

Card Apprentice Daily Log #Chapter 150: Limitations Of Daughter Core. - Read Card Apprentice Daily Log Chapter 150: Limitations Of Daughter Core.

Chapter 150: Limitations Of Daughter Core.

Date- 25 Mar 2321

Time- 10:05

Location- Sky Blossom City, Kane residence

“Dad! What is in that small box? Why did you bury it here?” Connie exclaimed in astonishment looking at the broken basement floor and the small box hidden in it.

“Connie dad will explain later. Be a good girl and help me patch this floor?” After fusing with the daughter core Chris did not feel any changes in his will except for an immeasurable amount of faith and belief for Wyatt, he was still his usual self but now he cared more about Wyatt and what Wyatt would think or ask of him? Not to mention he would sacrifice himself and the rest of his family to please Wyatt if required, just like a mortal worshipping his beloved deity.

Chris knew that his body was permanently damaged as an effect of the cursed fire implanted within him by the clown mask. And after reading the abilities bestowed to them by the calamity daughter core he knew that he could gain a better body and get rid of old wounds to better serve his lord after undergoing a complete body restructuring. Amanda and Maya had the same thoughts so they decided to bring out the stashed wealth that they had accumulated over the years hidden from the Circle’s watchful eyes. They did not mention this wealth to Simon or Connie before entering a coma because the sudden gain of wealth was definitely bound to attract circles’ attention putting their life in jeopardy.

“Lord, please accept this?” Chris, Amanda and Maya offered their stashed wealth to their lord.

“What is this? A storage card?” I took the small box offered by the trio only to find an E-rank storage card within it.

“My lord, it’s all of our savings.” Explained Chris.

“Why are you giving this to me! give it to your kids this will help them better settle and adjust to the new city they will be moving to?” This was the prowess of the daughter core and its Hive AI brainwashing, even though they had their own will and thoughts it was not beyond me. But the ability of the daughter core also had its limitation, it can only sow into a card apprentice's soul pathway if that card apprentice had the equal or lower grade of a grimoire as me.

That is, if I were a silver grimoire holder, then the calamity daughter core can only work against the card apprentices within the card master realm with silver grade grimoire. If they happen to have golden or higher grade grimoire the daughter core cannot sow into their soul pathway.

Currently, I am a golden grade grimoire holder, calamity daughter core can only work against the card apprentices within the card Lord realm with golden grade grimoire. If they happen to have platinum or higher grade grimoire the daughter core cannot sow into their soul pathway. But within Sly blossom city, this was enough as I had not heard of any card apprentice with platinum grade grimoire or realm above lord realm.

Chris, Amanda and Maya were of card grandmaster realm with silver grimoire; it was not a challenge to fuse daughter core with them. Even though they were my subordinates I did not want to mistreat them, not to mention their kids. I had already stolen their parents and aunt from them. I did not want to steal the wealth that rightfully belonged to them. And how much can their savings be? I knew papa and mama Wyatt's savings was nothing but a few million and as their partners, the trio's savings should be the same amount. The current me is not lacking a few million.

"My lord there are 72 soul jades in the storage card, we wanted to use the soul jades to restructure our bodies before we proceed further with the plan" Chris explained his intention for offering me their hidden wealth.

Hearing 72 soul jade's I was surprised because I searched every nook and cranny of the Wyatt residence with my soul pupils but I did not find any hidden wealth. After inquiring about this to the Kane trio I understood why. Unlike the trio who hid their extra income from the circle, papa and mama Wyatt donated their extra income to the refugee camps, orphanages, and other worthy charities. The Circle strongly monitored the strength and wealth of their party so that they could suppress any rebellion ideas the party would have. That is the reason although all five of them had broken through the card grandmaster realm none of them had a golden grimoire.

Thinking about what Chris said I thought what he said made sense and allowed them to restructure their bodies. I will compensate Simon and Connie later or in some other way. While Chris, Amanda and Maya were restructuring their bodies I finally received a call from Elliott,

"Wyatt sorry I was in a meeting, I had to isolate my grimoire for the confidentiality of purpose." Elliot explained why I was not able to get hold of him and Karen.

"Hey! You don't have to explain it to me, I know you. Good thing that you called when you could. Are you free now?" Elliott did not need to explain himself to me. I was his business partner, not his boss.

"Yes, I have about 30 minutes before I head home to deal with some stuff!" It seemed something big had happened, I could tell by the amount of frustration in Elliott's voice, "What happened?"

"*sigh* some of the board members of Jk group along with Fine gold screwed me over. I have to head back home to clean my backyard and later I will deal with this Fine gold bitch..." Elliott seemed to be pissed, getting screwed by Fine Gold was one thing but getting screwed by the JK group that must have hurt him a lot.

"Okay, I will forward you an address, come meet me here." I said as I sent him the Kane family address. The would Sky blossom city was under Circle and there was no way I could covertly execute my plan so I decided instead of being covert I should make haste before the Circle responded.

"Will be there in five minutes." With that Elliott hung up.

...

"So, you want me to give them a ride to Blossom Cake city" stated Elliott, looking at Simon and Connie.

"Not just them but also my uncle, aunt, Ronnie and Jackie." Nobody related to me was safe in sky blossom city. As for Susan, I needed her here.

"What happened? You seem more spooked than usual." Asked Elliott.

"The Circle is behind my parent's death?" That was enough and Elliott's face also hardened understanding the gravity behind this matter, "Then you should also flee with them."

"No, I have lots of work here. Besides, I am pretty sure Circle won't openly act against me." I could say this because now I knew why the circle went to such lengths to kill papa and mama Wyatt covertly under the guise of a mission.

"Okay, I hope you know what you are doing." Elliott did not try to argue because he knew no matter what he said it would not change my mind.

