Chapter 678: BLACK RAIN AND DARK SKY (20)

At first, Zale was having a hard time to breath and Zephyr was the first person, who noticed that. It was easy to say when the boy used to be very energetic and snarky, but right now he looked like a headless chicken.

"Come, you need to see the Serafim." Zephyr dragged the young boy to see Abby. He had been sleeping for half a day and didn't come to the dinning hall for breakfast.

Because of the newly revelation about the black rain and under the Serafim's instruction, all the training was stopped and as much as possible, they couldn't expose themselves under the rain. People expected to be inside their house when it was rain.

The ships from the Karam continent wouldn't be here until next months and thankfully, they could hide the fact the four merchants were already dead and kept the news from spreading out was not that difficult when there were so many things that was going on. They would deal with that issue later.

"No. I want to wait for the luna to come, she will be able to heal me faster than the Serafim." Zale tried to struggle and ask Zephyr to put him down, but the warrior carried him with one hand around his waist, rendering him unable to fight back. He didn't have the strength to do so after all. "She healed Joel, I want her to heal me too!"

Zale frowned and when he followed Zephyr's line of sight, he saw the Serafim, but he didn't feel any guilt at all. He stared at her defiantly.

And what made things even worse for Abby was the fact, Iris's power was way purer than hers. How could that possible to happen? She avoided to meet with Iris, because she didn't want to look into it more deeply and accepted the undeniable truth that she was more powerful than her. ²

If she had to face it, it felt like a final statement for Abby that she was a failure of a Serafim and maybe there was an error when they recognized her as one, that was why, she was not as strong as the previous Serafim. Albeit people in the Holy Kingdom used to say it was because she couldn't visit the five swords in the Great Shrine to purify herself, which caused the decline of her power. ¹

"Ouch! What are you doing?! You are hurting me!" Zale exclaimed, which rewarded him a fierce glare from Zephyr, but he didn't care. "No. I don't want to be treated by her. I want to wait for my luna!"

Abby knew, this was not the right thing to do and as a Serafim, a symbol of peace and virtue, she shouldn't act like this, but she was someone with feeling too and she had been very insecure with what Iris could do.

"Lady Cyan, I don't think this is the right thing to do." Alpha Gallot gritted his teeth. He threw a dagger look at Redmond, who had suggested this to her.

"Lady Cyan! You make a mistake!" Alpha Gallot roared, but he couldn't really do anything to stop her. "There is another way to force him."

"Is there another plan you can suggest?" Redmond asked alpha Gallot disdainfully. "I have taken the pain to lure him here and now this is our golden opportunity to kill him, no, to force him to show his lycan form. He must be dying now because Aria has stabbed him, that's why he can't go out of the Black Market to save himself and still hiding inside the Rosantine Guild. This is the best chance we have! "Are you holding a grudge against me?!" alpha Gallot was desperate to stop this calamity, since he was the one, who would deal with the aftermath. Put aside the grudge and the power struggle, the Black Market was the main income for his pack! "I want him dead too, but not like this!"

"I have sent a letter to the knights in the Crystal Moon pack, they are on their way here and I have mobilized the magic users to help to defend the fortress too, do you think it will help?"

Abby was not clueless, the moment she learned they were under attack, she had arranged her people and distributed the task.

Thankfully, she had the Salamander with her, because when Iris left, the creature looked for her, even though it was a little bit out of context, but Abby felt hurt because the creature only came to her when it couldn't find Iris, as if she was a second option when the salamander supposed to be the Serafim's mythical creature. ¹

"Oh, great...!" Aliana said, she was amazed by how quick Abby read the situation and took action. "But, we still need to take precaution, just in case..."

"I will have my knights to help with the evacuation of the patients." Abby then ordered one of her knights to relay her words.

"You still can't stay here, Serafim," Liam said. "We will do what you told us to do, but we need to evacuate you first," he said firmly.

"No. I stay with the people!" Abby was adamant. "Now, rather than to persuade me, why don't you help with the patient?"

"We need to move quickly," Aliana said and Abby took her hand to get out of the tent, so her knights wouldn't be able to coax her to leave these people behind.

However, right in front of the tent, Zale approached Abby, his expression was stern, he looked very pale, as if he was going to collapse in any moment.

