

Chapter 7208

At this point, Brovnen sneered again and continued,

"Of course, I also have to thank you for all of this."

"Because it's all thanks to you!"

Charlie's expression immediately turned extremely ugly.

Although he didn't know what the Ascension Gate was,

Seeing Brovnen's excited and arrogant demeanor,

He knew it must be something extraordinary.

So, he had inadvertently helped Brovnen find this unparalleled treasure.

Thinking of this, Charlie felt extremely depressed.

Wasn't this just bullshit?

After all that, I didn't cause them any trouble at all.

Instead, I gave them a tremendous opportunity.

The worst part is that I misunderstood the mysterious thing within me.

That bastard must have sent me here because he discovered the so-called gate to ascension,

Not because he deliberately tricked me into coming here to die.

No wonder they say fortune favors the bold; this is no ordinary danger.

Seeing Charlie's expression turn extremely ugly,

Brovnén felt extremely pleased.

He stroked his beard and laughed heartily,

"Boy, are you in pain, frustrated, and depressed right now?"

"I can understand that feeling very well."

"Since I came to this Antarctic continent,"

"One trouble after another has happened until recently."

"When things finally turned around."

"And today is the happiest day I've had since I set foot in Antarctica!"

As he said this, Brovnén's eyes suddenly sharpened, and he roared,

"Boy, now you know that you've shot yourself in the foot."

"So go on your way in regret and remorse!"

After venting his anger, Brovnén immediately decided to kill Charlie.

He drew his long sword and rushed towards him at an extremely fast speed.

Charlie thought to himself,

"I've been chasing the aurora borealis all this time,"

"From the northernmost to the southernmost point of the earth."

"I haven't had time to refine any new magic weapons."

"The Soul-Piercing Blade is long gone."

"Although I could achieve similar effects with other items before,"

"They definitely wouldn't be of any use to him."

"The only thing I can use is probably the Thunderclap Token."

Yes!

The Thunderclap Token!

Charlie suddenly became excited!

Although he had played with the Thunderclap Token for a long time and many times,

The current Thunderclap Token was made from the lightning-struck wood from when the Mother of Pu Cha failed her tribulation.

He really didn't know how powerful that thing was.

The only time he had used it was to draw lightning for the Mother of Pu Cha by Dianchi Lake.

He had never actually used it in actual combat.

Now, he would practice on this elder of the Warriors Den!

So, seeing Brovnen getting closer and closer to him like an arrow released from a bow,

Charlie was not panicked at all.

Instead, he held the Thunderclap Token and waited for battle.

Just as he was less than a hundred feet away,

Charlie suddenly raised the Thunderclap Token and shouted,

“Thunder! Come!!”

Brovnen had already pointed his sword at Charlie,

But he hadn't poured much spiritual energy into it.

He felt he didn't have much left,

And he figured killing a young man like Charlie wouldn't require much effort.

However, he hadn't expected Charlie, who had been empty-handed,

To suddenly produce a magical artifact.

Before he could even see what it looked like,

The clear Antarctic night sky suddenly filled with dark clouds!

This was too strange!

Because in such an extremely cold place as Antarctica,

Dark clouds were almost nonexistent.

Even the rare occurrence of dark clouds and lightning was usually on the edge of the Antarctic Peninsula,

While this was the heart of Antarctica!

Although Brovnen didn't understand these things,

He had spent so much time in Antarctica,

Where the sky was always full of stars and almost no clouds.

He had specifically asked the Japanese research team,

And they concluded that winter in Antarctica is the coldest time of year,

And water molecules in the air freeze into ice crystals,

Making cloud formation virtually impossible.

But why did this kid's simple gesture instantly create a dense cloud cover?!

What struck him even more strangely was the faint glow of lightning emanating from within those clouds.

He murmured,

"This...this kid can summon heavenly lightning?"