As Elliott agreed, Karen looked towards the room where Chris, Amanda and Maya were hiding and said, "Master Wyatt, I thought we were friends?"

Chapter 151: Hunting

Date- 25 Mar 2321

Time- 10:15

Location- Sky Blossom City, Kane residence

"Master Wyatt, I thought we were friends?" Karen asked, looking at the room in which Chris, Amanda and Maya were hiding.

Karen was the one to point out my breakthrough in Whiteburn manor and now she was able to detect the hidden Kane trio. It seems she has a dependable detection card. I asked Chris, Amanda and Maya to hide because I did not know how to explain their miraculous recovery from the cursed fire, which was supposed to be inextinguishable once it gets rooted in a person's soul pathway.

"Chris, Amanda, Maya come out and greet Mr Elliott and Ms Karen." Now that they were exposed there was no point in hiding them and might as well make use of this, "Elliott, they are my parents' party members and the ones that had brought me up to speed about my parents and the suspicious circumstances surrounding their death. If possible I would like to buy 3 golden grimoires for them."

Hearing my words Elliott's face stiffened and I could see his mouth twitching, 'Did I say something wrong?' I thought as Karen spoke Elliott's mind, " Master Wyatt golden grimoire are controlled items. You cannot buy them in normal ways. You will have to register with your resident city government and then once the government does their due diligence and nothing suspicious pops up during your background check, you will be allowed to purchase one golden grimoire for yourself. This is the legal means but if you are confident about your ability you can also try and acquire the required ingredients yourself. Or you can also try your hand in the black market but it will require a lot of patience as golden grimoires are a rare commodity even in the black market and it will cost you a fortune to just buy one golden grimoire, not to mention you want to acquire three golden grimoires."

Hearing Karen I understood Elliott's reaction, since Elliott had gifted me a golden grimoire I thought as long as I had enough money and connection I could acquire three golden grimoires for the Kane trio. It seems I had underestimated the value of the golden grimoire. If it was that easy I am sure the Kane family would already have bought one or two. Now that I think of it Kevin Zhang had to go through all that trouble of scheming against young Wyatt just to get his hands on his parent's silver grimoire. If silver grimoires are rare in the Sky blossom city market then the golden grimoire should be like unicorns.

"Elliott, it is delayed but I sincerely thank you for the golden grimoire." I am sure none of the three means mentioned by Karen to obtain a golden grimoire would work for me as I was not wealthy or had the time to buy a golden grimoire in the black market or search for its ingredients. As for registering with the city government I would only be alerting the Circle if I did that.

"No worries Wyatt, I had procured two golden grimoires over a decade to recruit two capable card grandmasters for my security but I could not find anyone trustworthy enough till to date. Thankfully that worked in my favour, I used one for myself and gave you the last one." Elliott explained himself not taking my ignorance to heart. It seems I owe Elliott one now... well let's just pile it together with the rest of the favours I owe him.

"All three ways mentioned by Karen do not work for me, is there any other way to get a golden grimoire?" After knowing the prowess and reach of the circle I wanted to strengthen Chris, Amanda and Maya as soon as possible and as much as possible.

"There is another way" said Karen playfully, giving a pause she continued, "we can hunt those who already own golden grimoire."

"What!" Honestly, I was not shocked by Karen's answer because I heard a lot of stories where card apprentices are hunted for their silver or higher grade grimoire. That's one of the reasons I did not consider raiding a dungeon yet. Similar to Kevin Zhang I bet many adventurers and rogues are eyeing me for my grimoire.

"I think Karen has a point, if you are interested I have a list of golden grimoire holders... how about this, lend me these three here their strength seems satisfactory." Saying that Elliott began to explain what he meant.

It seems Elliot becoming the managing director of Jk group sky blossom city branch and curing his genetic disease has alerted his siblings. So the Jk group board members supporting Elliott's siblings got together to overthrow Elliott as managing director of Jk group sky blossom city branch but that was not that simple as the major shareholder and the current chairman of Jk group Mr Jk was favouring Elliott. So they tried the crooked way by contacting Fine gold Jaya Keith and giving her enough leverage to stop Elliott from erecting a JK group branch in sky blossom city.

Jaya was not a fool she knew what was happening so today morning she set up a meeting with Elliott. Where she proposed either Elliott partners up with Fine Gold to open a JK group branch in the Sky blossom city or she will use the information provided by Elliott's siblings to sabotage Elliott's plans for opening a Jk group branch in the sky blossom city.

Thankfully Elliott's siblings were not dumb, with the information they provided to Jaya; it was only enough for Jaya to delay Elliott from opening a Jk group branch in the sky blossom city. Elliott's siblings just wanted to stop Elliott from gaining power, not ruin the JK group's future. Partnering with Fine Gold was out of options so Elliott rejected Jaya's proposition without hesitation, as a result, all his plans for opening a Jk group branch in the sky blossom city had to be put on hold for a month or so. Using this time Elliott decided to solve the internal conflict in the JK group.

But the problem was that except for Karen and himself he could not trust anyone, even his new entourage had yet to gain his full trust. So when he saw Chris, Amanda and Maya trusted by me he decided to borrow them to clean up the mess back home. This way he gets the manpower he is lacking and I get all the trophies collected during this hunt which included Golden grimoires and other hidden wealth of the prey.

Elliot's plan was a win-win for both of us, and right now I need a lot of soul jades to unlock my 3rd transformation which would unlock the 2nd transformation for Chris, Amanda and Maya but they would require 1000 soul jades each to create their second transformation bodies.

So I needed soul jades and lots and lots of them. Therefore I agreed with Elliott and lent him the Kane Trio. And thanks to Hive AI I was not worried about their loyalty or other variables as I could remotely order them from here. Since they were of no help to me here as they could not make public appearances in the Sky blossom city otherwise the circle's minions would hunt them relentlessly, it is better that they went with Elliott and upgraded their grimoire.

