

Chapter 1871-Charmine made them work at her company for so long and still would not give them a breather at all?

Seeing how devastated her parents looked, Amelia slammed her palms onto the table angrily and barked, ' What are you so haughty for, Charmine? You merely made a successful skincare brand! If Tiffany didn't do what she did, you might not have won!"

With that said, she turned to reassure her parents, "Daddy, Mommy, don't beg this heartless woman. Her heart is made of steel, and all she cares about is herself! Although Tiffany is evil, at least she was kind toward us."

Charmine looked at the family of three and sneered, unleashing an onslaught of words, "Feeding a bunch of parasites is being kind? Felix, why don't you think of why you're still a security guard after so long. You still have a few decades left to live. Are you sure you guys want to live like this; like empty husks with no dreams or goals?"

Not caring how interesting the looks on their faces were, Charmine stood up and left.

When she arrived by the staircase, Joey walked out of the kitchen and called out to her, "Charmine..."

Charmine stopped and looked at her. "Yes?" "I'm quite busy in the kitchen. Can you come in and help me out?"

Charmine halted.

She had thought Joey would talk her out into helping their parasitic relatives...but it was apparent that Joey merely wanted to spend more time with her.

Recalling that Anthony was still chatting with Senior Jordan upstairs, she did not want to disturb them. Before anything else, she glared at Amelia, Lily, and Felix.

"Remember: one must live a life worth living!"

With that said, she went into the kitchen and joined Joey in preparing the dishes.

Lily, meanwhile, looked at the mother-and-daughter pair and was horribly envious, i How could the two be so happy while the rest of them suffered?

The three of them exchanged glances, stood up in unison, and made their way to the backyard.

When they arrived, Felix looked at Lily and said, "Why did you say it out loud?"

Do you know how much ten percent of her shares are? Every one billion she earns, she has to give you a hundred million! If she earns ten billion, she has to pay you one billion! Of course she won't say yes to it!" "I had to ask for a bigger number, only for her to press me down!" reasoned Lily. "Who would've thought that this woman could be so heartless? She's not giving us anything!"

Amelia, displeased, looked at her parents angrily. "Dad, why are you blaming Mom at all? It's not about how much she asks for; Charmine is not giving us anything! You said how bad it is for you to work as a security guard. If she has a heart at all, she would've given you a management position, yet all she gave you two were harsh words!"

Amelia's anger flared the more she spoke. "Who does Charmine think she is?

How stingy!"

Lily saw how angry her daughter was and turned around to comfort her." Amelia, don't get angry. I will think of another way. If it doesn't work now, I'll go and bug her at her shop every day. She'll cave in someday when she loses her patience."

Amelia looked at her and arched her eyebrows. "Mom, do you have any better ideas other than these embarrassing ones?"

When Felix heard her saying this, he asked with his eyes widened, "Amelia, what better ideas do you have?"

As Amelia was about to speak, the backyard door suddenly opened. The three of them looked over in unison and saw...

The person standing in front of them was Tiffany!

They were so close to screaming when they recalled the huge bounty on Tiffany, but- "Shut up!" hissed Tiffany as she took out and handed out a five-million worth of check.

Lily instantly accepted the check and scrutinized it closely.

It was genuine!

The three of them looked at this elegantly dressed woman before them in shock.

"Why are you here?" they blurted.

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 1872-Had this despicable Tiffany scored another wealthy guy?

Two days ago, she was still running down the streets in filth. How could she show up so well-pampered?

Not only was she not apprehended, but she even offered them this much money?

Tiffany looked at them arrogantly as if she did not hear them speak. She instructed, "If you do as I say and transfer all the money out of the Jordan group, I'll give you one billion. I'll then bring you overseas and leave this country.

Nobody will find you."

One billion? That was a very attractive figure, no doubt. They could live a comfortable life with that much money upon leaving the country! i However...

The three of them exchanged glances and fixed their eyes on Tiffany in unison.

"You've done every evil crime there is," they verbally pointed. "How can we trust you?" "Now that you can't even protect yourself, you still have such an evil plan to make your family go bankrupt?" "You're evil as usual. How cruel!"

