

Chapter 7321

Charlie had always taken great care of the two girls, not only sharing the hand seals that could generate spiritual energy with them, but also giving them pills and spirit stones. Last time, he gave each of them two pills, which they treasured, each still keeping one intact. Not long after, Charlie gave them two more spirit stones, which already made them feel quite overwhelmed.

The two girls looked at each other, and it was the slightly older Yun Rugo who spoke first, saying gratefully and nervously to Charlie, “Mr. Ye, such high-quality spirit stones are something even Wu Feiyan probably wouldn’t have had the chance to touch. You already gave us two last time, and Ruyu and I are extremely grateful. Now... now we really shouldn’t accept any more spirit stones from you...”

Charlie smiled and said to the two girls, “Don’t see spirit stones as a gift, but as an investment. I’m investing in you, hoping that your cultivation will improve more and more in the future. I also hope that if one day I, Charlie, need your help, you will lend me a hand.” “If I don’t have anyone by my side who can negotiate with the Po Qing Society or even fight them to the death, then this whole thing is destined to fail.”

Yun Rugo replied respectfully without hesitation, “Mr. Ye, Ruyu and I are sworn enemies of the Po Qing Society. As long as we are alive, we will stand by your side whenever you need us.”

Charlie nodded, looking at Yun Rugo earnestly, and said, “Therefore, I hope that on that day, the Yun Rugo and Song Ruyu standing by my side will be even stronger. The stronger you are, the greater our chances of having the last laugh.”

Yun Rugo and Song Ruyu exchanged a glance, both seeing the emotion and inner turmoil in each other.

Charlie didn’t waste any more words with them, directly placing the spirit stones into their hands and saying earnestly, “Take them. Continue your seclusion until the day the shipping resumes. Then you’ll both come back to Jinling with me. I'll give you more spirit stones then to help you cultivate your chains quickly."

At this point, Charlie sighed slightly, "I don't want to spend the next few decades playing hide-and-seek with Wu Feiyan. I want to resolve this huge problem of the Broken Qing Society as quickly as possible, and then live my own life. So, you two, time may be more pressing than you imagine."

Since the day his parents died, Charlie had never truly experienced life of his own.

Growing up in an orphanage until marrying into the Xiao family, he had always been cautious and timid. In the Xiao family, he was even more dependent on them. After reclaiming the Ye family's young master, the reasons for his parents' murder gradually surfaced. He kept it a secret from Xiao Churan while simultaneously improving his cultivation and gradually building his own power outside.

Even today, he has never truly lived a free and unrestrained life.

He had once hoped to resolve everything before telling Xiao Churan everything and spending his life with her.

However, her sudden departure without a word shattered all his plans, and for a time, he even lost all illusions about love.

But after a four-hundred-year-long bond formed between him and Lin Wan'er, a sudden clarity of mind made him realize that he didn't have to live like the vast majority of people in the world.

He could be a unique man in this world, living a fantastical life that no one else had ever experienced, and even one day becoming the first Earthling to set foot on an exoplanet.

Now, he couldn't wait to resolve all the troubles and bring these fantastical and unbelievable futures to more people around him.

Of course, this was on the premise that they were willing.

If they weren't willing, he wouldn't force them.

Everyone has their own destiny; immortality isn't necessarily suitable for everyone.

For the first time, Yun Rugo saw an unprecedented sense of freedom in Charlie's eyes.

In her memory, this man had always been remarkably calm, yet beneath that calm lay a subtle, almost imperceptible melancholy, as if he were constantly troubled by something profound beneath his composed exterior.

But today, while Charlie's gaze remained as calm and sharp as ever, the melancholy in his eyes was gone.

She realized that the change in her relationship with Lin Wan'er seemed to have acted as a catalyst for Charlie's transformation.

Previously, he had never considered ending the life-or-death struggle with the Qing Dynasty Society quickly. He was always like a cautious and unassuming ninja, perfectly concealing himself in the shadows, patiently searching for ways to wear down his enemy.

Now, he had completed his transformation. He had become more aggressive, more pure, like a chivalrous knight-errant from the world of Chinese martial arts. A chivalrous knight-errant may not be the most powerful character in the entire story, but he is certainly the most carefree. A chivalrous knight-errant does only three things: meet the enemy, draw his sword, and turn away.

As for whose head will roll off his neck, the chivalrous knight-errant doesn't care.