Having reached a conclusion, Elliott left with the Kane and Wyatt family. Elliott had to make some additional arrangements as Chris, Amanda and Maya continued to pretend to be in a coma. To those who were monitoring me, if any, this did not seem suspicious as all of those that left with Elliott had no combat power and as for the trio that was capable of combat they were comatose.

Sending off the Wyatt and Kane family with Elliott to Blossom cake city I headed back to the warehouse. Surprisingly Ronnie did not go with his parents and Jackie instead he decided to stay behind and work for me. In his words, "I will become worthy of you Jackie." Elliot did offer him a job in the JK group but Ronnie was adamant that he would only work for me. I had no choice but to give Ronnie a job seeing his enthusiasm after all he was family.

Chapter 152: The Last Bastard

Date- 25 Mar 2321

Time- 11:35

Location- Sky Blossom City, Guild Association Mall, Warehouse no.234

Sending off Elliott and the rest, I and Ronnie head back to the warehouse. Upon our arrival, we saw Corey and Susan attending to an unexpected guest.

The guest was a haggard middle-aged man with an amputated arm, astonishingly I saw a black fire burning on the amputated end of his arm. Obviously, this raised alarms in my head as I was contemplating how to react. Seeing me and Ronnie walk in, Susan greeted us and introduced the guest, "Lord Van, this is Dalton Wyatt you are looking for and beside him is his cousin Ronnie. Wyatt, this is Lord Van George the Guild leader of the Tyrant guild and also Sarah's guardian, Lord William sent him here."

“Who is Sarah?” I enquired, still looking at Van knowing the purpose of his visit was me.

“The unconscious girl that fell on you, remember...” Susan answered.

“Oh! That girl, Corey’s grandpa did say she was connected to the Tyrant guild. I suppose Lord Van is here to take her back.” I looked at Van intently for an answer. If he is here to collect the girl then why wait for me.

“Yes, Master Wyatt I am indeed here for Sarah. But I would like a moment with you.” Van explained his purpose. Van addressed me as ‘master’ cause that’s how people here address a talented card creationist.

“Is it about the card ‘Fated Encounter’, William has already informed us about it.” I said this because I was worried Van would be like that religious fanatic that tried to kidnap Pax and be like you are chosen by Fated Encounter now you are our chosen one... all that shit.

“Okay, that makes things easier for me. You know how Sarah is still unconscious; she will continue to be unconscious until she receives a kiss from her charming prince that is you, Master Wyatt.”

“Hell no!!!” I yelled, seeing my exaggerated reaction everyone in the room looked at me weirdly.

“Cousin by any chance do you swing for a different team?” Ronnie probed while others looked at me intently for an answer.

“You shut the hell up! What do you know? This is how they trap you. I kiss her and then she asks me to take responsibility for her. Been there, done that.” I explained my exaggerated reaction earlier.

“That wasn’t a no.” Mouted Ronnie.

“Ronnie, go scrub the toilet, this is your first job and watch what you say next.” I warned Ronnie, to which he yelled, “Sir yes sir” and headed towards the restroom.

“Even if you swing for a different team you can still help me with this, right. A small peck on Sarah’s lips will do.” Hearing Van my anger rose to its peak since I could not do anything to Van, Ronnie will have to face twice my wrath.

“Let me make things clear, I am straight as they come and I can not help you with this.” I resolutely rejected Van because If the fated encounter card is anything like a fairy tale then there is a happy ever after to it... which can mean lots of things like me being brainwashed into loving Sarah after kissing her, a happily ever after for Sarah indeed. This is just my speculation, there are many other possibilities.

Not to forget that this condition of me kissing Sarah to wake her up was not mentioned in the card info narrated by William. Either William was lying or there are many rules about the card fated encounter not mentioned in the card info. William had no reason to lie to me so it was the latter.

It seems Van understood my concern leading to his current actions. Van walked in front of me and knelt on his knee saying, "I, Van George the last descendant of Irene George the 6th and the loyal knight of Sarah Redfall, pledge on my name that there is no trickery involved in Master Wyatt kissing Lady Sarah."

Corey and Susan looked at Van in astonishment, Van George was a card lord like William therefore everyone under the card lord realm addressed him as Lord but to think he would kneel in front of a card soldier and pledge his name. This is not something you get to see every day.

Unlike Corey and Susan, I was not impressed so I bluntly conveyed, "Lord Van I am sorry to say this but you pledging your name is not the same as me risking my life. I cannot help you with this."

Corey and Susan gasped dramatically, annoyed I yelled, "will you guys cut it out. Don't you have other things to do?" Hearing me Corey and Susan embarrassedly fled to the bedroom where Sarah was laying.

"What will it take for you to trust me?" Van requested more like pleaded, I could tell this man was desperate. Considering that his guild and friends were massacred while he escaped like a coward and with all that guilt he bore this was not surprising.

"Before that tell me how many origin cards do you have and what are their effects?" Seeing Van's desperation I thought of plans for him.

...

Demigod Redfall aka the Romantic demigod, the nightmare of men and women alike, had a thing for beautiful and pure creatures. This is what his followers will say.

But in reality, Demigod Redfall was a Bisexual hedonist home wrecker. He would seduce and sleep with any man or woman he desired no matter their marital or relationship status. Hence the title 'the nightmare of men and women alike'

Irene George the 6th is rumoured to be one of his conquests as she swore her and her family's loyalty to Demigod Redfall even though she was married. Pleased by her devotion Demigod Redfall gifted her with his bestowal 'Fated Encounter'.

