

D. School 64

Chapter 64 - Rejection

The coach of the University of Pennsylvania Quakers team saw that the team was behind at the opening due to the abnormal play of their main point guard Andy Tour, and wanted to catch up some points through substitutions.

However, his efforts were useless, and David Kraskeg, who came off the bench, was not as good as Andy Tour, and was also unable to resist Lu Qiuqian's increasingly fascinating garbage words. He insisted for no more than three minutes. The point difference has been widened to double digits; so far the first half of the game has not passed half.

This is also something that cannot be done. The Ivy League has rarely given out basketball scholarships. Those who can enter these prestigious schools are elite talents. When facing the professional frontier knowledge they learn, it is always easy to forget the game; Again, if there is no such desire for knowledge, they will not be able to enter these schools.

Even if the third guard of the specification member came on the court, he could not change the situation on the court. The difference between the points of the Princeton Tigers and the opponent has been slowly widening.

"Spence, beautiful shot!" Lv Qiuqian gave thumbs up to Spencer who had just scored a three-pointer. With the victory of a game, the confidence of these teammates became more and more full. The play of the game is also better than one. If you continue to develop like this, you might go further after entering the championship.

"It's your pretty pass!" Spencer beckoned. When he received the ball, the closest to him was the Quaker power forward Kou Ke-Aqibang. He also knew that he could not stop Sri Lanka anyway. Spencer can only watch him shoot.

For the Quaker offense, center Ange Oyecha saw that his point guard was stateless and passed the ball to small forward Jeff Seve. Seve dribbled the ball to the Tigers' half. Seeing that because his own guard has become a decoration, the Tigers' outer line is equivalent to an extra defensive player. There is no chance at all, so he has to hang the ball to Oyecha and let him play Patrice alone.

Although also from Africa, Patrice obviously had no plans to give his fellow face, and he turned Oyecha's turn shot into the three-point line; not only the defense, but also the attack of the Quakers. Dilemma.

It is a big loophole to have a player when defending, but it does not play any role when attacking. This is simply playing four or four! The coach in Pennsylvania couldn't slow the trend of widening the spread until all the timeouts were used up.

“Good job! Try to solve the fight within ten minutes of the second half!” Coach Thompson went out to chat with a blonde female reporter in the locker room with only one sentence. It seemed that he was very satisfied with the performance of the players.

“The opponent's basic center technology is not very solid. After receiving the ball, you are always accustomed to look around. You can hurry up and take a bag!” Lu Qiuqian took over Thompson's work and based on his observations in the first half Let 's guide, “Jeff Siever 's right knee seems to be injured. Will will be more aggressive when defending. I believe he will be scared! And Ray, your opponent . . . . “

In the second half, Jeff Sever hit a three-pointer, but before their cheers ended, Lu Qiuqian was in the same position and the same three-pointer was in color, and the Quaker team's momentum was still Was beaten without getting up!

Just eight minutes into the second half of the game, the score difference was widened to more than 25 points. Coach Thompson began to gradually replace the next break, trying to finally shock, still did not find hope to draw the score, the other coach No more wasting energy, and replaced his main force, the last ten minutes of the game became garbage time!

At the end of the game, cheers came again from the Vladivostok Indoor Stadium. The supporters of the Princeton Tigers knew that after defeating the Pennsylvania Quakers, the entire Ivy League could no longer find their opponents. They can even think about the tournament from now on.

The game was smooth, but Lu Qiuqian's thesis has not been moving. Until one week after the game with the Quakers, Lu Qiuqian still did not receive the “Science” reply email.

What happened to? Did the editor forget his own paper, or did the reviewers fail to understand the main points of his paper? Or is it because the steps do not need to be completely modified? Even if the current time has not exceeded the standard review period of Science, according to estimates, it is now time to determine the layout of the next issue.

Lv Qiuqian vaguely felt something was wrong! It stands to reason that such an important article will definitely be published in the first place, and even becoming the main article of a certain issue is not an exaggeration. But why haven't I received any reply yet?

Would you like to go to Professor Thurston and ask for inside information? If you want to change it, I do n't know if you want to change it back to Princeton 's signature. If so, it 's too frustrating!

Forget it, wait a moment, maybe because this paper is too important, so a reviewer dare not determine it alone, and ask "Science" to invite more industry experts to review? Lu Qiuqian thought about things in a better way.

"Nat, next month Harvard will come to Princeton to play the game. I saw the next date. It's just the weekend. Will you come over?"

"Look at how my beloved alma mater was torn by you?", Natalie quickly replied.

"No, no, that's not what I mean! I just want to meet you!", Lu Qiuqian smiled and chatted with the elf opposite the computer. Every time I chatted with her, it always made people happy, which made the submission unknown. The depressed mood below has improved a lot.

"Hmm ~~ Let's see, if there is time, I will consider going!", Natalie has been entangled for a long time.

Dingdong! Just when he was about to cheer, the email reminder sounded! Lu Qiuqian's heartbeat began to accelerate, could it be the reply of "Science"?

After taking a deep breath and calming down with excitement, Lv Qiuqian turned off the chat dialog with Natalie and clicked on the mailbox. His specially assembled computer was very fast, and the page that appeared just after the mouse pressed the inbox In front of him.

Is really a reply to "Science"! Let me see what is written in it? I don't know if my article will be on the front cover! Lu Qiuqian opened the mail.

When the mail was opened, the smile on his face froze, and I saw the words "Rejected" prominently written in the mail, and Lu Qiuqian stood up, what's going on!

I do n't want to write about this year and 2008, as long as I write not only the danger of writing a book but also unpleasant, it is good to think that these two things have never happened in this plane.