Amelia put her hands on her waist and mocked Tiffany, "Go away! We won't trust you. As for this five million..."

Amelia smirked. "This will be the price for us to not expose you."

Lily admired her daughter for being so smart. She gazed at her, proud, before turning her then-disdainful gaze toward Tiffany, jeering, "Go away! If they find out you're here, you won't even be able to leave!" 1 Tiffany grew livid upon hearing their words.

A family of fools! If they were not valuable in her plan, she would have killed them all!

She gripped onto her bag tighter, took a deep breath, and retrieved the malicious glint in her gaze.

Noticing that the trio was leaving, Tiffany quickly said, "Is this how you're going to spend the rest of your lives, living under Charmine's control? Have you forgotten how Charmine treated you all? She's utterly arrogant and bossy! Don't you want to see her having nothing left?"

Their faces stiffened, and these words felt like they had stabbed right into their hearts.

Tiffany had a point.

They did not want to live under this woman, to be treated with disrespect!

They were supposed to be a family. How could Charmine be exalted and earning billions every few hours while they were lambasted, having been forced to put on smiles just to get scolded?

Lily looked at Felix and felt bitter.

They had had enough!

She pushed Felix's hand away and turned over to look at Tiffany. "Is what you say true? Once this is done, will you truly give us one billion and send us out of the country? Can you ensure our safety?"

Felix frowned and said, "What's this nonsense about, Lily? The Jordan Group is my father's effort of decades-it's not just Charmine's! You'd believe this woman and hurt our father?"

Amelia scoffed, "Dad, what's the point of reconciling ties right now? Has President while you're a security guard! This money wouldn't be ours, even if they don't go to Tiffany!" "She's right." Lily thought of how her husband was powerless at home and snapped, "Felix, what are you hesitating for? This is a good opportunity! Do you want to continue living like this after all? It's one billion! When we get the money, you can easily establish a company outside and be a boss!

We'll live happily, and we won't have to live under anyone anymore! Do you want to be a security guard forever?" 1 Felix frowned and thought for a moment before he cast his gaze at his wife and daughter.

Thinking of how powerless he was at home, he finally nodded. "Alright. If that's what you have decided, I'll listen to you."

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 1873-His only family as of this moment was Lily and Amelia, after all. 2 Tiffany remained standing austere like a wealthy woman. She looked at them elegantly as they struggled and negotiated.

Heh. These tools.

She could forever spot their weak spots precisely!

When the three of them had decided, Amelia looked at Tiffany and said, "Why are you helping us?"

Tiffany smiled elegantly, and her red lips parted for her to say, "The enemy of my enemy is a friend. You hate Charmine, and I hate her more. I want to see her destroyed and left with nothing!"

This reason convinced Amelia, Lily, and Felix. 2 It was all on Charmine that Tiffany had ended up like this...and it was also she who forced them to change their allegiance from her! 2 Amelia pursed her lips and asked, "Why should we believe you, and just based on this five million, no less? If you run away once you get the money, won't we be fools? Knowing you, I feel that this is something you'd do!"

Tiffany's eyes glinted impatiently, yet she remained stoic. "Alright, then."

She took out another check in her bag and wrote ten million onto it. "This is your deposit. Once everything is done, I'll pay you the rest. You've done nothing now, and I've already paid you fifteen million. Is this not sincere enough?"

The family of three exchanged glances and decided she was sincere enough.

Tiffany took out a USB from her bag. She looked around coldly and said cautiously, "Connect this USB to the computer of the finance department. I'll be able to hack into the system and transfer the money out."

All of a sudden, they heard footsteps coming from inside the mansion. Her expression changed as she reminded, "Wait for me to get in touch."

With that, she put on her sunglasses and sunhat before leaving coldly. 1 After they shut the door, the three of them looked at the small USB at hand and could barely register what just happened.

"This small thing will be able to transfer the money out from the company?"

questioned Lily.