Centuries later when Demigod Redfall had fallen all his enemies, angry spouses and lovers unleashed their wrath on his descendants and followers. During which Van

George fled with baby Sarah to The Sky Blossom city for refuge where he built a guild and gathered allies but his past caught up to him and swallowed his guild and friends.

Van George knew that the Clown mask would not act without the orders of the Circle and the only reason he could think of the disaster that had befallen him was because of his past. Thankfully they do not know about Sarah as even the Redfall family did not know about her. Except for her father, the Demigod Redfall himself. Yes, Sarah was the last bastard of Demigod Redfall. But Van still did not understand why the clown mask let him escape; this was similar to back then when he escaped with baby Sarah to the Sky Blossom City, it was as if they wanted him to escape.

Not worrying about what he could not see or discern, Van decided to worry about the matter in front of his eyes i.e. awaken Sarah and get her together with her fated person Wyatt. Therefore he tolerated Wyatt no matter how rude he was.

Chapter 153: Fated Kiss

Date- 25 Mar 2321

Time- 11:52

Location- Sky Blossom City, Guild Association Mall, Warehouse no.234

"Here swallow this and I will help you with Sarah," I said offering a calamity daughter core to Van.

"What is this, some kind of poison pill?" Inquired Van taking the calamity daughter core as to an untrained eye false human core was nothing but small round pebbles.

"That's the price for me to help you, rest is up to you. Swallow it if you want. I am not forcing you and I have nothing else left to say to you." Not getting an answer from me, Van frustratedly looked at the small round pebble in his hand and thought, 'completing the ritual is important, rest is secondary.'

...

"I have one origin card and it is called Tyrant body." Answered Van obediently, if it was someone less they would have already fallen for Van's docile and sincere act but not me I could tell he was working an angle that required my trust and willingness otherwise with his prowess nobody here could stop him from doing what he willed.

[Card Name: Tyrant Body

Card Type: Origin card

Card Rank: Unique Grade

Card Rate: -/-

Card Durability: -/-

Card Effect: The host can absorb soul energy from the surroundings at an unimaginable rate and mix it with his/her flesh and blood reinforcing the physical body. This new body is called the tyrant body. Additional effects:- superhuman level of stamina, strength, defence, regenerative power, reflexes and agility.

Restriction: soul energy absorbed and strength gained is directly proportional to the host's active soul control. But this absorbed soul energy does not help in cultivating active soul control of the host. ]

So, Van's first origin card was somewhat similar to the Viltronian physique, Viltronian physique's power comes from the core but the Tyrant body's power comes from the amount of soul energy absorbed from the surroundings. And his soul energy absorption was a highly enhanced form of normal card apprentice soul absorption ability, but it did not have the advantages of the soul manipulation ability of Soulpoles. As his soul energy absorption could not get rid of the cursed fire latched onto his soul pathway.

I could tell that Van was being tolerant and polite because he had his own calculations involving me. But it did not matter as I was going to make full use of Van's cooperation. This way I would checkmate Van without him knowing.

Therefore I began designing a special daughter core that would be compatible and go hand in hand with Van's tyrant body origin card. This way Van's first origin card would act as a supplementary card for the calamity daughter card. After all tyrant body was quite similar to the Viltronian physique.

...

The world thinks Irene George the 6th had been awarded 'Fated Encounter' after she declared her support to demigod Redfall but in reality, Irene George had received the bestowal 'Fated Encounter' Long ago even before she met her current husband.

When Irene George ascended as the queen of the George royal family she had gained the attention of the Demigod Redfall and later became one of his secret conquests. But when the current government forced the George royal family to give up their power and assimilate with the government, distressed Irene sought the help of her lover. Since demigods cannot participate in mortal wars Redfall helped her indirectly by bestowing Irene with 'Fated Encounter', Irene did not know how this helped her situation but she had complete and blind faith in her lover.

The current government, seeing that Irene was the last piece holding the George royal family together, planned to assassinate her instead of waging war with the George royal family as this was the most efficient way for the government whose power was stretched thin dealing with various enemies.

The assassination was a success and just when the government thought they had taken care of Irene she made a comeback with her new powerful champion who alone was equal to an army. Regaining her rightful place, Irene married her loyal champion and swore her and her family's loyalty to the Demigod Redfall when he and his faction decided to enter the struggle for power with other Rulers.

It was not a surprise that Irene could retain the loyalty of a strong man with her beauty and charm but it was surprising when that strong man would continue to be loyal even if his wife is enjoying a good time outside of their marital bedroom. This question plagued many scholars, minstrels and bards. Many thought maybe Irene's husband was one of the demigod's lovers too but he did not fit the demigod's type.

What they did not know was this was all because of the ritual involved in the bestowal 'Fated Encounter'. The ritual 'Fated Kiss' where the charming willingly kisses the damsel and they both live happily ever after. When the fated person kisses the unconscious host of the fated encounter he/she is bound to fall under a SSS rank charm and thereafter he/she is blindly in love with the host of the fated encounter and willing to be a slave if required by the host of the fated encounter.

This was the reason Van was so polite, tolerating and sincere towards Wyatt. Van had his doubts about Wyatt as the fated person of Sarah because he was too weak. So Van did his own background check on Wyatt as a result Wyatt's achievements and endeavour spanned over a week shocked him and his understanding of the world. Breaking into the card scholar realm within a week of contracting a grimoire was scary enough but also achieving silver grade card creationist level in the same week was just horrifying. Understanding where Wyatt's value lied and having blind faith in 'Fated Encounter' Van decided that he had to get Wyatt to complete the ritual no matter the cost.

...

"You promise to help me awaken Sarah with a kiss if I swallow this pebble or whatever it is." Said Van looking deep into my eyes, Van did not care if the pebble-like thing was a poison or just a pebble or and never stopped to think why Wyatt asked him to swallow this small round person because according to him as long as Wyatt was enslaved by Sarah everything could be solved later.

