for father and mother. After the pirate leader saw the mages flying in the sky, he knew that he had kicked the iron plate today. It shouldn't be the mithril plate. He turned around and jumped off the ship, because he knew that these irritable mages would rarely stay alive if they were angered. This is the valuable experience summed up from living in Luskan for so many years. The people on the boat found that after the leader jumped off the boat and escaped for his life, the entire sea was like dumplings, and there were pirates swimming desperately. Henry took out a crossbow and shot the moving target for a while and then turned around to fly back to the Sword. He was not interested in using precious spells to kill these less threatening pirates. Just let the sharks in the sea solve them.

The original chase game of pirates and merchants turned into a farce under the mighty power of mages and warlocks, and the battle ended in just ten minutes. After landing from the air, Henry asked Captain Hawke to send someone to take over the other four ships. After the takeover, each ship has four sailors. In order to successfully start the Sword, Henry also joined the ranks of sailors.

---

ask for clicks, ask for recommendations. Seeking collection

Chapter 44 0 Sailing City

After two days of life as a sailor, Henry and his group of five ships finally arrived at Luskan, the city of a thousand sails, and he suffered a lot in two days. Every day, he used flying techniques to help the sailors reel the sails between the various ships, anchored the side sails, and changed the direction of the mast receiving the wind, and so on. Now it was finally over. He stood on the ship and watched the fleet slowly heading towards the port. Captain Hawke is already a veritable admiral. He already owns five large ships, but to his regret, there are currently only 21 sailors with the boss. He said to Henry standing on the bow: "We need a large number of sailors, otherwise it would be a big problem whether we can get the boat back."

Henry gave a wry smile and said: "I totally agree with this. I'll give you some gold coins to recruit some sailors. But be careful of spies and pirate spies from various forces."

Hawke smiled and said, "Mr. Don't worry," I have been to Deepwater City, Luskan, and Baldur's Gate for many years. There are special channels to hire clean sailors. By the way, do you mind half-orcs and barbarians?" Henry pulled out some money. The bag of about 1,500 gold coins was handed to the captain and said: "As long as I observe discipline and pay attention to hygiene, I don't have any racial prejudices, even dark elves, beholders and the night of the heart are okay." Hawk laughed when he heard it. Said: "My boss, I don't have such a great ability to get these monsters." After speaking, the two people silently stared at the approaching city.

There are more than 15,000 houses in the city of Luskan. The city has built strong fortifications along the harbor and it looks very magnificent. The city wall surrounds Luskan, and there is a specially designed watchtower on it, and countless soldiers are walking up and down. After a while, the port sent a small boat to pick it up. After learning that the group was here to buy slaves, the port officials smiled. After paying the berthing fee for the five ships, all the ships docked. Due to the small number of people on the ship, Captain Hawke ordered all sailors not to leave the ship, because there are a large amount of spices, silks and a small amount of drugs seized from the pirate ship on the Sword, in addition to a thousand sets of standard stainless steel weapons and armor. .

After getting off the ship, Hawke said to Henry: "My dear boss, I am going to the Bent Shortsword Tavern to hire some reliable sailors, by the way, contact some channels to sell the drugs, spices and silks on the ship. You confirm the weapons And the armor to stay?" Henry looked at the surroundings and said, "Yes, we will soon have a large number of slaves to manage. These weapons and armors are just enough to arm the guard that has been good." The captain lit up. After his pipe, he said, "Okay, you first go to the city and turn into the night and come to Bend the dagger to find me. And beware of the thieves, gangsters and beggars here. Outsiders are not welcome in this city." Walk along the path called Banyue Street.

handed all the five ships to the sailor and told him not to let anyone aboard, then Henry took Amy into this chaotic city. Luskan's streets are lined with two to three floors of closely connected buildings, and most people live in crowds. There are countless kinds of sentries and watch towers on the roof, and all kinds of dangerous and curious eyes shot at the two of them from these dark holes. Henry smiled and took Amy's hand and walked down the street. He saw many strange faces along the way. For example, the tauren with a large axe, the northern barbarians with huge weapons, and a few half-orcs with green skin. "This is really a messy city!" He said with emotion to the girl beside him.

Suddenly a figure slammed into Amy's side and quickly wanted to get into the alley. Henry laughed and then a frozen ray made the little thief fall to the ground. After walking over, he picked up the little guy who was less than one meter away. He took a closer look and found that this was a halfling. He grabbed Amy's stolen dimension bag and threw it to the girl and said, "Be wary in this city. There may be more thieves here than the merchants in Baldur's Gate." Amy was ashamed and lowered her head. Thank you. After educating his servant, he turned his head and looked at the halfling and said,

“Well, little thief, since you have been caught, introduce yourself. Otherwise, you should know the consequences of angering a mage.” The halfling began to tremble with fear when he heard this sentence. He was too aware of the consequences of irritating a mage. Ruling the city is a famous mage organization Arcane Brotherhood. He has seen angry members of the Brotherhood blow up a thieves’ union with fireballs. The halfling said cautiously: “I’m sorry, respectable Mr. Mage. My name is Jimmy, and I am a thief under the commander of Baram. Please don’t kill me.”