Amelia smiled coldly. "Once we connect this to the finance computer, we'll have accomplished our task. No matter if she succeeds or not, we must get the money."

Lily smiled. "Amelia, you're the best."

The both of them exchanged grins as Lily said, "Felix, you're the security guard, and they won't be suspicious of you. We'll leave you to this."

Felix held onto the USB tightly and looked at the two most important people in his life. His last hint of hesitation vanished as he spoke resolutely. "Okay."

He did not mind living the way he already did, but he would not let his wife and daughter suffer like this!

That night.

Tiffany, still wearing her sunglasses and hat, covered herself and successfully went into the hospital.

She arrived at Robert's ward where Robert laid in bed, still unconscious and showed no signs of waking up.

Tiffany made sure nobody was around before she took out a syringe from her bag and injected a substance into his body.

Following that, she packed up efficiently and stood by the bed. She looked at Robert, who was still unconscious.

"How are you going to thank me, Robert? You couldn't wake up because there's a sleeping pill in your body; only I knew this. Your birth sister knows medicines and has so much money, yet she never cured you! Heh! Only I treated you as my brother!"

Tiffany smiled proudly and patted his face. "When you wake up, go and reunite with your so-called family!"

Tiffany thought of something, and there was an evil look in her eyes. She pushed down her hat and turned to leave.

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 1874-The next day, at the Bailey mansion...

Charmine slept alone on the spacious double bed.

The birds outside the window chirped to a melodious song, while the warm sunlight shone past the tree branches and the window.

Charmine laid in bed with her blanket below her shoulder, exposing her beautiful and sexy collarbone. She turned in bed comfortably, naturally turning to her right ...but it was empty.

Charmine opened her eyes abruptly and noticed that Anthony was not next to her at all.

She then vaguely remembered that Anthony seemed to have woken up very early and went to his company.

Charmine felt rather...disappointed.

After their wedding, they only managed to go back to the Jordan mansion yesterday. They had not even had time to have their honeymoon.

Either one of them was always busy.

Nonetheless, Charmine took a deep breath and woke up to wash up. She then got changed and was ready to go downstairs when the bedroom door opened abruptly.

Charmine turned and saw Anthony.

She halted for a second before asking, "Didn't you go to work?" "Hmm? Who said that?"

With a plate of watermelon slices at hand, Anthony shut the door and went inside, and Charmine's initially disappointed heart tingled.

She had guessed wrong, after all.

Anthony placed the plate of watermelons on the table and said, "Come and try these fresh watermelons, dearest." "Okay." Charmine walked over.

Anthony brought out a fruit knife and cut off the upper-half of one watermelon slice before bringing it to her lips, urging, "Try it."

Charmine took a bite. "It's very sweet," she remarked.

Noticing how much Charmine enjoyed the taste, Anthony smiled gently and took some to start eating.

What Charmine did not notice was that before she even finished her bite, Anthony had cut out another quarter of the watermelon slice for her.

She smiled and accepted them.

Anthony then ate the remaining slice with the sweetest tip cut out.

Charmine sat before the table, and only then did she notice that Anthony, right in front of her, merely ate the remaining part of the slice.

She felt incredibly appreciated.

Although this was only a watermelon, she could strongly feel how much he loved and cared for her.

He always gave her the best, regardless of how grand or small the matter was.

Charmine looked at his elegant face and thought of something. She put down the watermelon at hand and rounded the table, walking toward Anthony.

Thinking she had finished her part of the watermelon, Anthony picked up the knife, ready to cut her another bite when...

A pair of fair hands reached out and took the knife away from him.

Anthony looked up at Charmine, who sat on his lap, her red lips curling into a smile. "I don't want to eat watermelon now, darling," she spoke coquettishly.

Anthony reached out to hug her waist. His eyes darkened as he fixed his eyes on her. "What would you like to eat, then?" he asked hoarsely.

"You..." teased Charmine as she lifted his face by the chin and lowered her head to kiss his inviting lips, i Anthony's body stiffened at this, not once expecting for Charmine to take the initiative and surprise him.

