

Broad World

Chapter 6 Hunting and traps

After obtaining the druid's address, Henry discussed with Kagan and decided to visit the druid lady tomorrow morning, so as to accurately understand the details of the digger in the village. After nightfall, Henry returned to the room, copied two divine arts that he did not use during the day on the scroll, and then lay on the chuang to turn on the system.

human, male, 14 years old, absolutely neutral, occupation: mage level 1, experience 1063/2500, druid level 1, experience 1062/2000

During the day, every digger contributed up to 975 points of experience for Henry. Hobgoblins only have 35 experience points. This shows that the insects are fierce and difficult to deal with, no wonder ordinary adventurers do not come here. Kill three more to be promoted to level 2 wizards and druids. I hope that tomorrow's news will not be too bad. If the number exceeds too much, it is estimated that we will turn around and run away. After thinking about it, Henry began to prepare spells and magic arts, and after praying, he took off his clothes and started to rest.

Early in the morning Jie Di woke up early, she was feeling very anxious recently. There are too many diggers, and her animal partner Yunying told her that there have been more than three bugs attacking passers-by this month. If it develops like this, the entire forest will not have any other animals. The village is attacked by bugs sooner or later.

"Is Ms. Zetty Druid here?" Hearing someone calling her, Zetty immediately opened the door of the tree house. Under the tree stood a dwarf and a young man, it was Cagan and Henry. The female druid quickly climbed down from the cane beside the tree house. Asked; "What can I do for you."

Henry looked at the lady briefly. Black leather armor, carrying a spear over two meters, brown hair, brown eyes and slender limbs. There are also a pair of pointed ears. Wait for the pointed ears? This is an elf or half-elf.

"Hello beautiful lady elves, we are here to hunt and kill the adventurers of diggers. Yesterday we heard at Brown's house that their number has been so large in recent years and I want to come here to confirm."

"There are indeed a lot of them, there are at least more than 50 in the whole area. Besides, I'm just a half-elf." Zeti noticed that the attitude of the two people in front of her who came to help immediately improved a lot. "If you are here to hunt bugs, you must kill at least 25 with evidence to kill them. You can come to me to receive rewards. For each of 200 gold coins, young druids, I can also give you another piece of magic equipment. "

"It's a good business, I think we can go on." Kagan was immediately happy when he heard that there was a generous reward. A total of 25 bugs can get a reward of 5000 gold coins and a magic item. The shells obtained after killing can also be sold for 12,500 gold coins. The profit of a mission is directly 20,000.

"As you wish, we will bring the heads that kill 25 bugs within 3 days as proof." Henry agreed.

"There is a huge cave to the west of Brown Farm, where most of the diggers mate. You start from there." Seeing that the other party took over the task, Zedi was also happy and reminded the two of them by the way. .

After half an hour of walking Henry and Kagan came to a huge hole with a diameter of more than 5 meters. It's dark inside. "I think I should go back to the village and buy a few torches." The dwarf, who found it ill-prepared, suggested.

"Lighting" Henry performed a level 0 trick on the dwarf's axe. Kagan's large axe gave out a soft light, and the dwarf directly reached into the pit with the axe in his hand and found that it could illuminate about 7 meters. "Magic is really convenient." Cagan sighed and found a big tree, tied the rope and jumped into the hole. Henry then climbed down the rope.

The cave is not as deep as a dozen meters from the ground. The tunnel in the cave is very spacious, about four meters high and three meters wide. Running and fighting are not a problem. Piccolo Louise was sent out to survey the cave with a small wooden stick that had been released with light. Such a small thing will not attract the attention of the digger.

Henry and Cagan arranged their equipment at the entrance of the cave and prepared the scroll. Within ten minutes, Louise flew back and began to report to her master. Henry frowned while feeling the thoughts of the enchantment while thinking. The whole cave is not small Jedi worms are distributed in every corner of the cave. Most of them are in a pile of two or three. In the innermost part, there is a big man with a volume of more than four meters and four three-meter-five ones mixed together.

After a brief discussion with Kagan, I felt that it would be impossible to make a tough push. The two decided to use the method of attracting snakes to lead the bugs to the entrance of the cave and burn them to death. Now that the method is determined, the two people start to act. Cagan was in charge of picking the firewood, while Henry went back to the village to buy some oil for combustion. After an hour and a half, the place a dozen meters deep below the entrance of the cave was covered with a thick layer of firewood and hay. Henry also bought back from the village and brought a torch and two canola oil pots that weighed more than 20 kilograms. Spread the oil on the branches, and the entire flame trap is complete. At that time, as long as the torch is lit and thrown into the cave to more than a dozen meters away, it will become a death channel, and the diggers rushing out of the cave will be stuck here. Then release a greasy technique to ensure that none of them can escape. Cagan rested for a while and began to take off his helmet and armor, reducing his load as much as possible to make him run faster.

“Why do I make the bait every time. It feels uncomfortable to be chased by a group of big bugs.” The dwarf mumbled and climbed down the rope.

“Think about the reward after the task is completed! Cagan, that is a full 20,000 gold coins.” Henry’s words immediately made the dwarf spirit up.

“Yes, twenty thousand gold coins! God, how much wine can I buy. I can’t wait to finish the task quickly and let us go back to the tavern in Belgoost to buy all the treasures there.” Kagan’s brain began to be uncontrollable* *Get up.

“Blessing” Henry used a sacred tree scroll while the dwarf hadn’t climbed down. This spell can make it easier for you and your teammates’ weapons to hit the key points of the target. Then I ignited the torch next to it with flint and steel in my hand.

“Kagan will run faster, I will meet you at any time.”

“I will run fast and rest assured” after the dwarf replied, he took the axe blessed with the light technique and walked deep without turning back. Within a few minutes, Henry was uncomfortable with the slight vibration of the ground. It should be Cagan and the bug army behind him.