Henry touched his chin and said, “I don’t need to kill you, but you have to contact Baram for me. Just say that there is a big client who wants to see him, and the specific business will be discussed after the meeting.” Jimmy heard that before his eyes. The mage of “didn’t plan to kill him and immediately stopped shaking. He straightened his hair and said, “Dear mage, I will bring your words to you. But it’s not me, this little thief, how the leader will deal with it. I can manage it.” Henry nodded and said, “You just need to take my words to you, and you don’t need to be responsible for the others. If you have news, come to the Dagger Hotel to find me at any time.” After that, he put the halfling out. To the ground. The little dwarf who was less than one meter bowed deeply at the two of them, then turned and ran away.

Seeing the halfling running fast, Henry smiled. He said to Amy: “Seeing it or not, this is the power of the spellcaster. You don’t even need to use too many spells, sometimes you just need to show your identity and use some wisdom. Can solve most problems.” The girl lowered her head and meditated for a while and said: “I understand the master, and I will look at the problem from the perspective of a warlock in the future.” He took Amy to look far away. I took a look at the tower belonging to the Arcane Brotherhood, then visited the command area, and finally watched three sea-crossing bridges. Soon in the evening, the two returned to the dock area. Walk into Half Moon Street, the last street of the pier, where the tramps and villains gather. Everyone stares at Henry and Amy unkindly. Henry raised his right index finger gently and said to the girl next to him: “Close your eyes.” After talking about a flashing technique, he was excited. After a large number of malicious people around screamed, he cursed loudly and quickly fled. Here. Almost everyone knows that spellcasters are not easy to mess with, regardless of whether they use magic or spells.

“We’re here.” Henry pointed to a small hotel opposite. A group of people at the door saw that it was the wizard who had just blinded their eyes. They quickly dispersed and went into the dark, revealing the shabby sign with the word “Short” written on it. sword. Amy’s mouth rose slightly after seeing the tramp who had been staring at her just now, and now the girl finally realized that she was already a magical warlock. The first thing I saw when I walked into the hotel was a woman with heavy makeup and too much perfume. They worked hard to find every man who could pay gold coins. A large number of sailors drank ale, fruit wine, or expensive spirits here, and then started to move with a woman in their arms. All kinds of **** images make Amy unbearable.

Henry quickly found Captain Hawke who was talking to others in a quiet corner. He took the girl’s waist and hugged her in his arms so as to avoid all kinds of hands and feet that stretched out to take advantage of him, and then let go of his hands after squeezing through the crowd. He said loudly to the table: "My dear captain, can't you find a better hotel. The environment here is really terrible." Hawke said after seeing the person who was talking in the back. He stood up and said to Henry: "Welcome to my boss, you must know that other places cannot hire sailors with clean backgrounds. And my previous shipping channels only show up here. Come and I will introduce you to each other." After he took Henry to the table. Then he said to the fat middle-aged man sitting in the chair: "Bruce, this is my new boss, Mr. Henry. He is not only a wealthy lord but also a powerful wizard. The boss is Bruce my previous Incoming and outgoing channels."

The fat man stood up and handed a hand to him and said, "Hello, respected Mr. Master, I heard that you have a lot of spices, silks and a small amount of drugs that you want to sell?" Henry shook his fat palm and said: "I originally came here just to buy some slaves. You know that my territory is now in need of a healthy labor force. But on the way there was a pirate who tried to looting my merchant ship. I readily taught them a lesson. UU Reading estimates that most pirates have now entered the shark's stomach. These things are pirate trophies. I don't think this will cause you any trouble, right?" Bruce sat down in the chair again and shook his hand vigorously. "No, of course not. This is Luskan! It doesn't matter whether you **** it or some other method. How much do you have?" Captain Hawke took the topic and said, "Bruce, I Dear friend, we have about two hundred tons of various spices, three thousand five hundred pieces of silk and satin, and about five tons of drugs. Now you can give us a price."