Abby pressed her lips tightly. "I thought you will wait for your luna.." 13

Chapter 680: BLACK RAIN AND DARK SKY (22)

It was hard for someone as stubborn as Zale to come to the Serafim, which promptly admitted his wrong. He realized his error for how wrong it was for him to refuse to be treated by the Serafim. Joel and Zephyr were on his ears in these few days, scolding him about how that was not the right way to show his loyalty to the luna.

Yet, Zale was too stubborn to admit it until now.

"I thought you will wait for your luna." Once the words left Abby's lips, she really wanted to take it back, knowing how wrong it was to say something like that to the boy. As a Serafim, she shouldn't be holding a grudge, especially to someone, who was almost half of her age.

However, Abby couldn't help, but being offended to become a second thought. If they were not going to have a battle and if he could hold it a little bit longer, she was sure Zale wouldn't come to look for her.

"She is far away right now and I want to be able to help. I can't help, if I am sick," Zale said, his voice was hoarse and his breathing was labored.

You could say it was a miracle for him to be able to stand and talk with Serafim, instead of being bedridden, knowing how late his treatment was.

Deep down, even without the way Zale put her as the second choice, Abby had been bothered by the power that Iris held. There was no way there was two Serafims, right? But, what she felt from her was... divine power, there was no doubt for that fact.

After saying that, Abby walked away with Aliana. There were a lot of things they needed to do now they could hear the commotion from the warriors and the knights, as they were trying to hold back the attack.

They were currently on their way to Arleen city. The four of them were inside a big carriage, leading countless carriages behind him, fleeing from the Black Market from a secret exit in the Rosantine Guild, because lady Cyan ran rampant in there with his dark magic users, destroyed the whole Black Market in order to look for Cane after alpha Gallot's failed attempt to get him.

Chapter 681: BLACK RAIN AND DARK SKY (23)

"I am strong enough, so stop treating me like I am not!" Abby was offended by what Cedric said. She didn't need to be reminded of how weak she was, she was hearing enough people talking about that. 1

"Serafim..." Cedric wanted to stop her, yet Abby could be stubborn when she wanted something to be done. She had this bad habit of trying to prove herself, how she wanted to be useful in her wish to fulfill her role as the Serafim.

"Stay close with me," Abby said. Currently, Cedric was the only Holy Knights with her, while the other was assigned to do different task, especially Liam.
Abby needed him to be away from her, because if this was Cedric's reaction, she couldn't imagine what Liam would do to stop what she was going to do.

Cedric could feel the current air became a little bit dense and heavy, but at the same time, it invigorated your energy, as if your exhaustion and your fear was being washed away.

Cedric watched how Abby summoned the Sylphs.

omendmus ofr ptree.nc

In the past, Abby learned how to summon the sylph from the previous Serafim, where the knowledge was passing down to the next generation, but due to her weak constitution, she only managed to fully summon the spirit air twice and it drained her energy each time.

The appearance of the Sylph could be said as a beautiful sight to behold. The current air swirled around Abby and bright light emanated from her body, which made her glowed under this dark sky and attracted people's attention to her.

The Bloody Wolf pack's member fell on their knees as they worshipped the Serafim before them, since in their eyes, she looked like a Goddess at this moment. They didn't have any idea what Abby was going to do, but they believed, she was going to release her power.

For people, who was not exposed to magic as much in their entire life, what Abby was doing was very fascinating. It was amazing to witness such magic, especially when they could feel their energy returned, the pain they felt disappeared and for some reason, they were at peace.

On the other hand, the expectation in these people's eyes forced Abby to go through and endure the pain, as the flow of her energy were disrupted, it was not stable because she had lost so much, as she had treated a few children from the illnesses before.

However, no matter what, Abby didn't want to disappoint them. She rather liked it when people put their hope on her and believed she could do something wonderful and right now that was what she got from the member of the Bloody Wolf pack.

the two of them managed to defend the place from Golden Light warriors' attack.

"Why aren't you?" Iris asked. "How long have you been up?" She wasn't sure how long it had been, but she knew it was a long time. "I don't know," she said. "I just woke up."

"We will not stop until we reached the Golden Light pack and met with alpha Colter," Dean explained, which made all the sleepiness that Iris felt vanish, she frowned so hard.