"Yes, I do." I did not show the slightest speculation in my emotion as I said these words.

"Good hope you are a man of your word." Saying that Van swallowed the calamity daughter core to get me to willingly kiss Sarah.

Chapter 154: Apple and The Tree

Date- 25 Mar 2321

Time- 12:05

Location- Sky Blossom City, Guild Association Mall, Warehouse no.234

*GULP*

Van finally steeled his resolve and swallowed the small round pebble. He tried to isolate the pebble from his body system by covering it with soul energy but the pebble easily broke free of his restraint and vanished in the membrane of his food pipe (oesophagus). Knowing this Van felt a chill in his heart and he roared, "You! What did you feed me? Is it poison?"

"I fed you nothing, you swallowed it out of your own will. And it is not a poison, it is the calamity daughter core. Cheer up, it is good for you now you can heal your amputated hand and get rid of the cursed fire. Don't you feel the power and changes in your physique? Check your grimoire, I have bestowed you with false immortality." I slowly cleared Van's misunderstanding and explained to him the opportunity that I had bestowed upon him.

Van felt the changes in his power and physique as I described so he hurriedly summoned his grimoire to check for the reason behind changes, only to find his second origin card slot occupied by an origin card 'Calamity Daughter Core'. Reading the description of the card Van understood what a miraculous abomination it was but for some reason, he felt no resentment or anger towards the man who bestowed such misery upon him instead he had a blind faith towards the man and wanted to devote his to him. He finally understood the meaning of the phrase 'everything happens for a good reason'. He felt as if every moment of his life, good or bad, was meant for this moment.

I had set Van's Hive AI freedom level to subordinate level because I did not trust him enough yet for him to have the freedom level of left/right arm similar to Chris, Amand and Maya. He still had a will but his only desire and lust are me and my approval. Unlike the Kane trio who had their priorities and desires but they were not as important as me and my well being.

"Lord, forgive me for I have sinned." Wonders of Hive AI brainwashing, wait me having to interrogate him Van confused feeling guilty.

"Tell me how you have sinned?" Hearing me Van narrated how he planned to put me under an SSS-rank love charm by having me the fated person tricked into willingly kissing Sarah the host of the 'Fated Encounter'.

'I called it', I thought, then looked intently at Van who was kneeling in front of me begging for the punishment to atone for his sins. I did not know whether to be happy for getting a golden grade Card Lord subordinate or... but I decided to not think too much into it and justify my ways saying he tried to enslave me first.

"Get up, I will forgive you this time. Stop calling me lord instead continue calling me Master Wyatt. I don't want people knowing about our relationship and guessing my origin card ability. That will be disastrous for me." I did not prefer to be called Master Wyatt either but this was how people here called a prestigious card creationist, since the life/deathmatch of Pax I have gained some reputation. And also if asked Van to just call me by my name he will think I am punishing him or forcing him to commit more sin. Since I have already decided to use calamity daughter core a proper hierarchy system has to be set to not cause complications in the future.

"Yes, Master Wyatt and thank you for forgiving this lowly one." Said Van gratefully.

"Could you stop with the formal speech?" I finally saw the difference in the Hive AI freedom level. The Kane trio though they worshipped me they had enough will to act normally in the presence of the outside company. But Van's will was too devoted and he felt guilty just to address me informally.

"Forgive my ignorance, Master Wyatt." Hearing Van, I sighed it seemed as convenient as Hive AI was, it still had its complications and shortcomings which I will have to explore thoroughly before deploying it in public.

"Tell me about Sarah and her involvement." I had to take care of Sarah as I couldn't just have an unconscious girl lying in the bedroom I had Susan build for me.

"Sarah in a way is my niece and great grand aunt." Hearing Van, a nuclear bomb explosion took place in my mind. It seems Demigod Redfall a bisexual whore like to indulge in occasional incest. And Sarah is the product of his hedonist taboo pleasure conquest.

Irene George the 6th never mated with her spouse instead she had children with her lover Demigod Redfall outside of her marital bed but being bastards her children could not claim Redfall name. Making Van George and his sibling's indirect descendants of Demigod Redfall. And Sarah was the child of Van's sister born to Demigod Redfall. But Sarah was able to take the name Redfall because she showed the highest blood purity among all of the Demigod Redfall's descendants to date.

"Enough about the whoring demigod and his taboo tales. Tell me whether Sarah knew about the fated kiss as she used the bestowal 'Fated Encounter' and make it short." If the demigod Redfall was still alive I would not dare partake in name-calling the demigod because their extraordinary senses catch on if any lower realm creatures call their name knowingly. But demigod Redfall had fallen, who cares.

"No, Sarah did not know. If not for her rather special situation I would not have introduced her to the bestowal 'Fated Encounter'."

Afraid of Sarah's identity being leaked Van homeschooled Sarah since her childhood when Sarah was in her pre-teen year's seeing her lack of awareness Van introduced her to his friends the guild leaders of Sun boar and Raven guild. When Sarah became a teenager the trio thought it would be better for Sarah to have friends of her age seeing how she turned into a full-on tomboy under their influence.

After that Sarah's life tragedy started as unlike her girlfriends her teenage crush was not a boy or a man but her best girlfriend. This was not evident to her in the protective shell of Van and his fellow guild leader buddies but out here she knew she was different she was more of a boy than a girl rather a boy trapped in a girls body. Fighting her demons Sarah finally gathered enough courage and at a special moment kissed her crush from there everything went downhill. Being young and ignorant Sarah's best friend did not understand Sarah's feelings instead she felt violated and broke her friendship with Sarah socially labelling her a deviant.

