Chapter 231

When Gwendolyn heard Juliette's soft and adorable voice, her heart melted. Anyone who heard it would give anything to the little girl.

Gwendolyn sat beside the bed and helped her daughter blow on her injuries.

"It's the same if I help you to blow on it."

Juliette sat there obediently and let her mother blow on her wounds.

She pouted her tiny lips and said, "Gwen, I'd prefer it if Mr. Handsome blows on it instead."

It was because he looked like the father in her dreams. The father in her dreams looked just like him and appeared similar to her older brothers.

Gwendolyn was not angry. She understood her daughter the most.

"Yes. I'll get him to do so later."

Julian woke up shortly after. He gently rubbed his eyes.

"Mommy, Mr. Lowen left as he has urgent matters to attend to. I've already thanked him."

While he was speaking, his gaze was fixed on Justin. They were thinking the same thing.

Gwendolyn returned home with her children. As they had slept very late the night before, all of them took a nap after lunch.

At around three in the afternoon, Gwendolyn was awoken by the buzz of her phone.

She reached over and grabbed her phone. She took a look and wanted to see who had sent her a message. Unexpectedly, it was a message that informed her of a money transfer.

Gwendolyn was frightened out of her wits. "Ah!"

Her voice resounded in the entire building. The money was transferred to her through Paypal and was sent straight to her account.

At the sound of her scream, Camille and the three children ran to her room.

"What's wrong, Mommy?"

Nervousness was written all over Camille's face. "What's wrong, Gwen?"

Gwendolyn shot out of her bed abruptly and hugged Camille before hugging her three children.

Gwendolyn glanced at him coldly and asked, "What do you mean by that? I was planning to ask you to let us go!"

She had children of her own. With her debts cleared, she hoped that they would not bother her family anymore.

Samuel almost went down on his knees. Almost crying, he begged, "Ms. Ashton, I'm in the wrong. I will not repeat my mistake again. Please treat that five hundred thousand as the payment for young Juliette's medical bills."

A trace of astonishment flashed in Gwendolyn's eyes. She had not expected him to have some conscience after all.

She stopped struggling and relented. "All right! Since you said it, the medical bills should be borne by you guys. I only used twenty thousand, so I will transfer the remaining back to you."

Samuel thought that she was stubborn and one-of-a-kind to let such an offer pass. It was as though the woman was a fool.

However, he learned the hard way last night that she was to be feared when she became driven mad.

“Ms. Ashton, let me state explicitly. You are with Patrick, so I can't offend you. We really don't want the money. Please don't come back to us anymore!”

Even loan sharks would be afraid of her.

Hearing Patrick's name being mentioned, she finally understood that he was really the reason for this.

Patrick opened his eyes, and with a corner of his lips slightly pursed, he asked, “Gwendolyn, it's your rest day today. What makes you think of treating me to a meal? Actually, I prefer your cooking.”

Although her cooking was not that good, he still liked it for some reason.

Gwendolyn focused on massaging his head, and she felt like she was in an altered spiritual state.

In the past, she was hostile to Patrick because he was Felicia's boyfriend. However, she now treated him as her friend.

To her, he was a very special friend.

“Mr. Lowen, I must thank you for last night. In the future, I will make you dinner every night and tidy up your room based on your meeting schedule.”

Lately, she had been slipping away sneakily or deliberately avoiding him.

That was because she did not quite want to admit that he was the reason why she got into debt last time. Now, she was willing to splurge on him.

Patrick raised his eyebrows and said, “No problem. Just treat me nicer next time.”

After massaging for a while, she withdrew her hands.

Somehow, Patrick actually felt reluctant for her to stop, as it was very comfortable when her soft hands pressed on his head.

Gwendolyn opened the lunchboxes and laid out the dishes.

Felicia immediately shook her head. "Why would I? I know this is just a contract, and I will get the extra allowance from our deal to buy more bags."

She suddenly came to realize that a man like Patrick would only ask her to pretend to be his girlfriend because he needed to deceive his family members.

Knowing he was not a man of commitment, she figured she should make him think she was in this for money instead of attempting to win his heart.

If he eliminated his ominous feeling toward her, he would likely let her continue to be his fake girlfriend. Being his girlfriend was enough for her to boast around.

There would be plenty of benefits that come along with that title. Her family would also see her in a new light.

Patrick smiled faintly at her and took out a check before writing ten million on it. Then, he asked, "Is this enough?"

Felicia took over the check and pretended to be ecstatic. "Yes, it is. Thanks!"

In fact, money was not that important to her. The Ashton family was not short of cash either.

However, she had to make it seem like she was short of money, which was why she acted so excited in front of him.

Patrick got a little upset when he saw her looking unbothered.

If she were to tell him that she did not want to see him being together with Felicia, he would do everything he could to make Felicia disappear without a trace.

