

Daddy CEO's Beloved Wife #Chapter 13 Snowrabbit's Virtual Boyfriend - Read Daddy CEO's Beloved Wife Chapter 13 Snowrabbit's Virtual Boyfriend

However, just as Ran Xueyi's fingertip touched the screen, her eyes lingered on the time displayed on the screen.

[11:54pm]

Ran Xueyi was used to sleep later and usually slept at around 12 in the midnight or 1 in the morning. But it shouldn't be the same for others. At this time, Jian Yiling should be asleep and had already put her phone settings to silent.

So, instead of calling her directly, Ran Xueyi sent a text briefly telling the other that she wanted to meet her tomorrow. However, Ran Xueyi knew that it was up to Jian Yiling whether she would take her words and meet up with her.

Afterall, the two of them haven't been in contact with each other for two years.

Despite the lack of communication, Ran Xueyi tested her luck. She lost the people she trusted and considered as friends in just a single day, she didn't want to completely lose the people whom she had close ties with in the past.

After sending the message, Ran Xueyi didn't immediately go to sleep or toss her phone away. Instead, she went to her social media account to see the 'heat' she created and watch the show.

As expected, a lot of people were attracted by her recent post.

Her main post just gained ten million likes in just an hour and the comments reached five million already. Even popular idols and acting celebrities have trouble amassing such wld popularity, but Ran Xueyi did in a matter of an hour without even contacting the media companies to buy hot searches for herself.

Smiling at her own work, Ran Xueyi let everyone debate whether she will return to the entertainment world or not.

While scrolling down, Ran Xueyi paused and her gaze fell on an anonymous reply from her comment thread: Lonely? Why not get yourself a virtual boyfriend who can let you feel the spring wind?

Although a commercial post to promote products, sites, and even a personal account was not something rare and new since anyone could see this kind of advertisement everywhere. But Ran Xueyi was definitely hooked by the advertisement.

Her eyes lit up and her lips curved up.

She clicked the online shopping website that was attached to the reply, and went through the lists. In the end, she picked the most expensive one at the price of 15,000 yuan. The price was really expensive for a virtual boyfriend and one would immediately think that this shopping website was a scam, but still, Ran Xueyi was not worried about money and just wanted to test things out.

Besides, she really was lonely at this moment. She had no one to talk to since her 'friends' betrayed her and stabbed her front and back with a knife while smiling at her. So, Ran Xueyi hoped she could tell her troubles and problems to someone even if that person turned out to be just a virtual boyfriend she bought with 15,000 yuan.

Moreover, this account was not bought by anyone else probably because it was too expensive.

Not a minute after she picked her virtual boyfriend, the customer service contacted her: [Thank you for subscribing to our website and picking a virtual boyfriend. Please wait for a moment and we will send a message to your chosen virtual boyfriend to add you on WeChat.]

Ran Xueyi saw the message and didn't reply. This kind of customer service message didn't need a reply. So, she waited for her 'virtual boyfriend' to come online and add her on WeChat.

After a minute, her phone chimed with a 'ping' sound.

On her WeChat, a [YH sent a friend request.]

Ran Xueyi quickly added the stranger before sending a string of messages.

[Snowrabbit: Baby, you finally added me. You made me wait for a long time.]

[Snowrabbbit: Blush.gif]

When YH didn't reply, Ran Xueyi was not anxious and continued to play the cute and innocent card on ther chat.

[Snowrabbit: Baby, why are you not replying? I was just bullied by other people just now. My heart is aching. Can you make me feel better?]

[Snowrabbit: Crying Cat.jpg.]

Inside a presidential suite in a five-star hotel.

Song Yu Han was sipping from his cup of coffee when he received multiple chat messages and saw the string of messages on his phone screen.

He almost made a spurt of fountain from the coffee inside his mouth and quickly swallowed it. Nevertheless, his cold and serious face didn't show any irregularities and was completely calm on the surface.

However, Song Yu Han's gaze was attracted to the word 'Baby'.

This was an unexpected situation.

Author has something to say: LMAO. Facepalm (explanation to how this happened will be released next chapter)

Ran Xueyi: My heart is aching.

Song Yu Han: Baby, let me make you feel better. Rubs her chest

Ran Xueyi: "...Scram!"

Song Yu Han stared at the messages that kept on pouring in and at this time, the wall of his screen was filled with cute and adorable gifs and jpg. Not only that, he somewhat saw a side that Ran Xueyi has never shown to anyone.