He felt her lips and held her tighter in his arms, regaining the reins.

Embracing her tightly, he lifted her and walked toward the bed. "My darling, you promised me a second child..."

Charmine winked at him flirtatiously. She did not resist and nodded shyly.

Anthony hastened upon seeing her reaction. Having carried her to the bed, he gently placed her down.

Meanwhile...

The bedroom door suddenly opened, yet the two of them were too into their passion they did not notice it.

“Mom...my...”

Chris stood outside the door, petrified before he could even finish his sentence.

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 1875-The expression on Chris’ cool, small face shifted from glee into disappointment upon hearing his Mommy asking his Daddy for a second child.

Did they not want him anymore?

Why did they leave him in the village for a few days, then? Why did Charmine and Anthony not even call him and ask about him? i They seemed to have forgotten about his existence while he was gone!

That douche of a father had corrupted his Mommy!

Still...

Despite this heartache of his, Chris was nonetheless content. His Daddy and Mommy were finally together and blissful at that.

He no longer had to worry about them.

Thinking everything through, Chris grabbed onto the door handle with his small hand and closed the door before he turned to leave.

He would find Chloe, then, and these two could come find him when they finally remembered him! 1
Hmph!

The door was opened and shut, but Anthony and Charmine, still inside the room, did not notice this at all.

Charmine sat on top of Anthony, her fair hands unbuttoning the crystal buttons on his shirt.

Anthony looked at the woman on top of him. He would be lying if he said he did not want to continue this; he had been holding himself back after all.

Still, he...

He recalled how Charmine was still troubled by the harrowing incident from five years ago. The words she had hissed to him before-“I’ll kill you”— struck him like a wake-up call, and struck his heart fiercely.

With that in mind, the lust in his eyes vanished, and he looked at Charmine coldly.

“Dearest...” he uttered, voice hoarse and evidently repressing his lust.

Charmine’s heart fluttered upon hearing Anthony’s sensual voice, and she lowered her head, whispering to his lips, “Yes?” Her voice was just as equally lust-filled and hoarse.

Anthony clenched his fists and gulped. He tried his best to keep calm as he blurted, "I didn't prepare that thing..." "Don't you want a second child? We don't need it." Charmine continued to kiss him, her hand not once stopping to unbutton his shirt.

Anthony noticed the passion in her expression and knew they would consummate their marriage if he did not stop her. His lips pressed into a tight line, he grabbed her small hand and stopped her, much to her surprise. Charmine frowned and turned her gaze to meet his. Her flirtatious expression watered down as she asked, Anthony, what are you doing?"

This was not the first time this had happened. Why did he have to stop every time things escalated to this stage?

She could clearly feel his desires!

Charmine remained on his lap yet seemingly towered over him, demanding coldly, "Explain." The expression on Charmine's face showed just how much she would insist if he did not give her a reasonable excuse.

Anthony scrambled to find a plausible explanation. How could he explain?

Would he have to tell her that he was the man she slept with five years ago?

She would kill him, right then and there!

Anthony thought of the look on her face, and his heart skipped a beat.

He pursed his lips and said, "My darling, if we want a second child, we'll have to ask Chris. If he doesn't like the idea, I'm worried that he might overthink when we tell her that we're expecting. He might think that we don't like him anymore when we want to have another child..." Charmine frowned. "Is your excuse even plausible, Anthony? Momo has been asking us for a sister. Why would he be troubled?"

Anthony said with a straight face, "When I told him about this, he seemed quite disappointed. Perhaps he didn't want you to feel bad, and so he said he wanted a sister."

Charmine frowned.

Was that...the truth?

It did make sense, however. If they told Chris out of the blue that she was expecting, he might overthink and get upset. He might think that they no longer cared for him.

They would make a decision only after asking for Chris' opinion, then.

However...

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 1876-Charmine looked at Anthony, clear-eyed. "In that case, look for the condom!

Anthony reached out to caress her face and helplessly explained, his tone emotional and regretful, "We don't have this at home yet."