Henry suddenly realized that he was a little nervous, and after taking a deep breath, he began to prepare for the greasy operation. I saw the dwarf leap up from below the cave and grabbed the rope, shouting “hands”. Then began to climb up quickly. The long-prepared spell of “Greasy Surgery” was cast along behind Cagan and covered the wood under the cave with a large piece of grease. He threw the torch down easily and Henry began to pull the rope.

There was a bang at the entrance of the cave. The oil-soaked wood underneath ignited violently, and the dwarf still on the rope also suffered. His clothes, shoes, hair, and his most proud beard were all lit. The dwarf who was dragged up immediately began to roll on the ground to extinguish the fire. Two gallons of water was poured directly onto the dwarf, and the fire was extinguished.

Kegan now looks a little embarrassed and wet, his trousers have been burned under his calves, and his hair is messy. It turned out that only half of the beautiful long beard was left. But he has no time to deal with these now. After turning off the fire, he immediately began to put on his helmet and armor, and the ghost knew whether the bugs would rush up immediately.

It took less than two minutes for the dwarf to put on his equipment with Henry’s help, and stared at the hole nervously with a shield and axe in his hand. Henry suddenly felt that he was in danger behind him, so he pushed the dwarf away, and then rolled. A big worm that was smoked a little black jumped out from where it was just standing. “Damn, I knew it wasn’t that easy.” The dwarf cursed and got up and rushed up quickly with the axe. Successfully used a shield to block the worm’s jaw and cut in from the gap of Jiake, and the whole worm’s head was chopped off in half with a “poof”. UU reading ’s green juice sprayed Kagan all over. After a hit, another axe was repaired, and the whole head fell off and the bug died. Kegan began to wipe the green mucus off his face with his hands.

“Damn these disgusting things are so hot, I think these other bugs must be cooked underneath.”

Henry walked over and briefly looked at the corpse and said to the dwarf: “The inside of the Digger’s body is very soft, mostly moisture, so the high temperature is fatal to them. This one has been cooked by the high temperature, even if we don’t It won’t last long to kill it. And this temperature basically doesn’t hurt the shell. Don’t worry about damage to the shell and it won’t be sold. That’s right how many of you attracted just now.”

“At least 20 will go down after the fire goes out for a while. If there is still left, I think we can only do it tomorrow. Today I am exhausted. For a three-hundred-year-old dwarf, this is not an easy life. .”

Henry nodded and began to keep alert. The fire in the cave burned violently for fifteen minutes before it began to go out. The strong smoke blackened the entrance of the cave. After the fire was extinguished, the two of them walked to the entrance of the cave and looked at the inside of a small number of remaining torches. The entrance of the cave was blocked by a few bugs. It seems that when they burned, they scorched these insects madly and desperately squeezed them out, so that there were five insects stuck in the three-meter-wide hole.

Seeing that there is no danger, the two people re-tied the ropes and went down into the cave again. Looking at these black and shiny earth diggers, who would have thought that so many powerful monsters could be killed by a small burning trap. Henry suddenly thought of a sentence told in a book before he crossed: “The real mage always uses wisdom to solve problems, and the one who always uses power to solve problems is only a barbarian who uses magic.”

Chapter 7 reward

The two simply counted the number of dead bugs, which was 20. It’s a pity that the innermost ones with the biggest physique were not attracted. The next thing is physical work. Henry is responsible for tying these bugs tightly, and then Kagan will drag them up with a rope. A bug weighs about 800 pounds, which is more than 350 kilograms. Fortunately, the entrance of the cave is not high and it is a slope. The dwarf is also quite strong. The two of them tried their best to drag all the more than 20 bugs up. Seeing so many bugs, Kegan smiled.

"We got rich little Henry!" The dwarf sat on the ground and panted while laughing at Henry.

"Yes, we have made a fortune. But so many bug shells have not been allocated yet."

"We can ask people in the village to help. It is not complicated to do a simple cut. And we only need the head and the hardest back. The shells of the limbs can also be used as armor and can be given to the villagers as labor compensation." A veteran adventurer, Henry thought to himself. Looking at Kagan's usual simple-mindedness, I really can't see that he can use waste resources so skillfully to hire local people as free labor.

"Well, you rest here for a while. Keep the spoils. I will go to Brown's house and ask him to come forward and hire a few people for us. After all, you have done the most strength just now." Watching the dwarf sitting on the ground, gasping and breathing, Henry stood up and shook his sore arm, put on a crossbow and walked towards Fang Jiang of Brown Farm.

After walking along the road for about twenty-five minutes, Henry returned to the farm. "Mr. Brown, are you there?" he shouted as soon as he entered the house.

"I'm packing my farm tools in the backyard, what's the matter?"

"Kagan and I killed a large number of diggers in the cave to the west. I want you to help us hire a few villagers to deal with the spoils. We only need the shells on the head and back, and the carapace on the legs as hires. What do you think of the cost?"

Brown pushed open the back door into the room and looked at Henry in surprise. "My God, how many bugs did you kill?"

"Twenty, we are almost exhausted. You know those guys weigh 800 pounds. It is really not an easy task to drag them out of a cave that is more than ten meters away." Henry picked up the kettle on the table. Irrigation. A lot of sweat was shed on this day.

"Twenty! How did you do it? I mean the problem, each bug has six legs. The shells on the legs of so many bugs can make a few good armors." Brown looked impossible. The expression agreed.

"Then you go hire the villagers first, I'll take a sip and take a break before setting off. Today I'm exhausted. Do you know the cave to the west?"

"Of course, I grew up here since I was a kid. There is no place near the village that I don't know. Then I will catch up with the carriage and find someone first, and I will come back to pick you up later." Said Brown took the rein and went out to lead the horse out of the stable. Then he got in the car and set off towards the village.