[Snowrabbit: Hey, baby... Are you still there?]

Finally, Song Yu Han came back to his senses and sat down on the couch and started tapping his finger against the screen.

[YH: I just came out of the showers, so I didn't see your messages.]

After he took a bath, Song Yu Han remembered that Ran Xueyi's number and WeChat ID was attached to the information that his assistant sent to him. They were acquainted with each other through their social circles and if you forget about her hitting on him then, the two of them were practically strangers.

However, Song Yu Han thought that since Ran Xueyi took his sperm for an IUI, it would be better to clear this misunderstanding and meet up with her face to face.

And that's how he added her as his friend on WeChat without any hope that she'll see it tonight because it was already too late, and she must be sleeping now.

But who would have known that he didn't need to wait until tomorrow morning, his application for a friend request was quickly accepted.

Moreover, his position was elevated from 'Sperm Donor' to 'Baby'.

Song Yu Han's mouth twitched at the thought of it and wondered what exactly happened.

Did she recognize his WeChat ID and remembered he was the man she hitted on earlier in the bar and thus, she called him her 'baby' to assume that he was her boyfriend already?

Song Yu Han didn't know if he should laugh or cry.

Anyway, it didn't matter if she recognized him or not, the most important thing was that he needed to get to know her and get close to her so that he would be of peace of mind.

While Song Yu Han was waiting for a reply, Ran Xueyi was already asleep.

When she sent the last message, she was debating if the other was ignoring her and wanted to complain to the online shop. She wasted 15,000 yuan and got nothing out of it since the virtual boyfriend she bought didn't reply.

And so, she threw her phone to the edge of her bed and went to sleep. However, just two minutes after she fell deep into slumber, four 'pings' sounded. Two of them came from the online shop and one came from Song Yu Han.

[VB 001 has sent a friend request.]

[Virtual Online Shop: Our agent has already sent you an application for a friend request. Please accept it within an hour. After an hour, the order will be canceled and no longer be in effect.]

[YH: I just came out of the showers, so I didn't see your messages.]

After an hour, the online shop also sent her a message.

[Virtual Online Shop: An hour has passed. The order has been cancelled and will no longer take effect. Thank you for your patronage.]

Despite the notifications of new messages being sent to her, Ran Xueyi remained asleep and would only wake up until tomorrow morning, not knowing that she had mistakenly added the sperm donor and possibly, the father of her child.

Ran Xueyi slept really well that night, but that wouldn't mean the same for some other people.

For example, Ran Yue, her parents, and Yang Baihua.

After talking with Ran Xueyi, Ran Yue went to find her parents and waited in the living room for an hour. The first thing she did when Father Ran and Mother Ran arrived from the company was to complain about them arriving late and making her wait for too long before finally spilling the trouble Ran Xueyi had caused her.

"Mom, you need to tell her to not get over her head and not return to being an actress. She's been quiet for a long time, why is she being so troublesome now?"

Mother Ran frowned upon hearing the whole story from Ran Yue and said, "I will tell her to stop messing around and take her account during breakfast. For now, we should call every director we know and entertainment media to not contact her. That way, she won't be able to get back no matter what she does."

Father Ran was listening on the side and solemnly nodded, not even caring if they ll destroyed Ran Xueyi in the end of it.

He even added. "Call Yang Baihua. It's better if he tells her not to think of going back to being an actress from his lips. She always listens to him anyway."

Mother Ran and Ran Yue came to their senses. That's right. Yang Biahua was Ran Xueyi's fiance and for the past few years, Ran Xueyi listened to his words more than other people. If he told her to stop messing around and use their engagement to scare her, she would think twice and immediately quit her hopes of returning to the spotlight.

Upon thinking like this, Ran Yue beamed and took her phone to call Yang Biahua. However, her call was not connected. Then, she realized that Yang Biahua was with Song Qian tonight, so it was understandable if he couldn't answer her calls.

Anyway, she must tell him to stop Ran Xueyi through a message.

After sending her message to Yang Baihua, Ran Yue finally calmed down.

But who knew that their plans backfired and they wouldn't see Ran Xueyi tomorrow morning or even in the next few days.

Author has something to say:

Song Yu Han: Baby, when will we meet again?

Ran Xueyi: Who are you calling baby? It was a mistake!

Song Yu Han: Don't worry, even if it's a mistake, accident, or intentional, I will always be your Hubby.

Ran Xueyi: ...