Chapter 2531 She Is In Heat:>>3

My hand was on her breast. I don't know which of us put it there, and she was grinding her crotch into my groin. "Wrong," I managed to gasp out.

"Take me, John-"

My fingers bit into the skin of her ass, and then she was grinding, her shorts riding up. She cried out-

"Whoa! No!" We flew apart like we'd been hit by a car and I raised my hands up above

Monica bit her lip. Her brow creased as she gazed at my cock longingly, and then deep into my eyes.

"And how good are you, big brother?"

"Good enough to give you what you need."

"I need it," she said, her voice catching in her throat as she kissed my mouth once more. "I need it so bad, Johnny. Thank you," she said, her tongue snaking out and the ta

I was doing everything in my power to remain motionless. Had I been truly asleep - and somehow able to ignore everything - I would have rolled out of bed long ago. We both would have gone over if I hadn't kept my stomach rigid, my ass tensed, and my heels dug into the mattress, and that at least helped me re-focus my energy as I desperately fought

I arrived late, somewhere between late night and early morning, but the heat had not subsided. The inside of the house was just as dark and humid as the outside, and I waded through it as I made my way quietly from the front door to the kitchen, fumbling a little until I noticed the light peeking around the corner.

As I said, it was hot, so it figu

There's no clever way to say it. My sister and I fucked a lot that summer.

We had all the restless passion of a pair of new lovers, with the bonus of our attraction being completely fucking wrong. It was an insane combination, multiplied in ferocity by the closeness the two of us had always shared. Monica crept into my bed many times after our first

"No, I don't mean that. I just mean..." She rolled her eyes, searching for the words. "Part of me is totally freaked out about this, because of how easy it is, and how much fun, and how wrong - and then that turns me on, and yada yada. You know how it is. But part of me is also...it's been nice, sharing this with you."

I breathed deeply, the smell

It was late, and the minutes passed slowly. Midnight had been long ago, it seemed, and yet the night remained in that timeless hollow that are the wee morning hours. The lamp beside me was burning low and I flipped the page of my textbook, shifting ever so slightly. Against my chest, Monica stirred, and for a moment the words became gibberish and a

I had come home that afternoon with my bag slung over my shoulder, with stories and weariness to share with my father about grad school. He, my mother and my sister had gathered around the table and eaten dinner together for the first time in ages, and there was no awkwardness anywhere. I told them about Pam, the girl I was seeing, and Monica asked

I ran a lot that semester. Sometimes I would pass her by the lake, throwing my arms wide in a 'why not?' gesture that she would shake her head at and then ignore. One of her professors was part of a poker club I belonged to, so from time to time I'd stop by the class to chat and, if she didn't immediately disappear, strike up a conversation with he

Chapter 2540 She Is In Heat:>>12

That was the year my dad had his first heart attack. Steph and I had been seeing each other, on and off, for a few months; it wasn't exclusive but it was a little more serious than non-exclusive. Still, those months seemed to vanish like smoke when my sister met me outside the hospital and threw herself into my arms. Our lips met in a hot, wet kiss
