Soon after, I retired to the living room to watch TV while Mom went to her room. She left the door open, and I could hear her talking on the phone, probably catching up with a friend. Their conversation was too faint to comprehend the content, but I did hear her say goodbye.

She came out and sat by me on the couch, wrapping her arm around me to hug

She held my hands with hers and guided them to the backs of her thighs above her knees. Leaning close to my ear, she whispered, "Sam, could you feel my legs to see if you can detect any cellulite? You said you couldn't see any, but maybe you can make sure."

It was an incredible moment. It was one thing to admire my mother's legs, quite another to

Neither of us said much at breakfast. Mom wore a white nightie I'd never seen before. The material was opaque, and I could tell she had on a bra. It was longer than her other selections, going below her knees. It dawned on me that Mom had worn different negligees for each client. Did color have anything to do with it? Suddenly it hit me; it was the

I inwardly chuckled at how easy it was to expose my feelings to a woman that couldn't talk back with their face covered. I wished it was that simple to tell Mom my true feelings. Reluctantly, I rose and left for my room.

After showering and resting for an hour, I dressed and went downstairs, where Mom was preparing lunch. Mom didn't wait until even "Mom, you have no worries. You have a perfect ass, if I may be so blunt," I huskily assured her.

She pulled back, hesitating while digesting my comment. She turned to leave and whispered, "Thanks, Sam. Good luck on today's client."

What was the help she was demonstrating this time? Full tits squashed against me or something related to her firm ass?