"What about those children? They are walking on feet, following us! How long it will take for us to reach Golden Light pack?" Iris straightened her back, she felt horrified by what Dean said.

"In his pace, we will catch up to the Golden Light pack, right?"

"And those children will walk for three days straight without rest?!" Iris stared at Pax in disbelief. "And you will not say anything about it?!"

Dean and Pax lowered their head.

"Is there anything we can do?" All of the men raised their eyebrows. "I don't know," Dean said. "I just woke up."

Not to mention about how they were outnumbered, these men were not their people and the two of them wouldn't be able to change anything. Their protest would fall into deaf ears with no chance to fight them.

However, Iris was not satisfied with that statement.

"What's the deal?" Iris asked, she stepped toward the chaos, then she saw the bald man standing at her. "I don't know," he said. "I just woke up."

"What is it? You need to pee?"

Iris pressed down her embarrassment when she heard that. "We need to take rest, or else those children will not be able to catch up, they must be very tired!"

"If they are tired, then we need to rest, right?" "I don't know," he said. "I just woke up."

"Yeah, the rogue can deal with them."

Shocked, the bald man stopped the carriage and completely turned his body to face Iris. He had every intention to scold her for screaming at him like that, but the look on Iris's face must have forced him to swallow back all the protest he was going to spit it out.

Dean and Pax had their head hung so low, Iris might not notice this, but she used her luna voice in full force, until it hurt the two of them. It almost felt like they were in the presence of their angry alpha, too scare to even make a noise, even the two men clamped their mouth and lowered their head, didn't dare to look directly into those blazing blue eyes that filled with anger. ⁴

"We need to take some rest," Iris said, she walked toward the back of the entourage. While her carriage was in the front row, the children were walking at the last row, while in the middle it was a lot of carriage contained with so many precious items belonged to Rosantine Guild. "The children need to rest."

"They can stop walking if they don't want to follow us!" the man grumbled loudly, irritated with what Iris decided on her own. "Go back to your carriage!"

Chapter 682: BLACK RAIN AND DARK SKY (24)

Chained. The reason why these children were not be able to walk faster was because their feet and hands were chained. 1

Iris couldn't see it from afar, because the chain was very thin, but it was very tight, it bit against their skin. More so, with this dark sky, it was hard to see.

From closer look, you would be able to tell that the length of the chain between their ankles were enough for them to take a small step, while their hands were tied together. 1

"Don't you dare to do that again!" Iris shouted at the man, who was ready to lash the child again, so he would keep walking. The child must be not older than nine years old and he curled his body on the ground, very exhausted to walk and cry.

"Bring me water," Iris said, her voice was eerily calm, but tears blurred her vision, she was trying her hardest not to cry and have a meltdown. The sight of this poor little boy set turmoil in her heart. Her emotions were very overwhelming.

Dean immediately fetch a waterskin for Iris, where she cradled the little boy in her arms, kneeling down, she couldn't care less how the dusty ground ruined her dress, or how the filthy boy would dirty her.

were so dry and dirty. 5

"Oh..." That little girl raised her hands even more and wanted to catch another

Iris watched what they did to the children with anger in her eyes, but she

Abby was having a hard time to preserve the existence of the air spirit, where she could feel her energy was depleted very quickly. She was kneeling down on the ground, trying to control her breathing, while Cedric kept telling her to let go of the Sylph, but she couldn't do that.

The magic users from the Holy Kingdom managed to strengthen the barrier of protection around them, it shaped of a huge dome, where it prevented the black rain to cascade down and cause the children be in more pain, or inflicted more illness on people.

of the generations of Serafim's lifetime.

There was no doubt in that, the knowledge had been drilled into Abby ever since she was a child and the Holy Kingdom discovered her as the next generation of the Serafim, as the previous one was already very old to carry out her duty as the Serafim.

However, at the same time too, Abby had to watch the disappointment in their expression every time she didn't meet their high expectation. Those eyes were scary. She felt very alone and lonely when in actuality, she was surrounded by so many people and they barely left her alone. They got her everything that they thought she wanted and needed. 1

"Sylph..." Abby stretched out her hand and the spirit held it, the air spirit blinked her eyes.