As he gazed into Charmine's doubt-filled eyes, he assured her resolutely, "My darling, as you know, I've never messed around. It's normal that I don't have them at home." 1 Charmine's expression eased at that.

Anthony had a point. If she found a box of condoms in his drawer, she would lose her mind!

She arched her eyebrows and got off of him. "So we'll continue at night?" she asked.

"Of course..." Anthony got up and hugged her from behind. He leaned on her shoulder and said gently, "I'm a normal and healthy man. Why would I not want it?"

Charmine believed him then, but just as she was about to say something else, knocks were heard on their door...as Grandma Bailey's voice was heard from outside.

"Charmine, are you awake yet?" "I am," replied Charmine. "Please wait for a while, Grandma."

Charmine got off the bed quickly and fixed her messy hair, while Anthony began to button up his shirt.

When Anthony saw Charmine getting up to open the door, he let out a sigh of relief. 1 He managed to evade it this time around. 2 "Good morning, Grandma," greeted Charmine when she opened the door.

"Good morning." Grandma Bailey saw the blush lingering on Charmine's face and was delighted.

The two of them were? No, she came at the wrong time. Wrong time! She would not have disturbed them if she knew!

Anthony got out of the room and went to Charmine's side. He pulled her into a hug naturally and said, "What do you need, Grandma?"

Grandma Bailey was still furious at herself for disturbing them.

Nonetheless, she explained, albeit helplessly so, "The Houstons are hosting a small dinner party tonight, and they invited us over for a meal. The Bailey and Houston families have been friends for centuries, and now that you've just gotten married, you should go and have a meal with them. This is to introduce Charmine to the Houstons."

Charmine frowned at this, instantly recalling the arrogant McKenzie upon hearing the Houston family's name.

Anthony noticed Charmine's expression and seemed to have thought of something. "Grandma, can we not go?" reasoned Anthony.

"No." Grandma Bailey then said, "The Houstons have invited all of us. They even said that you and Charmine must be there. If you don't show up, they'll get offended."

Anthony had more to say, but Charmine spoke before he could. "Alright, Grandma. We'll go." "Alright, then." Grandma Bailey looked at Charmine and smiled. "You're indeed my understanding granddaughter-in-law."

Charmine smiled weakly. "You don't have to praise me all the time, Grandma.

This is the right thing to do." "Well, you are very kind," said Grandma Bailey, "so you should be praised."

With that said, she looked at Anthony. "Anthony, do you listen to Charmine all the time? You mustn't hurt her." 1 Anthony looked at Charmine and replied affectionately, "Don't worry about that.

Do I need you to remind me?"

Grandma Bailey had a pleased look as she said, "Alright. Get ready, then."

"Okay."

Grandma Bailey nodded and pushed the two of them inside. "Go back and continue what you were doing."

With that said, she left with a grin. 1 Anthony and Charmine exchanged glances, and it took a while for them to react.

Charmine had a blush on her fair face. She shot Anthony a look before going inside.

Anthony shut the door and chased after her, grabbing her by the waist as he spoke, "My darling, Grandma asked us to continue what we were doing..."

Charmine remained calm as she looked at him. "At night."

She was no longer in the mood.

Anthony's lips curved into a gentle smile as he patted her head. "I'll listen to my wife."

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 1877-Author then leaned closer to Charmine's ear and said, "I'll obey whatever position you want, dearest."

To this, Charmine became tongue-tied.

After lunch that afternoon, a few luxury cars were ready outside the Bailey mansion, and the Baileys were ready to visit the Houstons.

Charmine had changed into a dark-red ankle-length dress. With her hair put up, she looked stunning and sexy.

She took up her bag and hooked her arm around Anthony's. She was ready to leave when the phone in her bag rang abruptly.

Charmine fished out her phone and noticed that the caller was Senior Jordan.

She accepted the call and greeted, "Grandpa." "Charmine," Senior Jordan's weary voice was heard from the other end of the call, "Robert woke up."

"What!?" Charmine felt electrified. "Where's he now?"

It was Tiffany who had drugged Robert a few months ago. The doctors said that he should have woken up earlier, but he remained in a coma while they could not even identify the cause.