Watching Brown drive the carriage away, Henry found a chair and sat down. The interface is activated.

Human, male, 14 years old, absolutely neutral, occupation: Mage 1st level 10813/2500, Druid 1st level 10812/2000, you have upgraded. You have accepted a mission to clean the caverns of the Diggers and kill them 20/25.

After “Upgrade”, the panel changed after chanting silently.

Mage 4th level 12813/20000, Druid 4th level 10812/12500

Level 1 spell slots: 3

Level 2 spell slots: 2

Level 1 power position: 5

Level 2 Divine Power Position: 4

Master the new 2nd level divine arts to resist fire and cold, flame knives, fire traps, slow poison hair, understand opponents, * plum, bark, find traps, heal medium damage, charm people or animals.

After the upgrade, Henry felt that he was a lot stronger immediately. As expected, people are neither rich nor rich, and horses without leaves are not fat. It's a pity that Sora has a 2nd-level spell slot and he doesn't have a second-level spell. The second-level spell scroll costs about 128 gold coins. It is estimated that even if you complete this mission and get about 10,000 gold coins, you will not be able to buy a few scrolls. Magic is burning money, it seems that I still need to make more money.

Nothing to do with a light body, Henry, who was free, regained his strength while drinking water and looking at the scenery outside the window. It didn't take long for Brown to return with four villagers and four carriages.

“Henry, come out. Let's set out now and try to get back before the sun sets.” The old man shouted while sitting in the carriage.

“Come here,” Henry put down the water glass and rushed out, closed the door and jumped directly into the carriage.

“Driving” “Driving” the villagers all drove the carriages to each other in a straight line towards the entrance of the cave and started to drive. Brown's carriage drove fast, and the time to laugh with the villagers came.

Kegan saw Henry bring someone here and immediately stood up from the ground, “Hey, here, here.”

"Wow, how did you do it, so many bugs?" Watching the huge corpses of earth diggers lying on the ground randomly, the villagers sighed and took out their daggers to start cutting and cleaning.

"You don't know, I ran fast when I was chased. When I ran to the entrance of the cave, I made a leap, and I dared to bet with my beard. The height of the jump was at least five meters." Kegan watched others work while Begin to tell everyone about the adventure just now. However, the degree of exaggeration remains to be examined.

"You must be bragging, I haven't seen a dwarf jump to five meters high when I grow up. I believe you say you are strong, but let's forget about the high jump. Besides, your beard is only half left." Old Brown couldn't listen anymore and began to refute.

"Damn, my beard is the guy Henry, lighting it too early. And I must have jumped five meters high." The stubborn problem of the dwarf began to occur. "Henry, you were there at the time, you said I picked some Not five meters?"

"I don't remember very well. I was so nervous at the time. And the hole was so dark. My eyes were fixed behind you." Seeing that the two of them had a tendency to pull themselves up, Henry decisively began to reconcile. The mud.

Sure enough, there are too many people to do things quickly, and in the evening everyone has finished processing the corpses. The heads belonging to Cagan and Henry, and the back shells were mounted on the two cars in front. The leg shells used as commissions were put on several cars behind. Everyone decided to ship to Brown's house together and then redistribute them.

The afterglow of the setting sun was lazily on the body, and the carriage returned to the farm with the rich trophies. After cleaning with well water, a large number of leg shells were divided into five parts. One belongs to Brown. Others put the other four points back into the wagon and took them home. The shares of Cagan and Henry were temporarily placed in the barn. Fortunately, it is spring, and it is still empty there.

After the distribution, the villagers drove their carriages and went home. Brown began to prepare dinner. Due to the large number of insect shells, you can earn at least 300 gold coins if you sell it. The old man's dinner is exceptionally rich. Chunks of white bread, stewed chicken. He also killed a little pig to make a suckling pig.

"It's so delicious, it's the best dinner I have had in the past few days. If only I could have a little more wine." The mouthful of food can't stop the dwarf's mouth.

"You didn't come at the right time, all the wine you brewed before was sold in the city. The new brew last year will not be drunk until at least September." Brown replied, chewing on a piece of chicken leg.

"Kagan, we need to go to the tree house tomorrow. The cave has not been cleaned up. The five big men in the innermost can only be dealt with by the two of us." Henry felt that it is not the time to get overwhelmed. He tore off a small piece of breadcrumbs and handed it to Louise, and gave her a small piece of chicken. The food of Pickerine is not complicated. In the wild, they mainly eat some fruits and nectar and occasionally catch small bugs to eat by themselves.

"We can make another trap tomorrow and drive them out and burn them to death." Kegan curled his lips nonchalantly.

"My God" Henry felt he was defeated by the dwarf's innocence. "The last five are in the deepest part of the cave, and you will be chased by them if you can't get to the entrance of the cave. I think they won't mind eating a fresh dwarf."

"Then what do you say." Kegan also felt that his ideas were a bit unreliable, and kicked the ball back.

"We have to go deep into the cave and fight in it. For this we need the help of Ms. Zetydruid. UU Reading tomorrow morning, take all the bugs' heads and we will go to her. Mr. Brown, don't mind if we borrow it tomorrow. Get out of your carriage." "Of course, you can take it whatever you want." Brown agreed happily.

After dinner, everyone went back to the house and prepared to go to bed. The old Brown and the dwarf fell asleep after a day of tiredness. Henry lay on his gun and opened the system interface again to prepare spells and divine arts to deal with tomorrow's battle. Little Piccolo has used a piece of rag to set himself up in his head and has already fallen asleep.

Level 1 spells prepare for greasy spells, burning hands, and imaging

Level 1 divine skills are prepared for Entanglement, Stone Power, Healing Minor Injuries, Demon Fire, Faith Armor

Level 2 divine skill preparation must be bark surgery X2, flame knife, and treatment of moderate damage.

