

Chapter 80

While Adrian argued with this affluent man, Riley blankly stared at the woman behind him. She looked so pretty and familiar.

It wasn't until the man introduced himself as the CEO of a big corporation that Riley finally recognized the woman. It was Gabrielle Taylor, the actress in the movie 'The Fallen Princess' Return! It was said that Gabrielle married a Billionaire from Braeton City, and Mr. Kyle Wright was it!

Gabrielle approached Kyle Wright and said, "Handsome, it's okay. I want to take Kenneth to the beach now -"

"Exactly!" Kyle said. "That's why we need to have the right villa."

"Gaby, just stand back and let me do what I do best," Kyle implied.

Adrian was clearly about to refute when the Wrights' young toddler ran toward him. The boy smiled brightly while looking at the wheelchair and exclaimed, "Wow!"

Riley was taken aback, and Adrian was the same. The boy suddenly climbed up on Adrian's lap and sang, "The wheels on the bus go round and round. Round and round. Round and round."

The boy did not necessarily speak the lines clearly. He looked about a year old and had yet to learn to emphasize his words.

"Go! Go!" The boy turned to Adrian as if ordering him to drive.

The boy had the same handsome features as his father, but his innocence made him more cute. Riley could not resist smiling at the boy, telling herself how she wanted to have a child like him.

Adrian was good with children. Riley knew this about her husband. So, like her, Adrian found it impossible to remain mad about the situation. This young and adorable boy quickly melted Adrian's heart!

"Go, Mister! Go!" The boy pointed out to a more extensive area of the lobby.

The boy's eyes gleamed before he resumed, "The doors on the bus swing open and shut. Open and shut..."

Riley saw Adrian's gaze become warm and focused on the child. The corners of his lips curved into a faint smile, and he was amused.

Kyle Wright was about to get the boy when Adrian raised his hand. He looked at Kyle and said, "It's okay. One round."

She watched as Adrian moved his wheelchair around the lobby. The toddler kept singing the song, "Go! Go! Sing with me, Mister! The people on the bus go up and down. Up and down..."

Adrian reluctantly sang the words, making Riley laugh. She met eyes with Gabrielle Taylor, who was also smiling at the scene before them. Who would have thought that a young boy could compel Adrian King to give him a ride while singing 'The Wheels On The Bus'?

Riley could not be proud to have a husband who knew his boundaries and had compassion. Adrian could be cruel when he wanted to, but he always knew when to be kind.

For a fleeting moment, Riley also saw Kyle Wright with a gentle expression. Thanks to his lovely son, his anger waned a little.

"Kyle, let's just give up the villa. I'm tired and feeling nauseous," Riley overheard Gaby say to her husband, and she caught how the actress rested her hand on her belly.

It dawned on Riley that Gaby was pregnant. Could they really continue this battle over a villa? Riley understood that they should be the better people in the situation, especially since the villa was only granted to them in favor of Mr. Ventura.

Riley was about to walk up to Adrian when the boy in his lap suddenly coughed and started panting.

"Oh, my god. Quickly, his baby haler!" Gaby called.

While the Wright couple was rushing to get the child's medication, Adrian quickly responded. He held the boy, urged him to lean forward in his left arm, and performed a chest percussion with his right hand. When the boy's parents found his medication, Adrian promptly laid him in his arms. It was Gabrielle who gave her son a dose of his medication.

Riley rushed to their side and asked, "Is he okay?"

Comments

Support

Share