Today, however, he had woken up.

"We've brought him home. Come home and have a look at yourself," said Senior Jordan.

Charmine looked up at Anthony, a frown adorning her face, but she nodded a little while later. "Okay, I'll come now."

When she hung up, Anthony asked, "Why do you seem so excited, dearest?"

Charmine held onto his arm and said happily, "Grandpa said that Robert has woken up. He's home now!"

Anthony, seeing how happy Charmine was, was just as happy. "I'm glad that he's awake now." Charmine pursed her lips and said, "I want to go home and visit him. I can't come to the Houston mansion. Help me tell Grandma about this."

Anthony nodded and raised an eyebrow at her. "My darling, are you not worried about McKenzie clinging onto me?"

Charmine looked at him, and her red lips curled into a smile. "I trust my choice of husband and his personality." i Charmine's words made Anthony's heart flutter.

He thought for a moment before he offered, "Why don't I go with you?" "No need," said Charmine, "they insisted you go. Furthermore, if you go back with me, they might think that I'm controlling my husband."

Anthony grinned. "I don't mind being controlled. It'll be my honor." "But I do. I don't want others to call me a jealous wife!" insisted Charmine and fixed his tie.

"Go on, and I'll go and visit my brother. We'll reunite. Don't let Grandma wait for too long."

Anthony was helpless, and he could only reach out to smooth her hair. "Do take care. Call me if anything comes up." "Alright." Charmine smiled. "Go on."

Anthony lowered his head to kiss her seemingly glistening forehead. He then turned and headed down.

Charmine, meanwhile, went back to the room and got changed before she left for the Jordan mansion.

Upon arriving at the Jordan mansion, she walked into a seemingly lively room.

She pushed the door open and saw a group of people surrounding Robert, all of them conveying their best wishes.

Senior Jordan had tears in his eyes, evidently relieved and gladdened." Robert, you have no idea how long I've waited for this day. I used to be strict on you and didn't allow you to play online games. I've thought it all through, however, and you can do and pursue whatever your heart desires!"

Robert, surrounded by the people, seemed to be more mature as contrast to his youthful expression.

"Thank you, Grandpa," said Robert. "Sorry to have worried you."

Meanwhile, footsteps were heard, and the Jordans turned to see Charmine walking in.

Seeing her at last, Robert recalled what happened before his coma, and he seemed visibly conflicted.

He stood up and pursed his lips, calling out to Charmine, "Sister."

Everyone was taken aback by this.

What was that...?

Robert never liked Charmine, and all of a sudden, he called her 'sister'? Had he finally matured after surviving his coma?

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 1878-Robert noticed how everyone looked bewildered, but he ignored them and poured tea for Charmine.

His clear eyes were filled with gratitude and respect.

He used to dislike Charmine and thought of her as useless and emotionless. He even thought that Tiffany genuinely cared for him with how she treated him and spoiled him.

However, after what happened and how Charmine saved him from Uji Quin, he understood which sister was worthy of his admiration, 1 His mind could clearly recall how Charmine protected him and helped him out of the ordeal.

Charmine walked toward and sat down, asking, "Are you hurting anywhere?"

"No." Robert sat with her on the sofa and turned to look at her. After a moment, he said with a serious tone, "Thank you for saving me, sis; I'm indebted to you.

If you ever need anything in the future, I'll be there."

Charmine met his gaze and noted the shine in his pupils, smiling in satisfaction at the sight.

Robert had changed.

He used to be unruly and arrogant, but at this moment, his eyes were clear and grateful. It seemed that he had matured, after all.

She smiled pleasantly. "Alright, then, strive to recover. I hope that you will hold that promise of yours true someday." Robert beamed like sunshine and had a determined smile on his face." Okay!"

Based on what she said, he would work hard to become the brother she wanted him to be!

When the family saw how Charmine and Robert had reconciled and their improved relationship, they exchanged looks and were all perplexed.

Senior Jordan, meanwhile, practically beamed at the sight.