Today is a really challenging day, and maybe the battle tomorrow will be more intense. Henry yawned and thought after the prayer. Since coming to this world, he has found that his nerves have become tougher, and he can't do the exciting and adventurous things that burn the wormhole today with his calm personality before. Maybe I should find a * to hug my thigh? Otherwise, an unbeliever person like himself will be taken by the * of death, Kleinvor, to paste the wall. Forget it, let's not talk about so many secrets. It is also difficult for people who have received so many years of atheism education to believe in a god. The moonlight at night shone on Chuang's head through the window. Louise turned over and Henry looked at the little guy and smiled, stopped thinking about her, closed her eyes and started to rest. _____

ask for clicks, ask for recommendations.

Chapter 8 reward

Henry had a dream, in which he was chased by countless diggers in a cave. He kept running until he reached a dead end. He patted the wall hard and saw that the rushing bug closed his eyes in despair, and the waiting death did not come. Suddenly he felt that his nose was itchy, so he rubbed it vigorously and opened his eyes. It was found that Demon Louise was lying on her nose, looking at him nervously. The mage and the demon are connected with each other in mind, and Pique found that the master's sense of fear flew over and wanted to wake him up.

"I'm fine, I just had a nightmare. It should be too nervous yesterday." Seeing the little thing nervous, Henry smiled and explained. When Louise saw that the master was okay, she flew onto his shoulder and sat down.

"Have you had a nightmare?" Kegan opened the door and asked.

"Yes, I dreamed of being chased by countless bugs in the cave for a night. These guys are really lingering, they are dead and still haunt me in their dreams."

"Haha, the first time I ventured to kill giant spiders was the same as you. At that time, I had a nightmare for three days. When I closed my eyes, I took eight ugly eyes and eight legs. This is every adventure. It's something that everyone has to go through. Congratulations Henry, you are no longer a rookie from today." The dwarf had a gloating expression on his face.

"But you don't need to continue fighting with giant spiders the next day, and I will continue to have close contact with these big bugs today." Seeing the expression of the dwarf, Henry immediately started to get up and put on clothes and began to refute.

"My first adventure didn't have a profit of 20,000 gold coins. After that adventure, I only got less than 30 gold coins. You can get so much money the first time you come out. I really envy you spellcasters. Especially the mage, there will always be so many good ideas. Even if you don't come out and venture out to make some potions and magical items, your wealth will be flooded." Kegan's expression quickly changed from gloating to envy and hatred.

"Okay, put away your set. You go down to eat first, and then put the bug's head in the car. I will wash, and after breakfast, we will put in the car and go to the tree house." Henry saw that there was a tendency to digress decisively. Ended the association of the dwarves.

“Okay, okay. Old Cagan’s stupid brain is always a hard-working life.” The dwarf sighed with self-pity, and went downstairs for breakfast.

After washing, I simply had breakfast. Henry got into the wagon with Brown’s help, and Cagan had already put all the bugs in the wagon. Driving the horses on the morning country road, Henry’s mood gradually relaxed. It seems that the nightmare of last night also ran into the distance with the stream of water.

“Kagan, what are you going to do after this adventure is over?” When they were cheerful, the two began to chat.

“I plan to go home and open a blacksmith shop. I haven’t worked myself for several years.” Kegan thought for a while before he started answering.

“Belgost already has Thor Blacksmiths, and they almost monopolize all the iron ore in Kenasi.”

“Thor Blacksmiths can only produce ordinary equipment at best, and can’t make any high-quality goods. Forging depends on our dwarves. Look at my axe. I made this axe when I was 150 years old and it is still so sharp.” Kegan Obviously dismissed the products of Thor’s Blacksmith’s, and began to show Henry his axe and ironing skills.

Henry took the axe and took a closer look. One-handed axe, the main material should be stainless steel doped with a small amount of Mithril. The texture is very hard and the axe blade is bright and sharp. It is indeed much better than what I have in the market.

“Very good axe. Are you planning to build a boutique route yourself?” The dwarf took his axe back and pinned it to his waist.

“Yes, the money after this adventure is enough for me to open a blacksmith shop. And I don’t want to travel everywhere anymore.” Indeed, the dwarf has a lifespan of 400 years. Kegan is already 300 years old and has begun to enter his old age.

“What about you? What are your plans for the future.” Kegan asked.

“After the adventure is over, go home to see my mother and sister, and settle them down. When Morian gets the recommendation letter, I will go to Fort Gaoli to learn magic. It’s not far from Belgost anyway.”

“When you come back from learning magic, maybe we can cooperate to make some magic weapons and armors. Just like the tooth of Aegis made by Bruno, it is sung by bards.” Since Bruno created the tooth of Aegis, the legendary war mallet, Bei The dwarves around the land regard him as an idol and a target for pursuit.

“We are here” Henry interrupted Cagan’s vision of the future. Jumped out of the carriage and shouted, “Is Ms. Zetty here?”

"You completed the task so soon?" The female druid opened the door and looked at the head of the digger in the car with a slight surprise.

"Not yet, we have some unexpected situations to report to you." Ms. Druid of Kung Fu who Henry spoke quickly climbed down the tree house.

"In the deepest part of the cave, there are 5 oversized bugs gathered together, the largest body length is more than 4 meters. The two of us can't kill them at all. We came today to receive a part of the reward, and then to ask for help."

"I think there are too many insects in the past few years. It should be the reason for them. Most of the earth digging insects are alone or in groups of four. That is 4 meters long, which should be a newly born king. After the king has a king, a large number of insects will start. They gather together. They mate and lay more eggs during estrus. They must be killed to maintain the balance of this forest." The female druid who has been observing here all the year round quickly came to a conclusion. And went to the car and counted the number of heads.