Afterwards, when Van and his buddies knew this they tried to console Sarah and tell her that there was nothing wrong with her instead the society and its teachings were wrong. But that was not enough to console Sarah's young broken heart which thought she was destined to be alone. That is when Van Introduced bestowal 'Fated Encounter' to Sarah and his buddies, saying that everyone has a fated person and one has to be patient enough. Also, she should not give up trying otherwise how will she find her fated person.

Knowing Sarah was equipped with the bestowal 'Fated Encounter' the guild leaders of Sun boar guild and Raven guild were finally able to calm down enough to fight the clown mask.

"Apple doesn't fall far from the tree." Were the words that came to my mind hearing Sarah's life ventures. Now this made it harder for me to decide whether to use calamity daughter core on Sarah or not.

Chapter 155: Sweet Grapes, Sour Grapes

Date- 25 Mar 2321

Time- 12:35

Location- Sky Blossom City, Guild Association Mall, Warehouse no.234

"Master Wyatt if possible I would like to recommend Sarah as one of your followers." Suggested Van as he narrated Sarah's innocence and her life experience.

I was surprised that Van would suggest such a thing considering his emotional attachment with Sarah. So I decided to listen to Van's thoughts behind his suggestion.

"Master Wyatt, I do not know much regarding blood purity and its application but there is a reason why demigod Redfall let Sarah, his last bastard, keep his family name out of all the bastards before her.

Over the years I had kept an eye out to see any sign of specialness in Sarah but except for her transexual interest, she is just a normal kid with normal talent as a card apprentice.

Another thing worth mentioning is her fated ingredient Charcoal Fire Beetle belonging to the same family of demigod's rumoured fated ingredient Blood harvest Beetle.

But I believe the specialness of her blood can only be explored in the top 10 universities. I say so because of this medallion that the demigod himself had gifted to newborn Sarah. With this medallion, she can enter any one of the top 10 universities of her choice. I was planning on sending her there after the raid of the Blue Blossom lake field dungeon.

So, I think Sarah can contribute a lot to Master Wyatt as your follower." Van went on explaining why he thought Sarah would make a good addition as my follower.

To sum it up 'Blood Purity' 'Demigod Blood' 'Fated Ingredient Charcoal Fire Beetle' 'Medallion' 'Top 10 universities' these were the key reasoning behind Van's reason for me to bestow calamity daughter core to Sarah.

"Van, what do you think about the top 10 universities should I be attending one" I asked Van's input on this matter since he seems to have been in contact with the top 10 universities.

"Master Wyatt top 10 universities is a good place to hone your skills as a card apprentice and creationist but if they can not see the specialness of lord then they are not worthy of your time." Asking Van's input in decisions that involve me was a mistake because he acts like an overly doting parent. 'The grapes are sweet if you can have them, otherwise, the grapes are sour.' A classic way a proud parent will fool themselves and reason their thinking that their child is the best.

Hearing Van's biased opinion I decide to not involve him in any of my decision making in the future. Having heard his thoughts I asked him another pressing issue, " Van, what are your current savings?"

"Master Wyatt except for a few Soul jades on me. Currently, I am under huge debt which I and the guild leaders of Sun Boar guild and Raven guild together took to finance our raid of Blue Blossom lake field dungeon.

But no worries my lord we three already had prepared contingency in case of the unknown." Saying that Van began illustrating the contingency he spoke of.

In case of the failure of the mission, the three guild masters planned to declare bankruptcy and discharge their debts by liquidating their extra assets according to the mandated law. Basically except for the primary house and tools required by them to work and maintain a normal life, everything secondary would be sold off to pay the credit owned by the trio. This would work because all the shares of three guilds that they had in their hands had been transferred all to a trusted person, Sarah.

The creditors credited the three guild leaders huge personal loans because they thought the guild leaders owned their respective guilds. But by transferring the majority of shares belonging to them to Sarah the guild leaders were no longer owners but employees. Once a major share transfer is initiated the major shareholders of the guilds are to be informed. They escaped this law because they themselves were each other's guilds major holders as for the rest of the shares it was scattered in small bits and pieces not enough to be considered as major shareholders. This way no one except for the three guild leaders knew about the share transfer.

This way they avoided liquidating the assets and dungeons owned by the three guilds when they declared bankruptcy in case they failed to raid the Blue blossom lake field dungeon. Their plan was neat and now that two of the guild leaders have died it was much easier to put the plan in motion. Except for losing some secondary assets, Van would not lose much as he did not own anything, everything was owned by Sarah.

'Fuck!' Hearing that Sarah will reap all the fruits I could not help but curse because I thought that I finally had a rich thigh to hang on to. Hiding my sadness I asked "what do you plan to do next?"

"First I will restructure my body and get rid of the cursed fire later with the help of the lord I will awaken Sarah. Then have her transfer all the shares of the three guilds to my lord." Answered Van.

It seems there is another way to awaken the holder of bestowal 'Fated Encounter' that is to rub the blood of the fated person on their lips. Is just a precaution in case the demigod Redfall himself turned out to be the fated person or worse someone else in the demigod realm. Then the fated encounter will be more of a curse than happy ever after for the host of the 'fated encounter'.

"No, don't transfer the shares to me, let her keep the shares. You help her form a new guild merging the remains of the three guilds because the current share price of the three guilds is very low and individually they lack prospects. After the announcement of the massacre people are dumping the shares belonging to three guilds. If possible I recommend buying the remaining shares before you show up in public to declare bankruptcy and Sarah announces the formation of the new guild." Yes, I have decided on recruiting Sarah as my subordinate. I did not want the shares because such a big move was bound to attract a lot of attention which I was planning on avoiding for now, after knowing the Circle's interest in me and mama Wyatt's origin card.

It seems my claims of having the same origin card as mama Wyatt has put me on the radar of the Circle.