When Joey saw how both her children were successful and mature, she was filled with gratitude.

so happy at the sight of this that he might not sleep all night.

During the meal, Charmine sat beside Senior Jordan. She looked over the people on the seats and noticed...

Felix, missing?

Senior Jordan noticed the suspicion in her eyes and explained, "Your Uncle is working a shift tonight. He's not coming back for dinner."

Charmine nodded at this response, yet her gaze then shifted toward Lily and Amelia, and they seemed to behave rather peculiarly.

She had put them on blast the other day, yet they seemed oddly calm today.

Not only did they have not a single word of spite for her, yet they even seemed to be...hiding something?

How strange...

Of course, she did not give this much thought. Perhaps Senior Jordan had overheard their entire exchange and sternly warned them, hammering the lesson into their heads.

Meanwhile, Lily felt uneasy under Charmine's doubtful gaze toward herself.

Charmine was incredibly sharp, after all, so could she have figured something out?

She quickly took out her phone and sent Felix a text. [Felix, send me a text once you've done it. Amelia and I will rush over.] Even after sending the text, however, she received not a single response from Felix, much to her restlessness.

Lily bit her lip.

Please be safe. Otherwise, the three of them were done for, and Charmine would hound after them for sure!

Lily thought for a moment and texted Tiffany.

[Felix is bringing the USB to the company. When can we get paid and fly?

Charmine is now suspicious, and we're getting more anxious just sitting here!] After sending the text, she turned her phone to silent mode.

A moment later...

The screen that blacked out lit up with Tiffany's response. [Already booked the flight for you. 10pm flight.] Tiffany brushed Lily off and smirked maliciously.

She then made a phone call. "They're eating now. Take action, and remember not to make any mistakes."

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 1879-Tiffany smirked cruelly after she left the message.

Those fools were like sitting ducks, waiting for their demise!

Back in the Jordan mansion, Lily sighed in relief upon reading Tiffany's reply.

She nonchalantly put down her phone and looked at Charmine coldly.

Heh. This was all Charmine's fault, all because of her arrogance!

Felix was also Senior Jordan's son, so how did Charmine deserve all the shares?

Lily had been thinking of a way to reap all the company's money, and this was their chance!

Charmine was the one at fault, and she asked for this!

Lily had a sneaky look in her eyes, she picked some vegetables for Amelia and exchanged a look with her.

Amelia instantly understood what she meant. Her lips curled up unnoticeably as she continued to enjoy the meal.

At the Jordan Group...

Felix successfully made his way into the finance department and managed to plug in the USB given by Tiffany onto the computer.

He looked around the empty room and let out a sigh of relief.

He had finished his task. After this, his family of three would live a happy, blissful life!

Felix thought about it happily and sent a text to Tiffany, [Mission accomplished.] Upon walking out of the company, he texted Lily, [It's done. Bring Amelia out.] Meanwhile, Tiffany, upon receiving Felix's text, smirked and began working on her laptop.

At the Jordan mansion...

Lily's heart leaped upon receiving Felix's text at last, and she could barely hide the evident glow in her eyes!

She began fantasizing about going overseas with a whole million bucks before- Charmine's phone on the table began blaring loudly like warning sirens, breaking the silence at the quiet dining table. 1 Everyone fixed their eyes on her phone.

She frowned and instantly picked it up when an automated voice began to repeatedly say...

"Funds being stolen. Funds being stolen!"

When Lily and Amelia heard this, they froze and dared not speak.

D*mn it! How could this be? 1 Could they still leave if Charmine got to the bottom of this?!

After Charmine had unlocked her phone, she checked the company's account and saw that all the cash, investments, and funds had been transferred out, leaving their account with a flat zero balance!

She frowned. Who had stolen Jordan Group's funds!?

Senior Jordan asked, "What's wrong, Charmine? What does it mean, funds being stolen?"

Charmine replied, "Someone has transferred the funds of the company out."

"What!?"

Lily reacted loudly, "How could this be? Who stole it?"

Everyone else widened their eyes, and they looked at Charmine with disbelief.