"20 heads 4,000 gold coins" said Zedi took out seven diamonds of the same size. The dwarf quickly picked up the close examiner. "The best rough stones are worth about 600 gold coins each." Kaigan, an expert on minerals and gems, quickly gave a quotation.

"This is an extra reward that I promised you. Although I didn't know the specific purpose of the item I got when I was in the wild before, it must be a magic item." He threw a ring to Henry.

Henry watched the ring carefully after catching it. The ring itself is made of gold with a red gem inlaid on it. The power of Arca flows on the surface of the gem. After "Ring of Witchcraft" recognized the name, he quickly got the data of the ring in his mind.

The Ring of Witchcraft: "Never Forget" A long time ago, it was rumored that a great magician from Amn broke through the limit of the * of magic, Mystra, and could cast magic without limit, not limited by the number of memories. In the end, everyone discovered that his power came from the ring he had cast himself, not the power he claimed. After many years, his ring is still a treasure that everyone dreams of. The effect of the first-level arcane slot is doubled, and you can use the class: Mage.

This is simply an artifact of a low-level mage, Henry directly put the ring on the index finger of his left hand. After confirming that it does not affect any casting actions. Smiled at the female druid.

"A very useful thing for a wizard." There is no mention of the role of the ring.

"You like it." Zedi obviously has no interest in this ring. "What are your plans for the Insect King in the cave? I am going to work with you to solve this big problem."

"The cave is too deep, we can only go deep and have a head-on contest with them." Henry had a headache.

"I can provide 4 bottles of speed potion and some black venom for free. After the task is completed, I will give you 2000 gold coins." The female druid is about to bleed heavily. Others don't have a system. Druids generally rely on maintaining the ecological balance of a forest to get natural gifts to improve. Due to the increase in the number of bugs in recent years, Zedi has not received much feedback.

"Then we can make some javelins, and then quench the poison. As long as we poke into the body of the bug, we will immediately drink the speed potion and run out. The body fluid of the bug flows very fast when running, and it only takes a few minutes to be killed by the poison. "Henry saw that the female druid was so convenient and gave advice. Black  is a neurotoxin, as long as the amount is sufficient, it can make the digger twitch all over the body within a few minutes.

"Well, I happen to have a few spears here that can be transformed into javelins." As they said, the three people began to modify their weapons. The preparations were completed when the sun was approaching noon. Each person has a javelin, a small bottle of poison, and a bottle of acceleration potion.

Lunch is some fruits and bread prepared by the half-elf lady, and the dwarf warrior who has no flesh and dislikes expresses strong dissatisfaction. "Damn it, don't you give me these before the fight! This is simply rabbit food."

"Let's just take a moment, you can imagine that you ate yesterday's dinner while eating." Henry comforted the dwarf next to him.

"What I usually eat may not suit your taste. UU Read but this should make you feel better." Zeti saw that two temporary teammates were a little depressed because of lunch, and took out two bottles. Homemade fruit wine.

Cagan quickly snatched both bottles of wine and quibbled: "Henry doesn't drink, the wizard needs to keep a clear head. You don't want to be accidentally injured by his magic in the afternoon battle." Henry looked helplessly. After the dwarf took a sip of wine, his morale immediately changed from low to high as a reminder.

"Kagan don't drink too much, I will fight in the afternoon."

"This bit of wine is okay. If you don't have a full stomach, it will be the worst." The dwarf drank the wine and ate the bread.

"Sorry, Cagan has always been like this." Henry explained to Zetty.

"I can see that your relationship is very good. You must have been working together for a long time." "I'm out for adventure for the first time. Cagan is my neighbor. Since I was a kid, I like to follow him and listen to him telling adventure stories. Later, I learned some knowledge from the mage druid who was in the tavern. I taught myself to become a druid and mage at the beginning of this year.”

“Haha, I was a rookie to Henry a few days ago. He was totally frightened when he saw the ogre. From time to time I pulled him and his head blossomed.” Kegan quickly took it. Henry was helpless because it was not himself, he felt that this matter would definitely become his own dark history, as long as the old dwarf had the opportunity to tell everyone. —————

ask for clicks, ask for recommendations. Seeking collection

Chapter 9 Deep into the cave

The lunch time ended in the dwarf's revelation of Henry's childhood. Zetty looked at Henry with a smile. Just now, the dwarf told his glorious history of going to the house at the age of three to block the chimney and setting fire to his hair at the age of five. From the proficiency level, it is obvious that this is not the first time.

Henry felt that his face was a little hot, and his work experience in society over the past ten years is obviously not enough to cope with the current situation. Being stared at by the female druid was a little faint. After dinner, the cave exploration team packed their luggage and returned the carriage to the old man when passing by the Brown Farm. The goods on the car are also stored in the barn.

The three people came to the entrance of the cave just after noon. The internal organs of the insects that were disposed of yesterday were thrown into a pit and buried. But there is always a strange smell around. Cagan found a tree and tied the rope and climbed down the cave, followed by Zetty, and Henry last.

“From now on, it is forbidden to speak, to make sounds, and to communicate with sign language. Try to be gentle. Don't give the bugs any chance to find us.” After going down to the cave, Henry set the main tone for this operation, and that is the secret. sneak into. After the other two nodded to express their understanding, the light technique was blessed on everyone's weapon. Jedi's eyesight is zero, so it's okay to bless you more. Although the half-elf lady has night vision ability, light can still bring a lot of security to people living on the surface.

