"Here's $1,000 for food and drink," Zach said, handing Max the money. "Nothing but the best. No meat, but we like fresh seafood."

"For vegetables and seafood, I'd prefer that they shop daily so that it's fresh," Susan said.

"This is beautiful and delicious," Susan said, her face turning red as she reached for her wine glass. "And it is a bit spicy," she said, gulping the wine down.

"Maybe you'd better leave the chilis out from now on," Zach said, seeing the sweat beading Susan's head, "or serve them on the side. I like spicy food."

"So do I," Krista said.

"I think tha

"Zach, as much fun as that was on the beach, I'd still rather have you," Krista said. "You're plenty big and when you touch me, with any part of you, it excites me because I can feel the love. On the beach, there was no love, just lust, and mechanical at that, which was fine and perfect, because that was what I needed, but you are all I really need
