Chapter 153

Chapter 153 | Came Here for You

One of the judges waited for her to finish walking on the runway before commenting. "Although this V-neck tight dress of yours looks good, your proud flesh is revealed, and it is not beautiful. Moreover, I think your design should be a slip dress?"

"Yes," designer No. 10 quickly replied

"But your straps are too short. It's hard to wear You can only put the straps on the two sides of your shoulders, leaving marks there. It doesn't look good."

Designer No. 10 lowered her head in ***.

And your shoulders are too broad, so you are not suitable to wear this kind of revealing dress. The judge held the microphone and was disappointed with her work. "When you designed it, you only pursued visual effects. You did not consider whether the person wearing it would look good in it... I can only give you three points."

The highest score was 10 points.

The other judges also gave low scores, and the score given by the audience was even lower....

Designer No. 10 knew she had no chance to compete in the second round, so she expressed her appreciation and quickly stepped down.

Mariela secretly saw that and ran back to the resting room to tell Paige, "What should we do, Paige? I feel the judges are very strict, and the audience has high standards..."

It was not easy for them to get a high score.

Paige was playing a mobile game. No one knew she was playing in a match. They just thought it wasn't serious.

"Paige, you look beautiful when you play mobile games... For some reason, Mariela felt Paige was too pretty. No matter what Paige did and what expression she had, it was very pleasing to the eyes.

Designer No. 11 walked around the stage. The president of the Women's Wear Association, Sophia Bird, picked up the microphone and commented, "The waist part of your tight dress is only the width of a palm. You probably feel very uncomfortable now, right?"

Designer No. 11 couldn't hold it in and nodded to admit that it was too tight!

"It will easily cause blood circulation problems. If it is serious, your ribs will be broken."

When Sophia said that, many of the audience laughed.

Sophia said seriously, "Don't think I am joking. Not long ago, a female celebrity walked on the red carpet. As soon as she left the red carpet, she was immediately sent to the hospital. It was really a fracture. I advise you to take it off quickly. In the future, when you design a dress, pay attention to the size."

After designer No. 11 left, designer No. 12 went on stage. She walked around, and many of the audience covered their eyes.

Even the judges found it hard to describe. "Before you went on stage, I noticed your work. Your shoulders are exposed, and the sleeves are puffy. It has a deep V-neck, and a lot of pearls are sewn into the dress, It looks fantastic, but when you wear it..."

The zipper on the back of the gorgeous dress was only half closed.

"The dress you designed is only for extremely thin models."

When the designer wore it, not only did she look *, but she also looked swollen.

"As a designer, you can't blindly pursue beauty. It's unrealistic. Also, your pearl choker is a flaw. Your neck looks thick when you wear

"Next, let's invite designer No. 16 on the stage!"

After the host finished speaking, Paige gracefully appealed

She was wearing a rose patterned dress embroidered with gauze. She wore a beautiful crown on her head Her noble and amazed everyone elegant appearance

She was as beautiful as a princess from the fairy tales. She was graceful and refined, giving off an aura of nobility.

"So gorgeous"

"She's even more beautiful than a star!"

"She looks like a flower fairy. Both she and the dress are stunning!"

"She is assistant No. 16? I remember her! I will sign her and make her famous!"

"Paige?" When Klein Anderson, the president of the America Fashion Designers Association, who was the judge, saw Paige, he almost spat out the water in his . He could not believe what he saw. He rubbed his eyes and looked carefully. It was true! The talented designer actually came to participate in such a small competition, and she came as an assistant...

Did he miss Paige too much, or did she get bored and decide to experience normal people's life?

"Do you know her?" Hernan, who was at the side, looked at him.

Only then did Klein realize he had spilled the beans. He quickly explained, "No, no, no, I don't know her. I don't know her..."

"You know her name."

Hearing Herman's words, Klein did not dare to hide the truth. After all, Hernan was a big shot.

'Klein could not afford to offend Herman!

"I'm warning you. Don't tell anyone..." Klein beckoned for Herman to come closer and then whispered in his ear, "The designer is in charge of PQ Fashion. She designed PQ Fashion's products. But her real name is Paige! I guess she is here to experience life."

Otherwise, how could he explain the fact that Paige was an assistant?

Paine?

My sister is also called Paine?

Herman's eyes deepened a little, and he was thinking, in other words, PQ Fashion is single-handedly created by my sister?

No wonder the three-dimensional embroidery just now is so vivid and lifelike, and the embroidery is excellent....

"I won't mistake such a top-notch beauty!" Klein swallowed and flipped through the information. "Is she from the Lusk family's company? How much did you spend hiring her? You even made her an assistant... Is her salary 160 million dollars?"

No one spoke.

"It can't be less than 160 million dollars. Otherwise, she wouldn't even look at it."

So, the four-leaf clover necklace Herman bought, which was worth 4 million dollars, was nothing to Paige...

Hernan had mixed feelings.

After Paige finished walking on the stage, Klein was just about to comment when Hernan picked up the microphone first.

"Are you Paige?"

Paige looked over. The man's face was handsome, and his voice was deep and friendly.

"Yes."

"I am Hernan. It's nice to meet you."

As soon as he finished speaking, everyone was shocked.

Was the cold and reticent CEO starting a conversation with the beautiful woman on the stage?

Even Paige was a little surprised, thinking, my brother is a judge today?

"I came for you."

Herman's words made the audience exclaim.

My goodness! Was the richest man interested in the beautiful woman?

He actually said he came for her...

Wasn't it rumored he was abstinent?

Paige was beautiful and elegant.

But she was only an assistant...

Wasn't the gap between them too big?

"Your performance today was amazing. It was beyond my expectations." Hernan didn't expect his sister not only managed the company but also founded PQ Fashion. She was a fantastic designer but was willing to be an assistant to help the younger generation...

Her ambition and plan were peerless.

Under Paige's fair and delicate neck were her unrivaled slender and graceful shoulders. "Thank you," she said.

"I am looking forward to your next performance." Heman gave ten points! Full marks!

The entire audience was in an uproar!
