

Darkness Mate Cheated Versus Fated by Victory Done

Chapter 2

Darkness Mate Cheated Versus Fated by Victory Done Chapter 2

288 IVouchers

Chapter 2

Zora'

The scene Casey kissed Lori replayed in my mind, and it wrenched my heart.

I knew I couldn't go home, because as soon as I entered our house, I would see the home we built together, and I will be reminded of his betrayal. Only one place came to my mind, it was a familiar and secretive place, it was the spot Casey and I used to visit when we want some time alone,

I ran faster towards my destination, hoping a familiar setting might bring me some solace.

This book had been added on your bookshelf.

I arrived at the cliff side and sunset. I collapsed on top of the rock we used to sit on, we had so many picnics here, and so many more rendezvous. I couldn't stop crying.

He wouldn't let me go, because of all these years we spent together, we worked together, we built our pack together, we fought side by side for so long. I balanced him out, I matched his power. But if he decided to reject me because of her, I would have nothing, because I wasn't an alpha.

But Lori wasn't helping the case, she might not be a Luna material, but she was beautiful, and educated, and she came from an Alpha family, I didn't stand a chance against her. Maybe Casey would make me share, like other Alphas who had found their fated mates.

I had seen what women went through when their spouse cheated on them, I comforted them as their Luna, but who could comfort me this time? I didn't have families or true friends, what should I do in a situation like this?

0.00%

16:49

z88 Vouchers

My mind went through so much, I didn't even notice when I fell asleep alone in the wilderness.

When I woke up, naked and in my human form, I saw the golden light of the sunrise in the distance, like so many times before. Casey would always wake up before me, he would shake me gently and point to the sunrise, and we would watch the sunrise together, while he whispered sweet nothing to my ears.

But now, I was all alone.

"Sorry, Luna Zora, I couldn't find you in your home. The annual Peace meeting is starting soon, please come to the Packhouse in time." Dustin winked at me.

With so much going on last night, I forgot about today's meeting in a haze. I hurriedly got up and shifted, and ran back to my shared home with Casey.

This book had been added on your bookshelf.

He was not at home when I got back. Did he spend the night with her? I shuddered when this thought came to my mind. I couldn't stop thinking about how they kissed last night, and the possibility that they might even do what we did during our passionate times...

I quickly freshened up, and just when I got out of the bathroom, the door to our bedroom opened.

“Where have you been last night? I was so worried.” It seemed that he eventually went home last night.

“I was going to ask you the same thing.” I sneered, thinking about what I saw last night.

“What... What do you mean?” He had never seen me like this, he took a step back in shock, looking at me, dumbfounded.

“I saw everything last night, how you kiss her, how you touch her. And I

14.31%

|||

16:49

felt every bit of it!”

“I didn't have sex with her!”

“So now I have to be grateful for you not fucking her?”

“You know that's not what I mean, please, Zora... I just... Lost control... I wanted to reject her, but I just couldn't do it, you know me, you know I don't want to hurt you.”

“You promised me! You said you will reject her! How could you do this?!”

“Zora, please... I will try to reject her, I just need time to decide... Please don't give up on me, don't give up on us.” He took a step forward, trying to hold my hand, but I pushed his hand away.

“Please, Zora...” He cried. Of all these years I had known him, this was the first time I see him like this. I was not made of stone, when I saw the tears come out of the man I loved so much, I trembled as well. I could feel his pain.

“We will figure something out,” I said as I held his face, and looked him in the eyes. I did believe that, I just doubted that something would make me happy. But I decided to give him one last chance, for the sake of the past 5 years.

When we arrived at the Pack House, it was already full of people. For some reason they kept looking at me weirdly, I didn’t have to guess what happened, I knew words traveled, and now everyone knew. After all, there were a lot of people who attended the party I had last night, they saw Casey went with her, you don’t need to be a genius to guess what happened.

I tried not to let this get into my head, and I kept my composure, I saw someone I knew in the crowd, and just as I was about to make my way over there, I heard everyone around me gasp loudly, I turned around, and I

28.93%

III

16:49

Lori.

Apparently, Casey saw her as well. What the hell was she doing here?

I could feel the fire in my heart burn through, my fist balled up. I couldn’t help to stare at her, and then I shifted my gaze to Casey because I knew, it didn’t matter how much I fought her, as long as Casey tolerate her, there would be no place for me.

And just as I expected, Casey’s eyes were fixed on her, like there was no one else around him. What did he just promise me?

