

CEO Bride 309

Chapter 309

In the villa's living room, Xeno said, "Mr. Nash... The sister of that Shanty Joe you mentioned is named Sweedy. She's Walter Watson's wife, but... I heard that Sweedy is in a vegetative state."

"Walter's wife?" Nash's face showed a hint of confusion.

"Do you know her?" Xeno asked in surprise.

"I cured her illness... We're going to the Watsons' right now!"

At the Watson Estate, Walter angrily smashed the teacup he was holding onto the ground.

"Scoundrel... Does that damned kid plan on pissing me off to death?!"

He had been in Capiton for a business summit a couple of days ago.

Just after returning, he heard that Kai had attended a gathering with the four masters of the Green Bamboo Association.

There was news about all Ten Juggernauts of the Green Bamboo Association being killed, causing great concern among the elites.

Nash was sure to hold all the families involved accountable.

Forget settling scores with Kai, if Nash wanted to destroy the entire Watsons, it would be as easy as flicking his finger.

Walter got up from the sofa with a pale face. "It's either one or the other. In any case, there's no escaping this. Let's go greet Nash."

Outside the Watson Estate, Nash stood with his hands in his pockets. Xeno and Finn stood behind him, looking like two professional bodyguards in their suits.

Melody stood next to Nash. Staring at the magnificent mansion, she murmured, "So, Walter Watson lives in Jonford..."

"Are you close to him?" Nash asked casually.

"I'm not, but my father was. They were both members of Universal Group House of Representatives," Melody explained.

"Universal Group? I think Mr. Skye is also on the list of Universal Group House of Representatives. What exactly is this House of Representatives?" Xeno inquired.

"Universal Group, with an annual profit of 450 billion Moliga dollars, is among the top ten global companies. They currently have eight billion total shares with a total market value of 960 billion Moliga dollars. There are 800 primary shareholders and around three million secondary ones. The top 50 shareholders by volume can join the House of Representatives, influencing the company's major decisions.

"There are 24 members from Drakonia in the House of Representatives. The ten major families of Capiton hold up to 35% of the shares, granting them significant authority in the council. They even have the power to replace the chairman of Universal Group at any time!"

Melody concluded, glancing at Nash.

There was another thing that she had not mentioned.

The founder of Universal Group was Christopher Young's father, Harper Young.

He was Nash's great-grandfather!
