

CEO Bride 102

Chapter 102

Hunter followed Hera to the desk.

Hera sat down in her chair and then switched on the computer. "When did I ever send you photos of my legs? I don't even remember responding to your messages on Whatsapp," she said.

Hunter had sent her messages on WhatsApp more than once, but she ignored them every time.

Moreover, even if she did reply to them, she would not have sent him photos of her legs.

Even now, she had never worn shorts out and it had been the same since high school. The skirts she wore all reached her calves.

"What? Didn't you reply to me last night?"

"Did you drink too much last night that you don't remember what happened?"

Hunter fished out his phone and opened his chat history with Hera from last night before placing his phone on the table.

Hera was on the computer, sending out emails without even looking at his phone.

The man was a little anxious now. "Hera, look. This is our chat history from last night."

After sending out a few emails, Hera finally glanced at his phone.

messages were actually from impersonate

finger and tapped on her profile picture. The number attached to the WhatsApp profile was indeed hers.

she got to the end, she glared at Hunter. "You arranged for it. "It wasn't me! It was my grandfather. He gave Crow 15 million to do it!"

face. "You're despicable! How shameless of last night, Skadi would have did you just put a hand over his face. He really could not understand why Hera had been chatting with him so enthusiastically yesterday only for her

Hera roared as she pointed at the family had actually sent someone to get rid of Skadi just because she was hindering Hunter in his pursuit of her.

I really love you. Why can't you accept me?" Hunter said softly like an aggrieved again, her eyes bloodshot.

been passing by the president's office knocked on the door and voice.

what happened?"

here," Hera

rather politely seeing that he was the heir of the gift to us! You can't escape from me!"

The two guards also exited Hera's office.

Hera propped her hands on the desk as she felt the guilt well up in her.

Skadi had almost been killed twice because of her, and the only time she tried to help her, she ended up doing nothing at all.

"The Smiling Grim Reaper... I'll definitely find you!"

Hera decided then that she would help Skadi find her idol.

At the Zells' private estate, there was a luxurious villa in the middle, and its surrounding area was heavily guarded.

George and Janson had been temporarily recruited to act as guards. Stellar was pacing back and forth outside while Zakariah and Tanner were discussing something.

Nash arrived at the villa under Grant's lead.

Brian immediately greeted him with a solemn expression, "Grandmaster, you're finally here."

He felt guilty that he was unable to treat the warden despite being a well-known miracle doctor in the country.

Stellar hurried over. "Nash, come with me."

Nash took great strides and followed him inside without saying a word.