Bruce lowered his head and began to calculate. After a while, he raised his head and said, "I pay 100,000 gold coins for spices, 40,000 satin, and 80,000 drugs. But I can't pay so much cash at once and need some other commodities to offset the account." Henry turned his head to look at his captain, and Hawke nodded slightly. "Well, I agree with the price. But I only want healthy slaves for the goods that are settled." Henry said. Bruce laughed and said, "My dear friend, this is Luskan! There will never be a shortage of slaves, but we need to talk about the price first. According to the market price, 80 gold coins for men aged 16 to 35, and 10 for adults. There are 50 gold coins for women between the ages of 6 and 30. Those over 35 years old are counted as 35 gold coins, and children under 16 years old are 30 gold coins. I don't know if you are satisfied with this price. Henry Point He nodded and said: "I'm basically satisfied with the price, so let's start checking and trading with each other tomorrow." Bruce said happily: "It's a pleasure to talk to you about business, then we'll see you tomorrow." "After that, he took the guard and left the hotel.

---

ask for clicks, ask for recommendations. Seeking collection

Chapter 45 sailor

After watching Bruce leave, Captain Hawk turned his head and said to his boss: "I have recruited sailors. If you are free now, please come with me to take a look. Most of them are barbarians in the north. There is also a lost pirate. Half-orc.” Henry stood up and said, “Then what are we waiting for, let’s set off now.” The old captain smiled at him and said, “Okay, but what about Miss Amy next to you? Do? We are going to Mouse Lane, where there are more people than rats in the sewer. If such a beautiful beauty appears there, it will cause a big riot.” Amy said with a charming smile. “Please don’t worry about Mr. Captain, if anyone dares to come, I will teach him a profound lesson.” After speaking, he used magic tricks to draw a circle of fire in the air. Hawke was a little surprised and said to Henry: “Oh! Boss, you never told me Miss Amy is a mage!” Henry laughed and said, “My captain! She is not a mage, she is a Dragon Vessel Warlock. Okay, don’t worry about this, you just need to know that she has the ability to leave those slaughtered pieces of armor.”

The old captain took out his pipe and added some shredded tobacco, struck it with flint and then took a deep breath and his face was intoxicated. He hasn’t smoked cigarettes anymore, and these shredded tobacco are **** imported. Each small bag is enough to bankrupt an ordinary family. After getting off the boat, he took the gold coins his boss gave him and bought some for himself. After taking two sips, he said to Henry: “Boss, would you like to take a sip? This is a refreshing thing.” Henry smiled and shook his head in rejection. What he hates most is the smell of tobacco. Hawke held his pipe in his mouth and said, “Then let’s set off now. After seeing it earlier, we can let the sailors get on the ship. Otherwise, we won’t be able to hold so many slaves when we trade twenty sailors tomorrow.” After speaking, he turned and walked forward. lead the way.

In the maze of streets and alleys, they spent a long time looking for “Mouse Lane”. It was on the side of the pier, parallel to the sea, and seemed to be unable to walk through it in the fog. The long and short warehouse is sandwiched on both sides, and various broken boxes and boxes are scattered on the street, making the already narrow passages in many places only for one person to pass through. Suddenly a figure walked out of the alley, the cloak and hood tightly wrapped the whole body. At this moment the captain said, “Hello dear Whisper, I have paid and now I will take my sailor.” Sombra took off his hood, and she was a pretty good-looking woman. She touched the weapon on her waist and said, “Damn Hawk, you should take them away after you just paid! Now you need to pay a hundred gold coins for storage. You know those rude guys messed up my warehouse. It’s a mess.” The captain smiled and said, “Well, if I see them, I will pay. The two behind me are my boss. He wants to see his crew. Now lead the way.”

The woman stared at Henry and Amy for a while. It’s a pity that Amy had worn the hood so tightly that he didn’t see anything, but Henry showed his long silver hair and eyes openly and looked at each other without fear. Whisper’s heartbeat speeded up when she was seen. She turned and said, “Come on and keep up. Be careful not to touch things randomly or I won’t be responsible for any accidents.” A group of people leaped back and forth along the path and finally stopped at a dock warehouse. Down. Whisper walked forward to the crack of the door and said a secret signal. The door opened, and a few men holding crossbows stood in the doorway and began to warn. When I walked in, I found that the entire warehouse was just a cover, and the real warehouse was underground. There were about one hundred and fifty sailors gathered here, as the captain said, half were Northland savages about two meters tall. They have strong and burly figures and strong muscles, but they don't seem to be in a good position now because everyone doesn't even have a decent piece of clothing. The other half are pirates with various scars on their faces, and you can see fierceness and cruelty from their faces. A green-skinned orc sat alone in the corner without saying a word.