After entering the hole, the female druid walked in the forefront, Kagan followed closely behind, and Henry was at the end. Slowly began to explore the depths. About ten meters ahead, the cave bifurcated. On the left is a round hall with a lot of white eggs secretly. Zedi turned her head and told the two people behind that this was the eggs of the digger in the hatching room. Then everyone walked to the right and continued on.

went forward more than 40 meters and the cave suddenly opened up, and everyone found that it was like entering a hall. The bones and corpses of humans and other animals are everywhere on the ground. The adventurers' armors and weapons were thrown everywhere. Henry also found a pile of gold coins in a corner. This should be the place where the worms are stored and eaten. The three of them lip-synched to communicate and decided to kill all the bugs and then sort these things.

After passing through the hall, the road leading to the deepest point became narrower and narrower, and came to the end in a few minutes. Zeti saw the scene in front of her, her pupils shrank rapidly, and five huge bugs were lying on the ground. The largest jaw is one-third larger than the other insects, and the color of the body is no longer ordinary green, but dark green.

This is no longer an ordinary digger. A normal jedi can only spray acid once in six hours, and now the one in front of him has clearly evolved into the king of insects that can spray acid multiple times. Fortunately it is sleeping now. The two people behind also clearly discovered the bug's abnormality.

The three people slowly backed away in a tacit understanding, and then they returned to the food storage room to breathe a sigh of relief. "What to do, that insect king is obviously difficult to deal with. The passage is so narrow that there is no way to avoid the acid spray." Zedi asked softly. It's far enough from here to speak softly.

"Let's concentrate the poison to kill it first, and now there are three javelins immediately dipped in poison. After a while, I will send a signal and throw them at his jaw. Then I drink the speed potion and quickly retreat here to prepare the spell for frontal combat." Henry immediately formulated A feasible battle plan. The dwarf immediately agreed.

"Well, there is no other way at this point. Now start to infuse the spear head." The female druid took the javelin off her back after speaking, took a deep breath, held her breath, and opened the bottle of poison. Pour evenly on the tip of the gun. Henry and Cagan also learned to start applying poison.

came to the entrance of the insect king again, the three looked at each other, opened the speed potion and drank it. This is a powerful potion that can double the movement speed, attack speed, and interpretation speed within 30 seconds. After drinking the potion, Henry quickly raised the javelin and started the countdown with his fingers. Three, two, one.

"Swish, swish" The sound of the javelin across the air awakened the bugs. The insect king stood up alertly, and "poof" three javelins pierced the soft abdomen. "Squeak, squeak, squeak." The intense pain made it scream. Several other bugs also woke up and crawled in the direction of everyone. "Run" Henry yelled and got into the tunnel first. This is the dwarf and the druid who also found that the situation is not good, turned and started to run wildly.

Henry ran into the hall first, then took a deep breath and started preparing to chant the spell. The spell was just ready, and the dwarves and druids behind also ran in. "Greasy technique" grease immediately covered the entrance of the hall. Cagan took his shield and axe and stared at the tunnel. The female druid also began to chant and entered a state of concentration. After successfully casting the greasy spell, Henry began to chant the next spell.

The bug behind the second spell rushed out of the tunnel before the second spell was completed, and the green and black bug king was at the front. "Bang" The insect king's huge body slipped to the ground and tripped other insects that came out from behind. The second spell of "Entangling" was released immediately, and countless weeds grew on the greasy ground, which firmly bound the slender and pointed legs of the Digger.

Henry found out that Zetty's spell hadn't been completed yet, and was slightly surprised. At least a level 4 magic. The higher the level of spells and divine arts, the greater the power, but the shortcomings are also obvious, that is, the longer the singing time, the more interpretation gestures.

"Ice Storm" half-elf lady's spell is finally completed. A huge magic hail smashed down within ten meters of her center. "Damn, you should remind us." The dwarf who was almost hit hard shouted and backed away quickly. Henry survived relatively late. The bug gate trapped in place is not so lucky. Huge ice cubes hit the slender legs of the bug. The sound of breaking is endless.

After the freezing, Henry began to prepare for the spell again. Before the insects could feel the cold, a burning hand took them into the ice and the fire. The fat and weeds were all ignited. The two bugs began to struggle to stand up. Acid was sprayed at Kagan. The dwarf blocked the jet with a shield. After seeing that the shield was rapidly corroded, the dwarf decisively chose to discard it.

Zedi realized that the bugs still had the ability to fight back, and began to chant the spell again. Suddenly, the insect king stood up and rushed towards the half-elf who was preparing to explain the law. Cagan found that it was not good to directly block the way of the insect king. With huge jaws facing the dwarf, Cagan tried to avoid the bug's head but his legs were stabbed by sharp feet. "Ah, you * bug. Let's see how dwarf warriors are." Cagan picked up the axe and broke the bug's leg that stabbed him and rolled to the side. The insect king who lost one leg lost his balance and fell to the ground. Black poisonous blood began to flow from its chest. The toxin began to flare up.

Zedi's spell is completed, and it is another four-level spell and one-level summoning animal. Two huge evil wolves were summoned. Growls in bursts. The simple command to "go up" caused the hungry wolves to besiege the undead bugs. Henry saw the dwarf injured and hurried over, "Kagan, is it okay."

"Fortunately, it only penetrated the muscles without hurting the bones." The old dwarf's sore lips trembled.

“Hold it up, I’ll pull it out.” He tore a piece of cloth from his clothes and handed it to Kegan to bite him to prevent it from biting his tongue.

“One, two, three.” Heng used his strength to pull. “Ah,” Cagan screamed. At this time, the female druid also came over and used divine magic to create some water and simply clean the wound. A treatment of moderate damage was performed, and the huge wound quickly became smaller. The dwarf took out a bottle of the mild wound healing potion Henry gave him a few days ago and drank it, and the wound healed completely. But his face was pale and he lost too much blood.

“Thank you for saving me just now.” Zetty was very moved by the dwarf warrior’s desperation.

“Haha I just did what a soldier should do, but that * bug almost killed me. Are they all dead?”

