

The Comeback of the Charming Farmer's Wife

Chapter 5: Chapter 5: She Just Watched a Fairy Fight

"Ah, she's my daughter! I'm not selling my daughter! Come back, come back!" Just a moment ago, the Yang Family's Second was still clamoring to sell her. But now, he didn't care about the pain in his body. He got up from the ground and chased after them, followed closely by Ms. Ye.

Only then did Yang Chuxia swagger over to Old Lady Hua and remove the shoe from her mouth.

"How's that? Still want to sell me? You old hag, no one would want you even if you were dragged out to be sold. It would be better for me to just hit a wall and die."

"You little hussy, you're not going to die well, talking like this to your own grandmother. How come heaven hasn't struck you down? You little monster, may you die a horrible death!" The moment Old Lady Hua's mouth was free, she couldn't help but curse.

"What did you say? Grandmother?" Yang Chuxia looked like she had been struck by lightning. She didn't mishear, did she? This old hag said she was her grandmother? How could she have a grandmother? She had never even seen what her father's mother looked like, so how could she have a grandmother?

Something seemed wrong to Yang Chuxia. She looked at the people in the courtyard and the rooms again. She had an ominous feeling. When her eyes landed on the hand holding Old Lady Hua's shoe, her bad feeling was confirmed. Damn it! Yang Chuxia fainted in fright.

When she came to, it was already late at night. The room was pitch black, and Yang Chuxia's eyes moved around. A gust of wind blew in from the window, bringing in the smell of pig excrement. This confirmed that she, Yang Chuxia, had indeed traveled to another time and possessed the body of an eleven-year-old girl of the same name and surname in a small village.

She thought no one could have worse luck with transmigration than her. A top military agent like herself had just watched a fight between demons and casually shouted for a switch from Unicom to Mobile, and then everything went dark and she had crossed over.

Crossing over was one thing, but it turned out that the girl whose body she now inhabited had also died because of a fight between demons.

It turned out that the original Yang Chuxia had accidentally seen her grandmother, Old Lady Hua, getting frisky with an old man from the village during the spring. Since then, she had become a thorn in Old Lady Hua's side - someone she was determined to get rid of.

It was said that Old Lady Hua was not actually the original girl's biological grandmother but was married to Old Yang later on. When she came to the Yang Family, she brought along two burdens - one was the current Eldest of the Yang Family, Yang Da'an, and the other was Second of the Yang Family, Yang Xiao'an.

As for her father, the original girl's father - who was now her father - Yang Dachuan, was Third, born to Old Yang's original wife. The family also had a Fourth, Yang Xiaochuan, born to Old Lady Hua and Old Yang.

Old Yang had a total of four children, three of them born to Old Lady Hua. Only Third Yang was not, which was why Yang Dachuan's family was always disliked by Old Lady Hua. Both Yang Dachuan and his wife, Ms. Wang, were constantly bullied. In the Yang Family, the two were treated like servants, and so were their children.

Ever since the original girl had discovered Old Lady Hua's dirty secret, she was often beaten and scolded by her. Old Lady Hua was actually harboring the thought that she might accidentally beat the poor girl to death one day, so she wouldn't have to live in fear anymore.

It was precisely because of her having these thoughts that a few days ago, when Yang Xiao'an's family came back from town asking for money and she couldn't come up with any, she thought of the idea: Sell the girl!