Also, I can not let go of a cash cow like the three guilds because my new origin card requires lots and lots of soul jades to unlock higher transformations for me and my subordinates. Considering my enemy the Circle I can no longer continue with the slow-paced approach.

Chapter 156: Gender Free

Date- 25 Mar 2321

Time- 13:25

Location- Sky Blossom City, Guild Association Mall, Warehouse no.234

“Uncle Van, I will get stronger and avenge uncle Boris and uncle Mark” promised Sarah as she wept and leaned into Van’s embrace.

“Sure you will sweet pea, and I have just the way for you to get strong.” Van supported Sarah’s decision and began executing his own plan.

“Really” Sarah with her tear-filled eyes looked into Van’s still eyes for confirmation.

“Yes, I do. The fated encounter found you your fated card creationist who can and is willing to create the type of origin card you want.” Assured Van without a slight fluctuation in his still eyes.

I used my blood to awaken Sarah after Van restructured his body as having a healthy familiar face for her to wake up to would save a lot of commotion and explanation. But still, I could not avoid the messy commotion after Sarah learnt of the Blue Blossom lake massacre. She wept and mourned for the departed and promised vengeance. And during this Van deployed his plan to recruit Sarah as his lord’s follower by having her origin card created by his lord.

Few potential customers visited during this time whom I had turned away by Susan saying I was completely booked for till 28th of this month. Interestingly they were so impressed by my creations Pax’s Iron flesh card and Susan’s slime armour card they booked appointments for the 28th.

...

“Aren’t you too young to be a card creationist?” Asked Sarah to her fated card creationist introduced to her by her fated person as he was of the same age as her.

"No, no I am not. Geniuses come in all shapes, sizes, ages and gender." I replied nonchalantly.

"Do you want any info about my fated ingredients and are you clear about my requirements?" Though Sarah thought the young card creationist was narcissistic still she went along with him as her card creationist she deemed him reliable because her uncle said so, after all her uncle would not want to harm her right.

"No need, your uncle has already brought me up to speed regarding your fated ingredients and requirement for the origin card." I assured her as I don't want my cash cow slipping from my palms. Sarah and the three guilds she currently owned were my tickets to opening 3rd transformation of calamity soul core and 2nd transformation in my subordinates calamity daughter cores.

Getting Sarah's approval I handed Susan the ingredient's list required for the card creation.

[Origin core x1 – $125,000]

Yes, it was going to be the cheapest origin card I will create to date but considering the daughter core I would add during the creation process I don't know if it could be considered the cheapest origin card I was going to create.

...

D-rank Charcoal Fire Beetle, Sarah's fated ingredient. They are named as such because this particular beetle's exoskeleton and the shell is made up of variant Charcoal. The charcoal exoskeleton and the shell of the Charcoal fire beetle are always red hot and emitting red light like burning charcoal as the beetle using its Pyrokinesis ability it manipulates its body heat to ignite its charcoal exoskeleton and the shell to produce flames then manipulates the flames for its defensive and offensive needs. Not to mention the herculean strength and resilience of the beetle family it is endowed with.

Many researchers are trying to explain, did the charcoal fire beetle develop its charcoal exoskeleton to make use of its pyrokinesis abilities to the fullest or did it gain the pyrokinesis ability to make use of its charcoal exoskeleton to the fullest. This is the marvel of evolution; nobody can explain it but many still strive to. Some get close but can't see, some get lost but believe they see.

Sarah was not after the Herculean strength or resilience of the beetle family nor the pyrokinesis ability or the charcoal exoskeleton of the charcoal fire beetle. She was after the lesser-known ability of the Charcoal fire beetle, its ability to change gender when there is a lack of either of the two genders in their swarm during the mating season. Yes, Sarah desired the ability to change her gender so that she can get rid of the gender restrictions of her mortal body to suit her free sexuality.

Sarah's demands for the card were the reason she had not created her origin card yet. The card creationists working for the three guilds were not qualified or confident enough to create such a card. And the capable card creationists for hire were not willing to create such a card because such a controversial card would label them for life. Sarah had finally found the hope to break free of the restrictions on her body but once again society and its norms blocked her from achieving her desire. This was not new to her so this time she got up pretty quickly.

...

Sitting in the card room I began to wonder why a monster with pyrokinesis was only ranked as D-rank. After careful consideration, I came up with 3 reasons why,

1. The temperature of flame produced by charcoal even in its variant form is very less, 750–1,200 Celsius (1,382–2,192 F). which is not enough to even burn the E-rank monster's physique.
2. The Charcoal fire beetle lacks the Soul energy control required to use advanced pyrokinesis to increase the temperature of the flame produced by its charcoal exoskeleton.
3. The Charcoal fire beetle does not have high resistance to fire therefore their charcoal exoskeleton not only helps produce flame but also protects it from getting burned by the fire produced by itself. The variant charcoal cannot withstand temperatures above 1300 Celsius, anything above this limit will turn the Charcoal exterior to ashes.

Looking at the limitations of the charcoal exoskeleton and pyrokinesis ability of the Charcoal beetle it could not be ranked in D-rank but considering its herculean strength and resilience of the beetle family it is endowed with it barely passed as D-rank. Now I had to come up with ways to get rid of these limitations to create a high ranking origin card.

Chapter 157: Creation

Date- 25 Mar 2321

Time- 13:57

Location- Sky Blossom City, Guild Association Mall, Warehouse no.234

While I was busy with Sarah's origin card creation I asked Van to do two things for me,

1. Find a suitable E-rank or above dungeon belonging to three guilds for me to feed on.
2. Find two people who could represent and replace the guild leaders of Sun boar guild and Raven guild.