“They are all dead. Didn’t you see that the summoned wolves stopped attacking.” Henry pointed to two wolves with green mouths and nothing to do.

“Then let us count the valuable things in this hall.” Said Kagan stood up. Start picking and picking around. “What an old wealth fan.” The half-elf expressed dissatisfaction with Cagan’s practice of asking for money and not life. It didn’t take long for the other two people to search the entire hall to find valuable things and pile them together.

After twenty minutes of hard work, everyone gathered what they found. UU reading www. uukanshu. com has about 600 gold coins in cash, two magic scrolls, level 3 spells, Berserk Charm and Spirit Armor. A bottle of magic potion is identified as Genting Giant Monster Power Potion, a powerful potion that can temporarily increase the power to 23 when drunk. A magic chain mail is stronger than ordinary and hard to wear. A magic dagger is harder and sharper than a normal dagger. The last is a powerful fireball staff, although there are only seven shots left in it.

After a brief discussion, Henry got two scrolls and a fireball staff, Kagan got a chain mail dagger and a magic potion, and the gold coins were divided equally between the two. Zedi didn’t take anything. The other two said that they would be exempted from the 2000 gold reward after the mission. Everyone is happy. After the distribution, everyone peeled off the insect shells, tied them with ropes and dragged them back to the ground.

After sending the two to the door of Brown’s farm, the half-elf druid said goodbye to Henry and Cagan and turned and left. Pushing open the door of Brown’s house, he saw that the old man had just made dinner. A big pot of stewed chicken, a few smoked fish. There are also big names of mashed potatoes and a small pot of bread.

“It’s so fragrant, I’m almost starving to death. Brown, don’t you know how bad we eat at noon. That elf only gives us fruit at noon.” The dwarf drooled and began to complain about the bleak lunch.

"Oh my god, what is that." Old Brown was taken aback by the huge head thrown at the door.

"King of Diggers, Cagan was almost killed by this guy today." Henry briefly explained to Old Brown and went to the dinner table to start eating. _____

ask for clicks, ask for recommendations. Seeking collection

Chapter 10 Road

"Kagan, I plan to rest for two days and then go back. You must know that the injury you suffered today is not light. Although the wound was healed by magical arts, there was so much blood that needs to be raised." Henry ate the potatoes. Mu, said to the dwarf. "Okay, let's rest for two days." The dwarf nodded and agreed.

Henry got up after dinner and prepared to take a bath by the well in the backyard. Cagan continued to sit at the dining table and spit wildly about what happened in the depths of the cave today, which greatly satisfied Brown's curiosity. After all, such exciting things don't happen often in such remote villages.

The temperature in the evening of May is not high, and a bucket of cold water poured down from the head took away all the heat and made Henry get goose bumps. The clothes that I took off had long been soaked in sweat and gave off a bad smell. The battles that took place in the cave replayed in my mind over and over again. The moments of life and death made him tremble. The whole world opened a corner for Henry today, making him feel both excited and terrified. Another bucket of water poured down, and Henry quickly calmed down and began to adjust his mentality. Take a few deep breaths to relax the nerves slowly. Close your eyes and feel the breeze blowing by and take away the moisture and heat. Opening his eyes, reason and stability regained the body. I dried my body with a towel, washed the clothes and dried them on the wooden sticks in the courtyard. Turned back to his room. Entering the room, closing the door, Henry opened the system.

human, male, 14 years old, absolutely neutral. Occupation: Mage 4th level 22813/20000, Druid 4th level 22812/12500. You upgraded.

Kill the Digger King, gain 6000 experience and kill the King's Elite Guard 1500X4

Complete the mission to clear the wormhole and gain 8000 experience

No wonder the life force of the few insects in the cave is so tenacious. They turned out to be all abnormal monsters. A burst of light flashed through my mind silently upgrading.

Mage 5th level 22813/40000, Druid 6th level 22812/35000

1st level spell slot: 4+4

Level 2 spell slots: 2

Level 3 spell slot: 1

Level 1 power position: 5

2nd level magic power position: 5

Level 3 magic position: 3

Newly mastered three-level magical skills: contagion, sealing magic, storm shield, dispelling magic, superhuman strength, human or animal body fixation, wind creation, insect summoning, thunder summoning, curing diseases, and curing serious injuries.

Seeing here, Henry suddenly remembered the two Level 3 spell scrolls he had obtained during the day, and immediately got up and found them and copied them into the system. The 3rd level spells also have more spirit armor and violent charm. After sorting out my thoughts, I started preparing for spells and magic Level 1 spells: Hypnotism, Burning Hand, Greasy X2, Contrast X2, Magic Missile X2. The Ring of Witchcraft has provided him with twice the number of 1st-level spell slots, making the number of spells that were originally tightly cast a lot more generous.

Level 2 Spells: None. It seems that I will buy some magic scrolls when I pass by the friendly pen

3rd-level spell: violent charm

Level 1 Divine Art: Entanglement, Faith Armor, Healing Minor Injury X2, Demon Fire.

Level 2 Divine Art: Bark Art X2, slow down poison, heal medium damage, flame knife.

Level 3 Divine Art: Dispel magic, freeze animals or humans, and heal serious injuries.

After finishing the preparations, Henry looked at his spell list in a daze. In his opinion, the magic attack power he prepared was weak and his control ability was too strong. It seems that I really need to get a recommendation letter and find a tutor to study again. For the mage, any slight weakness is fatal.

