

Chapter 7320

Yun Rugo and Song Ruyu were both intelligent women, and they immediately noticed the change in the situation. Song Ruyu, like a gossip onlooker, stared wide-eyed at the two women's hands.

Yun Rugo, however, was more perceptive. Seeing Song Ruyu's astonished expression, she quickly pretended not to notice anything amiss and smiled, saying, "Mr. Ye, Miss Lin, you're back!"

Lin Wan'er, unable to hide her embarrassment, simply nodded slightly. Charlie, who was standing nearby, led Lin Wan'er to the two women and asked with a smile, "While we were gone, were you in seclusion or had you already emerged?"

Yun Rugo respectfully replied, "Mr. Ye, after you and Miss Lin left, Ruyu and I have been in seclusion. The spiritual energy from the spirit stones you left behind is abundant, and we haven't been able to fully absorb it yet."

Charlie nodded slightly and looked... Seeing their expressions, Charlie smiled and said, "It's clear that your cultivation levels have both improved. After the voyage resumes and you leave Antarctica, your cultivation will reach another level."

Having said that, Charlie took out two more spirit stones and handed them to them, instructing them, "Wan'er and I have returned to rest for two days. We'll leave again after two days, possibly not returning until just before the voyage resumes. You two should continue your secluded cultivation here during this time."

Upon hearing Charlie change his address to Lin Wan'er, no longer calling her "Miss Lin" but directly "Wan'er," the two women understood even more clearly that their relationship had fundamentally changed.

Both were quite shocked, yet it all seemed to make sense. In their eyes, a woman as outstanding as Lin Wan'er either never spoke of love in her entire life, or only Charlie was worthy of her.

At this moment, both women harbored a hidden, unspoken envy. To them, Charlie was undoubtedly the most outstanding man they had ever met in every way.

Yun Rugo recalled her first encounter with Charlie; he had given her both immense despair and immense hope.

The self-destruction of Changsheng Bo had led her to believe Charlie was surely dead, but unexpectedly, he had changed his clothes and arrived in a helicopter to find her.

At that moment, Yun Ruguo thought Charlie had come to eliminate her completely.

However, Charlie not only didn't harm her in the slightest, but even treated her with great care. Faced with such a young, handsome, and dashing man, whose cultivation far surpassed that of his peers, it was impossible not to be moved.

As for Song Ruyu, Charlie had already captivated this seemingly aloof girl during the massive operation that caused the disappearance of thousands.

This also contained a deep underlying logic: the strong are inherently more drawn to strength than the weak. The admiration an ordinary person feels for a highly skilled cultivator can never compare to that for a cultivator of lower cultivation level.

Song Ruyu, from a young age, considered herself a chosen one, destined to help her family defy fate. But after meeting Charlie, she realized what a frog in a well truly meant. When Charlie first threatened her, she thought he was a brute, strong but ultimately reckless man who dared to provoke the Po Qing Society and even attempt to wipe out their entire territory.

However, when she witnessed Charlie leading tens of thousands of men and completely outmaneuvering the Po Qing Society, the contrast and shock were indescribable.

Both Yun Ruguo and Song Ruyu were quite confident in front of most women. In terms of beauty and figure, they were top-tier; if you added cultivation, they would be unparalleled. Yet, in front of the defenseless Lin Wan'er, they always felt a hidden inferiority and helplessness.

So, when they realized that Charlie and Lin Wan'er had gotten together, although they felt envious and disappointed, they weren't resentful at all. They both felt inferior to Lin Wan'er.

Lost in their own thoughts, the two even forgot about the spirit stones in Charlie's hand. Seeing them dazed and silent, not reaching out, Charlie spoke up, "What's wrong with you two? Don't you want the spirit stones?"

The two snapped out of their reverie and, seeing the spirit stones in Charlie's hand, were first utterly astonished, then looked at each other in panic.

Yun Ruguo and Song Ruyu were both people of good character. People of good character have their own moral compass; they don't want to take advantage of others, nor do they want to owe others too many favors.