Whisper turned his head and said to the captain: "Well, you see them all are fine. Take them away within an hour after paying." Hawke threw a small purse to the woman and stepped forward and shouted: "Quiet! Now you are my crew. Let me introduce to you, Mr. Henry behind him is our boss. He is a wealthy lord and a powerful mage. All you need in the future is to serve him." Hear The barbarians are obviously confused after the word mage. They live in a veritable magical desert, which leads to both fear and contempt for spells. After a few minutes, a man walked out of the barbarians and he said to Henry with an awkward voice: "As long as you promise not to use those evil spells on us, we agree to serve you." Henry heard this and laughed at him. Said: "If this is your custom, then I respect your choice." After hearing his assurance, the tall barbarian led all the barbarians to kneel down and said: "I, Absen, represent the entire Karut tribe. Here I swear to dedicate loyalty to you. As long as you guarantee our status as a warrior and do not insult our honor, we will fight for you to death." Henry knew that this is a loyalty ceremony unique to the barbarian, small tribes often take refuge in the wild north. Some powerful forces or people. He raised his right hand and put it on Absen's shoulder and said, "I accept your loyalty and give you the glory of death. Now you are all my warriors, and I will give you weapons after getting on the ship."

Absen took his tribe to stand up, smiled and touched his bald head and stood behind Henry. Then Henry said to the pirates: "Don't you like evil spells?" The pirates opened their mouths and laughed. They said loudly, "Head, of course not! We like magic to hit the enemy's face fiercely." , Prefer to be blessed by all kinds of magic." Then the pirates also stood up and followed behind. Finally Henry turned his head to the Orc sitting in the corner and said, "Mr. Green, do you have any special requirements?" The Orc looked a little surprised at his kind attitude. He touched his stomach and said, "You are The first human who didn't insult me. I didn't have any requirements as long as I could fill my stomach." After seeing that everything was done, Henry said to Captain Hawke: "Okay, Captain, now we can take them to We are on the ship. With the allegiance of these barbarians, as long as they are equipped with weapons, almost no one can incite a rebellion in the hands of the sailor." The captain nodded slightly and agreed and said loudly, "Okay, now everyone will go with me, let us take us. Go on the boat to have a big meal and then have a drink. Take a good rest for the night and have things to do tomorrow."

Henry walked out of Mouse Lane with a large number of people. The thieves and tramps around saw so many people that they all hid in fright. Soon after, he came to the berth of the Sword of the Wharf, returned to the ship, and simply assigned the personnel. In order to avoid unnecessary friction, he selected four outstanding guys from the original crew as the captain, leaving fifteen barbarians and pirates on the Sword. The other barbarians and pirates were divided into two teams to take over the other four ships. Then Henry ordered the kitchen to make a lot of hearty food and gave each a large glass of ale. The sailors who were strangers quickly became acquainted with each other. After eating, Henry took everyone to the cargo hold. He opened the gleaming weapons and armor inside the canvas and exposed. The barbarian immediately rushed up and greedily stroked a stainless steel weapon and then shed tears. Then he explained to Henry: "When we were attacked by the Winter Wolves, if we had such a good weapon, we would not be dissipated. The entire tribe was killed and only a few people escaped."

Henry patted him comfortably on the shoulder and said, "Don't worry, I have a large territory. Your tribe will repopulate there. Now let us distribute the weapons. As for the armor, I don't think these are ordinary humans. Custom-made things can be worn on you tall barbarians." Assenbu wiped away his tears and greeted the people behind to come and choose weapons. Barbarians like heavier guys such as warhammers, axes, meteor hammers, and two-handed great swords. Swords, daggers, and spears were dismissive. The pirates behind them, on the contrary, chose weapons that were light and fast. After the crew were armed, they returned to their own boats and began to rest. Henry also returned to the deck. He felt that the environment on the ship was better than the smoky curved dagger Facing the moonlight, he saw the half-orc sitting on the bow of the ship. This green-skinned guy was holding it. Drinking ale in the glass one bite at a time.

Henry was a little curious, and instinctively told him that this half-orc must have his own story. Walked to the bow and sat side by side with the orcs, and then he said, "Don't mind if I ask your story." The orcs cracked open his mouth and smiled, "Of course not, I can tell you if you like it. Listen. My name is Vaughan, who was born in the Northland. My father was a barbarian leader. He killed an orc tribe to show his bravery, raped my mother and raised her as a slave in the tribe. In. Later I was born, and my childhood was not good. My father hated me and felt that I had tainted his blood. Other people in the tribe rejected me and felt that I was not one of them. I hunted and fought hard, hoping to gain It's no use agreeing. So after my mother's death, I left the tribe and wandered around. With hunger, most of the human towns repelled me and they even didn't allow me to enter. Later I heard that Luskan was treated here. The half-orcs are not bad, especially as the sailors on the ship can get approval if they work hard enough. But when you came here, I found it was not as good as I thought, but you seem to be a good boss."

"Don't worry, what you are looking for will be here, I promise." Henry patted his shoulder and took it up. This is a guy who is troubled by his own blood, and this happens to most mixed humans. As long as there is a place to give them some sense of belonging, these semi-humans will fight for their lives.

---

ask for clicks, ask for recommendations. Seeking collection