Senior Jordan's head buzzed at the news, yet he managed to order, "Hurry, call the police."

However, Charmine knew that the hackers were clever enough to break through her protection, and there was no use for the police. She instantly called Kay instead.

Right after that, however, her phone beeped and disconnected the call.

Frowning, she realized that her phone had lost its signal.

She turned to look at Robert. "Robert, give me your phone."

Robert handed her his phone.

However, his phone had no signal as well!

How oddly strange.

The loss of signal had never happened in the Jordan mansion. The only possibility left was that the signal had been intentionally cut off!

Nobody could contact them, and they could not reach out to anyone, too!

Warning: My Mommy Is A Savage By Seeking A Peaceful Chapter 1880-Charmine narrowed her eyes and looked at the people in front of them.

Recalling how Robert suddenly and miraculously awakened from his coma, she then realized something.

Someone had trapped them here.

Nonetheless, what was the point?

Charmine's head spun. If they wanted the company funds, they would have released them all by now, having gained every penny left in the company's bank.

She could not figure it out yet, but she had a vague inkling that they were all in danger. They had to leave, and fast.

Charmine looked up at Senior Jordan. "Grandpa, the Jordan mansion is dangerous right now. Everyone, get out! Do not stay in here!"

Everyone looked at her in shock.

Why was the Jordan mansion dangerous?

Robert stood up and stood the lead. He supported Senior Jordan and said, "Just trust her, Grandpa." "Okay." Senior Jordan still could not grasp what was happening, yet he trusted Charmine. He stood up and said, "Listen to Charmine.

Go out, now!" The Jordans placed down their cutleries and began to walk.

Lily pulled Amelia secretly and whispered, "This is probably a part of Tiffany's plan to divert their attention. When they're not noticing later, let's go and find your father!"

Amelia nodded.

Everyone rushed to the front yard with Charmine leading them, the first to reach out to the gates as well. Just as she reached out to the gates, however...

She felt electric currents rushing from her fingertips and throughout her body.

Her head buzzed as though electricity ran across her veins and skin.

Charmine quickly retrieved her hand, and looking at how numb her arm was, she knew something terrible had been set.

"What's wrong, Charmine?" asked Senior Jordan.

"There's active electricity running throughout the gates, and we can't get out," declared Charmine seriously.

Although the electric current would not kill them, it might incapacitate their mental stability.

Senior Jordan's aged face was riddled with worry, still. "Who hated us so much that they'd plot this against us?" he asked in utter disbelief.

When Lily and Amelia heard this, they panicked.

Now that they could not get hold of Felix, if they could not get out, how would they get the money and get out of the country?

She glared at the metal gate and said with disbelief, "Do you have conductors on your clothes?"

Charmine looked at her coldly, and her red lips twisted into a smirk. "You can try." "So what if I try!" Lily walked toward the door.

Joey held her back. "Lily, don't be irrational. Charmine won't harm us." All Lily wanted was to get out and get her money to leave the country. She did not care about these relatives she considered repulsive. Unbothered, she swung Joey's hand away and barked, "Who knows what you and your daughter are up to! The money was fine all these years, and all of a sudden, they're stolen. Nobody knows if you two plotted this. If you don't let us leave now, that means you're not allowing us to call the police!"

Joey staggered backward due to the force of Lily's swing, but Robert caught her just in time. "Leave her be, Mom."

Senior Jordan's face was heavy as he knocked his walker against the ground heavily. "Lily, do you have to be so rude?"

Lily scoffed. "Dad, I'm not being rude! I did this for your own sake; I don't want your money to get stolen! I will go out now and call the police!"

With that said, she held Amelia's hand and walked toward the door.

She refused to believe she could not get out. It was just an electrical surge, and she could take it. She would not die!

As long as she got out, she could leave this disgusting place forever!

Charmine, meanwhile, no longer bothered with Lily attempting to leave.

At this rate, the entire family would die here with them!

Charmine looked around as she tried to look for a way out when the breeze blew...

She could make out the smell of natural gas.