Two days passed quickly, and the dwarf's body basically recovered. After spending 30 gold coins to purchase two carriages, Digging Worm's Shell was carried into the carriage. After saying goodbye to Brown, the two set off for the Arm of Friendly. We greeted the half-elf lady as we passed by the tree house. When Ms. Druid was parting, she gave Kegan a bottle of privately brewed fine fruit wine, while Henry received a bag of strange seeds, which are said to be able to grow some rare magical plants.

drove the carriage and walked along the road to the southwest. Arrived at Arm of Friendly the next afternoon. After placing the carriage and luggage, Kagan sold all the diamonds at the market and got 4,200 gold coins. After the split, Henry could have a fortune of 2,570 gold coins. Purchased some spell scrolls in the temple of Oma, the * of knowledge (1st level spells: discernment, magic shield, petrification protection. 2nd level spells: smelly cloud, vocalization, spider web, invisibility. 3rd level spells: speed up Art, Fireball Art.) A total of 1943 gold coins were spent. The level 1 scroll is 67 gold coins, the level 2 scroll is 134 gold coins, and the level 3 scroll acceleration and fireball are as high as 603 gold coins.

The gold coins that were just received were gone before they were warmed up, which made Henry a little depressed, thinking that he would spend money to spend it happily. I bought some blank scrolls and a scroll box with Ms. Galana and spent more than 422 gold coins.

After returning to the hotel, he spent a gold coin with the old dwarf and rented the alchemy studio. Transcribe all the magic and divine arts that were not used that day into scrolls, and put all 22 scrolls and the previously copied ones into the scroll box. This is a magic item that can only store scrolls and can perceive your thoughts. The scroll you want is always on the top, easy to access at any time, and will not be rushed in battle.

Henry was also hungry after busy working all afternoon. When I went downstairs, I ate a special dish of beef stew with potatoes, added a piece of bread, and went back to my room to adjust my spells. The 1st-level spell replaces one of the imaging spells with identification spells, and one greasy spell is not replaced with shielding spells. The second-level spell records invisibility and spider web. The 3rd level spell Fury Charm has been replaced with Fireball. After this adjustment, the firepower and self-protection capabilities have been enhanced a lot.

The two got up early the next morning, Chuang put on a carriage and set off to the south. Today the road is relatively long, passing through the Coastal Avenue to Belgoost. Moreover, the Coastal Avenue is not very safe. There are often bandits here to rob past business travelers.

Both of them chose to walk instead of sitting in the car. Cagan led the horse and walked ahead, Henry followed closely behind. Holding crossbow arrows on the strings in both hands, ready to shoot at any time. The two heard a sound of weapons intersecting as they walked to the three fork in the road.

"Louise, go scouting." Henry immediately instructed his magic chong in the language of the wooden tribe. Pickering got up from his master's shoulder and flew forward for reconnaissance. Cagan found a tree bolt for the two horses, then took out his axe and held a shield in his hand, ready to fight.

After 3 minutes, Louise flew back. She said that there were two teams fighting at the three fork in the road ahead. One party wears a black helmet with red stripes and holds a long sword. On the other side is a group of ogres. The number of humans is about 50, and there are only 20 ogres. But humans suffered heavy casualties from being beaten by ogres.

“Red striped helmet? It sounds like the guards of Baldur’s Gate. We should help them. Otherwise, if the ogres kill them all, then they should come to us.” I don’t have any good feelings, so I recommend killing all the ogres.

“We attacked them from the side, and you attracted the target to bring them together. I will use them to teach them a lesson that will be memorable for life.”

“Then what are you waiting for, let’s kill them all without leaving.” The dwarf licked his lips bloodthirsty.

Under the cover of trees, the two quietly walked around to the side of the battlefield. Seeing the 3-meter-tall ogre brandishing a huge wooden stick, the guard who was hit was either dead or wounded. Obviously these guards have no long-range weapons. Holding a long sword, they couldn’t get close to these huge monsters at all. Before the battle, Henry blessed the dwarf and himself with a bark spell. This spell can make a person’s skin as strong as a tree, which is equivalent to wearing a light armor.

“I’ll go up first.” After finishing Kagan carried his axe and shield and rushed to the battlefield. While the ogres were besieging the guards, the dwarf’s axe smashed into an ogre’s knee. Then he turned around and broke its other leg.

“Let you chopsticks taste the taste of the dwarves’ slashing!” After turning an ogre into a crippled one, Kegan began to laugh at all the ogres.

“Come on, you dirty maggots, let the strong dwarves help you fix your legs and feet.”

All the ogres turned to look at the dwarves. Kagan raised his foot and stepped on the head of the disabled ogre. “Die, rubbish” a cold light flashed across Shuo’s head and rolled down. UU Reading The blood on the neck was sprayed everywhere. The dwarf gave a vicious kick to the head.

“Wow!” The dwarf language and behavior finally successfully angered all the ogres. They gave up the human beings who were chasing and turned and rushed over. Kagan turned around and ran away when he realized the strategy was successful.

Good job, Henry couldn’t help giving the dwarf a thumbs up in his heart. Then stood up and began to cast the spell. A few seconds of time spells are ready to be completed, greasy spells. Large patches of grease appeared behind Kagan. The ogre who rushed forward slipped and fell and tripped the one behind. After seeing the success of the spell, he immediately began to prepare for the next spell.

Just as the ogres were struggling to stand up, the second spell was ready, fireball. A small orange-red flame flew forward and exploded among the enemies. The 10-meter explosion ignited all the grease on the ground. About ten ogres turned into Burning men and crawled out of the fire field desperately. Several in the center of the explosion died on the spot.

The remaining ogres found that the situation was not good and began to hesitate whether to escape, and at this moment Henry had already begun to prepare the third spell. When the human guards saw a mage appeared, they began to gather and prepare to encircle the remaining monsters. The third spell of "Spider Web" was covered in the last few remnants. A large stretch of tough and sturdy spider webs kept them firmly on the ground and could not move.

Henry picked up the crossbow and began to roll the names one by one, shooting at the eyes, mouth and other vital parts. The spider web technique hadn't expired yet, and a few ogres with * eyes had died. _____

ask for clicks, ask for recommendations. Seeking collection