However, like most human, they had the tendency to fear what they didn't know and they were the same. They were afraid of what else Iris could do. Added that to the fact, they had this special order from their master to pay close attention to this luna. Lou said it himself if she was hurt or he found any scratch on her body, he would maim them. 1 provoked and they failed to do what they had been told.

With that answer, they knew how their former value is now highly, rather, of the value they had gained them here is something, which as we have seen is not what they wanted.

"Why can't? You said it yourself that they will not run away and even if they did, you will not care." Iris looked very fierce and Della was stunned to see this side of her. In the past, they didn't meet very often, but in one look, she could see how timid she was, a little girl who used to cower behind the alpha.

Yet, looked at her now. Who would have thought, she could stand confidently against so many men, whose body was twice hers with scary look on their faces, but Iris didn't back down at all and in a matter of fact, it was them, who seemingly afraid of her, especially after what she could do.

And she was, never had she as a title as she could not be sure of her.

"Do it now!" Iris growled impatiently, because they didn't start to move. 2

Hearing that, Dean and Pax took the initiative to free the children to them and only then, one or two of Lou's men followed, and in the end, all of them did what Iris told them to do, until all of the chain had been broken and the children were free.

Give me a word, Iris said and she heard the words were not to be delayed. It saw that she could move on a derelict and she would.

"Thank you," the boy said in small voice. He looked better after Iris healed him, so did the rest of the children.

"I am glad if you feel better." Iris caressed his cheek and the boy lowered his head timidly.

She checked on all of them and she was happy to see.

With that, Iris requested for them to stop every three hours to rest for fifteen minutes and then they would stop for an hour to eat. At night, they would also stop, so the children could sleep. They would not travel all the way to the Golden Light pack without stopping at all and killed all of the children in the process.

"I wonder if we ever reach the Golden Light pack."

"At this rate, we will be able to catch up with us soon."

"I don't think I have done enough," Iris replied softly, she touched her stomach and felt her heart warmed up when she felt her bump.

The moment the sylph disappeared because Abby couldn't sustain her existence, the barrier of protection grew weak. All the Holy Knights drew their swords and fought the beasts, while the magic users fought with their magic, but there was a limit for them, because without the sylph, they needed to use their magic stone wisely, or else, they would only be a cannon fodder in this battle.

Chapter 684: BLACK RAIN AND DARK SKY (26)

Once the protection was disappeared, all hell broke loose. The warriors and the Holy Knights, along with the magic users fought against the royal warriors, they were outnumbered because they lost so many warriors during their time in the border of Diandem pack.

the magic stones. They were rather useless without it.

If this kept happening and they couldn't hold back their ground, it was only a matter of time they caught up with all the pack member, who fled from the pack, while the reinforcement had not yet to be seen.

"Knights! Stand your ground!" Cedric roared, as he led all the Holy Knights and secured the escape path for the magic users, as they couldn't be any help in this battle anymore. "Hold your ground!"

The shifters were in front of them, while they took care the beasts, who managed to go past them.

On the other hand, it was Arthur, who led the warriors, as he penetrated deep into the defense of the royal warriors with Mal in their beast form.

It was Kellan. The crippled prince, the former crown prince, who supposed to be not be able to walk again, let alone to be on the horseback and from the look of it, he could move his legs just fine.

Not only because there were so many children, who were sick and had to be carried by their parents in their human form or by the knights, but also because of the terrain was very slippery, since the rain poured down relentlessly.

Haco stared at her small hand for a while, before he held it and both of them walked like that, which made Joel and Aliana fell so far behind from the other, because Celia didn't want to let go of Haco's hand and the old sorcerer walked too slow.

At that moment, three beasts managed to go through their defense and caught up with them.

"No!" Joel watched in horror when Aliana fought against the three beasts, but two of them managed to preoccupy her and the third beast rushed toward Joel.

Yet, the ground kept shaking as the battle grew fiercer. Zephyr and the other could feel how the ground became unsteady, but they couldn't shake off their opponents and had to hold them back there. 1

However, they lost their balance when the ground where they were standing collapsed, it was a landslide and all of them fell from there, including Aliana, Haco and Celia.