However, she said nothing at all.

Patrick took a sip of the coffee and looked at the time. "I have to go on the field. You may leave now."

Gwendolyn watched him get up and walk to his desk with an indifferent expression. He took a file and went to the clothes hanger to get his coat. After draping the coat around his arm, he left the office.

Not used to him acting so frosty around her, Gwendolyn pouted a little.

She was almost sure he was in a bad mood because he had had a fight with Felicia earlier.

Looking at the time, Gwendolyn suddenly widened her eyes. "Oh my! I'm going to be late!"

She had a class that day, an extra class personally tutored by Tiffany because the latter had high hopes for her and wanted to spend more time coaching her.

Gwendolyn sped off in her car to the school. After getting inside the classroom, Tiffany was already making a sample dress there.

Chapter 237

The two agreed to meet at a private restaurant near the hospital.

Gwendolyn finished her classes at around four o'clock in the afternoon. When she arrived at the restaurant, it was already almost six in the evening. Hence, she could have her dinner there.

Lucy was not too far away from the restaurant, so she was the one who arrived first.

When Gwendolyn walked into the private room, she saw Lucy drinking some alcohol. Hence, she tugged Lucy's arm as she sat beside the latter. "Don't drink too much."

Lucy broke into a smile as soon as she saw her. It was then a trace of vitality finally appeared on her attractive face. "Gwen, I'll ask them to serve the food now. Can you accompany me for some drinks?"

Gwendolyn knitted her brows. "What happened?"

After all, she had a low alcohol tolerance. Moreover, Lucy was not someone who enjoyed drinking as she had been selling wines in nightclubs. Hence, she should feel nothing but disgust toward alcohol.

"I'm delighted. Melanie can finally proceed with her surgery next Friday." Lucy hugged Gwendolyn as she said that. "Gwen, finally, this day has come. There's hope for Melanie and me now."

Melanie had been staying in the hospital for two years, and because of that, Lucy had spent everything.

The two then continued drinking. Gwendolyn propped her chin and looked at Lucy. "Luce, do you think he'll dare to come?"

There was no way she would swallow her anger. At that point, she could only feel better after beating Lucas up.

Lucy shook her head. "No. I guess he won't!"

Truthfully, she did not understand Lucas well. After all, the only thing they did was being intimate with each other every time they met. They seldom had any conversations.

What kind of a person is he? I don't know a single thing about him.

Gwendolyn laughed. "That's great. What if I can't defeat him later?"

With that, the two laughed out loud. Lucy caressed Gwendolyn's face, saying, "Gwen, you're so cute!"

Gwendolyn was exceptionally adorable after she was drunk because she would blabber everything in her mind.

Around thirty minutes later, two tall and slender figures entered the private room and walked to the side of each woman.

Patrick bent down and called out at Gwendolyn, "Gwendolyn, who told you to drink?"

Patrick glanced down, noticing that she was taking off his buttons one by one. He grabbed her wrist and uttered in a low voice, "Gwendolyn, do you know what these are?" She lifted her head, but everything in front of her was fuzzy. Concurrently, she could feel the world spinning around her. She fixed her attention on the diamond buttons, and all she could see were only those shiny objects. "Wow! Diamonds! There are diamonds growing on this wall! How shiny!" Patrick's expression grew increasingly darker. What the hell? This woman is such an idiot when she gets tipsy. "I'm warning you, Gwendolyn. Stop ripping off these buttons. Or else, I won't let you off."

As he said that, Patrick smiled mischievously.

Meanwhile, Gwendolyn was not a tad bit bothered by what the man said. She could feel the greed growing inside her, as she wanted nothing but to pick those diamonds for her daughter.

Just then, Patrick's phone rang. He grabbed it and answered the call.

"Yes?"

It was Lucas on the phone.

She hugged her knees tightly to her chest, looking like an obedient girl.

From the surface, one could not possibly tell that Gwendolyn was, in fact, already drunk.

Hearing Gwendolyn's voice, Zayden knocked on the car window and voiced, "Mr. Lowen, I'm here to pick Gwen up. Can you please open the door for me?"

However, Patrick was displeased. He locked the car door, and Zayden could not open the door from the outside.

Gwendolyn turned sideways and took a glance. "Zayden, I'm here. Zayden! Are you coming to get me up yet?"

There was a hint of frustration in her voice. As a matter of fact, Zayden would always send her home when she got drunk.

Hence, she felt safe hearing his voice.

Patrick uttered aloofly, "Start the car."

Larry wanted to get down from the car to resolve the accident but had a change of mind upon witnessing everything.

Hearing Patrick's instructions, he had no choice but to start the car according to his employer's command.

The moment Larry drove away, Gwendolyn's phone rang.

She threw everything out of her bag, grabbed her phone, and picked up the call.
