

CEO Bride 245

Chapter 245

Zakariah exclaimed, "F*cking Green Bamboo Association... they crossed the line!"

Bang!

Justin grinned as he stood up and rubbed his chest. He asked, "That means... they didn't do anything because of me?"

Nash nodded and said, "I believe so!"

Justin excitedly responded, "This outfit is too cool! When Walter saw me today it was like he was meeting his grandfather!"

Nash was taken aback. "You went to the Watson household?"

Justin recalled his experience in the Watson household.

Nash was in a cold sweat as he listened to Justin. It was fortunate that he returned to the Zabel household on time. If it were any later, the Hidden-Ghost Juggernaut would have attacked them.

That move was incredibly dangerous.

He was not cautious enough.

When he arrived at the villa, Hera was dozing off while wrapped in a thin blanket.

“A bit!” Nash nodded.

“That’s not good, I’ll bring you some painkillers!” Hera said.

“There’s a natural painkiller in saliva. It’s called Opiorphin and it has an analgesic effect!” Nash explained with a straight face.

Hera instantly understood what Nash meant so she put her arms around his neck and kissed him.

Justin was stood behind the sofa they were sitting on and the edge of his lips fiercely twitched while he buried his face in his hands.

Bianca walked down the stairs from the second floor with a bowl of medicine. “Dr. Tanner, Skade’s fever subsided...”

Brian was asleep on a chair with a blanket. When he heard Bianca’s voice, he awoke. “That’s good... that’s good that the fever has subsided...”

He stretched, let out a big yawn, and said, “Make another dose of medicine and it’ll be ready after dawn...”

Hera heard their voices and immediately pulled herself from Nash. She was blushing hard as she shyly asked, “Does it still hurt?”

“Not anymore...”

“I’ll go accompany Skade now, go find a place to rest too!” Hera blushed and ran upstairs.