Their jaw dropped to see the ground disappeared, creating chasm between them and the battle behind. It meant... they were safe for now. They could escape from the royal warriors and being slaughtered.

The landslide was pretty horrible, it went so steep and with the rain kept pouring down, the ground wouldn't be stable, there might be a high chance another landslide would happen again, knowing there were so many people in one spot at this time.

"It will be very dangerous," Eron said, as he tried to look down into the bottom of the chasm, which looked like it was bottomless.

"I don't think anyone will be able to survive this fall..." One of the warriors said, he was from the Riverside pack.

"It will waste our time to look for them." The other warrior from the same pack agreed with his fellow pack member and their comment got an angry glare from Dyne, Eron and Otis. 2

"There are our friends down there and I don't want to hear that kind of shit again!" Eron growled at the two of them viciously.

"If you don't want to come with us, you can leave!" Dyne snarled at them.

But in the end, the two warriors from the Riverside pack decided to come down with them for the rescue, if there was still anyone, who was able to be saved...

They were fine, the only thing they needed to do was to find them right away. They would be fine. They were shifters after all, they could heal...

That was what they kept saying to themselves when they shifted into their beasts and went down to look for them.

Countless people died, some of them, who managed to survive the attack were now being held as as hostage, the Black Market was no more, as the place had been razed to the ground.

Alpha Gallot fell on his knees to watch how lady Cyan and her black magic users ruined the highest profit in his pack. The Black Market was literally the Moon Dew pack's pocket money, but now it had vanished, because of what? A single alpha?

Aria was among the black magic users, who inspected the people that survived from the Black Market, she was looking for Cane. 1 in there?!" She pointed the remaining of the Black Market.

"There is no way Cane will stay inside there, he knew he will die if he stayed. He must be among these people, or maybe he managed to escape." Redmond lifted his head haughtily. "You were given a thousand warriors from the Moon Dew pack to do this job, you were the one, who were in charge to make sure to capture all the people, who tried to escape, how can you miss that jerk?"

Aria was seeing red, she gritted her teeth. "If Cane managed to escape, we should slaughter all of these warriors too because they couldn't do their job correctly." 3

Hearing that, alpha Gallot rose to his feet. "What did you say?! I dare you to say it again?!" He just lost his pocket money and this corpse was talking about killing his men?! The audacity of this woman! Maybe he could kill her for good now! 2

"Enough!" Lady Cyan roared, she was furious. "Look for him!" She fixed her eyes on alpha Gallot. "Bring your warrior to scour this area! If he managed to escape, he will not be too far!"

"There is no way he managed to escape when we guarded tightly the only exit of the Black Market?!" Aria shouted at lady Cyan, she couldn't care less about this woman. She couldn't kill her after all, or else, she would upset her brother. Not to mention, Dexter would bring her to live again, which was a waste of effort in lady Cyan's part. "What if he died!?"

"If he died, I am going to kill you!" Aria snarled at Redmond, who looked very calm, bored even. "I will make sure to shred your body and give your flesh to the dog, including your son and that woman."

Redmond shrugged. "Do it then. Do you think I care?" he smirked tauntingly. "Next time, threaten me with something that I truly give a shit."

Eron and the other didn't know how long they had gone down and how many hours had passed, but once they touched the bottom of it, they could no longer hear the sound of the battle from above. It was very deep, deeper than they thought.

could hear him, yet this time, no one talked anything.

As soon as they saw the terrain and how bad it was, they knew it was a waste of time. It was their impulsiveness to save their fellow pack member that made Eron and the other made this reckless decision.

All of them shifted into their beast again, sniffing the air and sharpened their hearing, trying to catch any sound that indicated their effort wouldn't go to waste.

The five of them used the luminous pearls to illuminate the area, this was pit dark, the light from the pearls, could only brighten short area.

They took turn to shift between their human form and then their beast form to communicate, since they couldn't use mind link, especially for the Howling Wolf pack warriors, since the link had been broken years ago.

"Here! I found someone here!" Eron exclaimed, as he saw a leg from under the rubbles of rocks.

"Who is that?" Otis asked the most critical question. "Who do you think is that?"

Chapter 686: BLACK RAIN AND DARK SKY (28)

They were scared to guess, who might be under the rubbles of the rocks.