When I looked at Lori again, I could see that she was a mess. Lori, who was on the verge of tears, the corner of her eyes, and the tip of her nose tinged with pink, showing her emotion, I bet he could feel her sadness. could he feel mine?

Could he feel my rage for her daring to show her face after last night? Could he feel the anxiety I was feeling for r his lack of reaction? Could he feel the hopelessness I feel about what's about to happen?

"What are you doing here? This is no place for you." Casey finally spoke.

"I'm sorry. I didn't mean to hurt you... It just happened, I didn't want to break your family. Please..." She wasn't looking at him, she looked at me with pleading eyes when she said those words. So she wanted to shift the focus on me?

"She has nothing to do with this! What the hell are you doing here? It's not some party you could just attend, this is the annual peace meeting! Leave now!"

"Please, Casey, my father knew about what we do last night, and... And he threw me out! He said he didn't want a daughter like me anymore, he said I should learn to share you with Luna Zora, that I couldn't keep my fated mate to myself..."

44.78%

16.49

"Enough, stop, this meeting continues, you and I will talk in private."

Private?! The last time they were in private they nearly sucked each other's faces off!

"Please, Zora, held the meeting on my behalf of me. Trust me, do you remember what I said earlier?" As if he could sense my doubt, he asked almost pleadingly.

"Please, Luna Zora, we need you."

Dustin also came out to remind me of my Luna duty.

"Yes, Luna Zora, please, I am not here to steal your man..."

She sounded so pitiful, I almost felt bad for her. But seeing her like this I was once again reminded Click on the right to read more the memory that was imprinted in my head for...

“Enough! Stop talking unless I tell you to. Zora, please, trust me on this. just for this once, I can handle this. If I fail this, I lose the right to be your man.” He said that in front of everyone present in this room, it somehow moved me, no matter how pretentious this woman was, I should at least give him a chance to rectify this, right?

“Okay.” That was all I said as I walked off to hold the meeting on behalf of him. I didn’t want to look back, I was afraid of what I might see if I looked back.

I could hear Lori’s faint cry as I walked farther away. I had no time for her, I was a Luna, and I performed my Luna duty.

The meeting went smoothly. And I saw a familiar face in the crowd. Luna Eloise from the Blue Howler Pack, her husband was Alpha Cruz. She looked distraught, as she had been for a long time now her hair was a mess, she started drinking this early in the morning, and I knew what happened to make her this way.

60.55%

16.49

Before all this, she and Alpha Cruz were a lovely couple just like Casey and I, and then a few years ago, Alpha Cruz met his fated mate, he didn’t reject her, but he didn’t let Eloise go either, he made her share, Eloise hadn’t been the same again, she was a shell of her former self.

It was painful to see her like this, it was even more painful now that Casey had found Lori... Would I be the next Eloise?

“You gotta stand your ground, don’t let him push you to share, it will only get worse from here.” She surprised me with her bluntness, but I guessed it was only reasonable since she started drinking this early.

“I know, I would’ve rejected him if he weren’t the Alpha... But fate is not on my side.”

“You know I have a lot of Click on the right to read more but none of them would challenge Cruz for me, they gave me all kinds of fun in bed, but whenever I need them to do something, they would all run away, because apparently, I’m not worth it.” She said as she pour some more champagne into her glass, I tried to stop her, but s he waved her hand, “It’s light, I won’t get drunk on some champagne.”

“Has she ever given you a hard time?” She knew I meant Alpha Cruz’s, fated mate.

“She doesn’t have to, Cruz did all the job for her. She’s his fated mate after all. I didn’t e ven stand a chance. He doesn’t care about my flings as long as I keep them private and act normal in public.” She laughed bitterly.

It got me thinking about the time before Alpha Cruz found his fated mate, he was known for his possessiveness toward Eloise. We were all at this function, there was an Alpha f rom the South, his gaze lingered on Eloise for a few more minutes, and Alpha Cruz near ly got in a fight with him if

16.49

75.51%

O

288 Vouchers

it wasn’t for Casey’s intervention.

Casey was possessive of me as well... Would he act like this as well? Treat me like I don’t exist at all?

I shook my head thinking, no, he said he got this, and I have to trust my husband, my Al pha.

Then I gently remind Eloise to not drink so much, she only waved me off and said I would know how she felt if I was in her position.

After the meeting ended, I asked Dustin to take care of the rest.

I was tired from the previous night, I decided to return home and have some rest.

But when I pushed the door open, I was met with a scene I never expected.

Lori was here, in my house, with Casey's arms wrapped tightly around her...

93.34%