Beth heard my moan. "That's right. Stroke it for me. Stroke that fat cock. Imagine my mouth on you right now." I could hear her making noises like she was sucking me. "Can you hear that? It's not as big as you, but I'm going to suck it just like I'm sucking you. Here I come, Jack."

She was making wild noises, slurping away on one of our toys, while

Ancient walls come tumbling down.

My last full day in Spain started auspiciously, pounding my pretty little boss from behind. I thought I'd be exhausted, but I felt energized. I left Chris d

Looking around, I saw we had a small audience. A couple of heads were peering out of their doors, and my boss Chris was standing outside hers, gazing on in surprise.

"Wrong room," I announced. I turned to Chris, "I'll just be a second, then we can go down and get some breakfast."

I retreated to my room, straightening my clothing and grabbing the re

We carpooled down to the Plaza Mayor again, hitting some new tapas bars. Ana Isabel never left my side, and my flirtation was on the verge of being over the top. Touching, feeding each other, intimate whispers. She seemed to enjoy it, responding in kind, but the subject of our morning discussion never arose.

It felt much like our first day, and I a

But Ana Isabel was more. More than a casual lustful passing. She was an incredible woman who deserved more than I could offer. An amazing woman, with a tangled life, waiting for the man who was worthy of her.

I knew I wasn't that man.

And yet. Here I was, after what we'd been through with each other, openly going to her home, suspecting that perhap

It was nearly three when I was spooning against my Spanish love goddess, my hands still fondling and caressing her. I loved her body, and knowing that every inch of it was mine to share. My lips sought out her skin at every opportunity, nibbling, kissing, licking, tasting. Somehow, her necklace had survived the sexual marathon, and I played with it

I woke to a warm body cuddled up to mine. A hand was gently stroking between my legs, and miraculously I was responding.

I rolled onto my back, sighing. There were a lot worse ways to wake up.

"Good morning sleepy head."

I reached out to pull her close, her head resting on my shoulder.

"I take it you had a good night?" Chris asked, her curiosity ge

Coming home and facing an internal crisis. Cathy rides to the rescue again, with a surprise.

The trip home was anticlimactic. No last minute calls from Ana Isabel, no nefarious visits from men in black suits, and we were on our own at the airport. No mile-high club. My new favorite stewardess wasn't on our particular flight. Even

Our new living room furniture was overflowing with pretty women, and a few lucky men. I was fortunate enough to be tightly wedged in between the succulent Beth and delicious Debbie, my platinum tressed Goddess. Debbie was quieter than usual, content to let her partners handle all the day-care discussion. She clung to me as if she was afraid I'd lea

She stared at me like I'd grown a third eye. "But the others..."

"There are no others. Not that matter. All that matters to me is in this room right now." I glanced over at Beth who was waiting patiently.

"Tell me. Tell me you'll do everything you can to make sure we never sleep apart."

She moved away from me for a second, and I was worried. But sh