I have been racking my brain trying to figure out the third condition to unlock the 3rd transformation of the calamity soul core. Taking the example of dungeon calamity seed exclusively feeding on dungeon core I thought maybe devouring a dungeon core would be the third condition to unlock the 3rd transformation of origin card calamity soul core. Therefore I asked Van to find a waste E rank or above dungeon belonging to the three guilds so that I can feed on the dungeon core.

Sarah currently owns the three guilds according to the majority share distribution and in papers, if she wanted to she can merge the three guilds and form a new guild in name but the same cannot be said for the members of the three guilds, though they all are allies still the merger will be a huge change for the members to get used to with their old comrades and leader dead. Not to mention Sarah is just a card scholar realm card apprentice it will be hard for her to gain the respect and approval of the guild members even with the full support of Van. Therefore to gain the recognition and approval of the members of the three guilds I needed two people who could represent and replace the guild leaders of Sun boar guild and Raven guild and provide support to Sarah.

...

After careful consideration, I knew that I had to increase the strength of the variant charcoal exoskeleton of the Charcoal fire beetle to increase the temperature of the flame generated by it. So we can conclude that the temperature of the flame generated by charcoal beetles is directly proportional to the durability and hardness of their variant charcoal exoskeleton.

The charcoal of the charcoal fire beetle exoskeleton is dubbed as variant charcoal because it is biologically grown as the charcoal fire beetle exoskeleton and in many ways, it is stronger and durable than natural charcoal as it is reinforced by soul energy. So the strength, durability and hardness of the charcoal exoskeleton depend on the physique of the charcoal fire beetle. Then what will the strength, durability and hardness of the charcoal exoskeleton be for a Viltronian physique? Definitely a few times better than the charcoal exoskeleton of the regular charcoal fire beetle. Not to mention Viltronian physique has a high level of elemental and physical damage tolerance, thanks to its soul energy reinforced physique.

Now that strength, durability and hardness of the charcoal exoskeleton were taken care of next came the soul energy control and advanced Pyrokinesis.

Viltronian's mostly relied on their brute strength so when it comes to soul energy control they are weaker compared to the charcoal fire beetle so the Viltronian physique is of no help in this situation.

Thankfully the Calamity daughter core had the soul energy manipulation ability of Soulpoles. Which completely took care of the lacking soul energy control problem.

As for the advanced pyrokinesis, as long you meet a certain threshold of soul energy control you can easily display advanced pyrokinesis without any difficulty.

Advanced Pyrokinesis was necessary to enhance the temperature of the flame produced by igniting the charcoal exoskeleton. As the charcoal exoskeleton based on the Viltronian physique is very strong and durable it can easily withstand a few times more heat withstood by the charcoal exoskeleton of charcoal fire beetle.

Due to the Viltronian physique, the herculean strength and resilience of the beetle family were redundant. Therefore I did not bother adding this ability to the origin card.

Lastly to meet the requirements of Sarah using the gender transform skill of the charcoal beetle. I had given her two choices,

1. She could permanently switch to her opposite sex.
2. She could temporarily switch to her opposite sex for a limited amount of time.

'What's the difference?'

In the first case, Sarah will permanently transform her gender. But in the second case, Sarah can only transform her gender for a limited period a day after that the ability would enter a cooldown period.

Charcoal fire beetle can only transform their gender during mating season and would transform back after the mating season which was similar to the second choice I mentioned to Sarah. But by identifying and isolating the soul pathway responsible for this phenomenon in charcoal beetle, I could give Sarah the ability to transform permanently or temporarily for a limited time. Finally, it was up to Sarah and she chose the second option according to her wish.

Having planned the complete card creation processes I formed a party with Sarah and opening the card creation page I placed the Charcoal fire beetle core, origin core and calamity daughter core on the card creation page.

First I transferred the soul pathways of the charcoal fire beetle and calamity daughter core into the origin core. Then I used the soul pathways of the calamity daughter core to transform the origin core into a new calamity daughter core containing the soul pathway both of the charcoal fire beetle core and old calamity daughter core.

Then I identified soul pathways responsible for the variant charcoal exoskeleton growth in charcoal fire beetle. Isolating that particular soul pathway I add it to the Viltronian physique. And then I cut off the soul pathways related to the pyrokinesis ability of the charcoal fire beetle and added it to the soul pathways of calamity daughter core.

Done transferring the soul pathways of the variant charcoal exoskeleton growth and pyrokinesis ability of charcoal fire beetle to the soul pathways of calamity daughter core, I needed to find the soul pathway responsible for gender transform in charcoal fire beetle and optimise it to Sarah's requirement before adding it to the soul pathways of calamity daughter core.

Chapter 158: Named Calamity Daughter Core

Date- 25 Mar 2321

Time- 15:05

Location- Sky Blossom City, Guild Association Mall, Warehouse no.234

After optimising the gender transform soul pathway of the Charcoal fire beetle it was added to the soul pathways of the Calamity daughter core. Just then suddenly brilliant white holy light shone in the card room, I was no stranger to this phenomenon it was a demigod bestowal from fallen demigod Redfall. When a demigod dies they are both not termed as deceased but fallen because upon their death their divinity gets absorbed by the world which will watch over the followers of that particular demigod. Therefore even though the demigod Michael and demigod Redfall have fallen they can still bless their descendants and followers.

As the gentle white light filled the card lab my mind slowly immersed in it ready to receive the message it was going to transfer. 'Yin – Yang Dual body' was the ability demigod Redfall's divinity was willing to bestow upon Sarah. A skill that allowed its user to switch between two bodies of different gender, Yin body(Female) Yang body(Male). A perfect skill fitting Sarah's requirement. Rendering the gender transform ability I had added useless, thankfully 'Yin – Yang Dual body' skill made use of gender transformation soul pathway which I had added otherwise all my efforts for identifying and optimising the gender transformation soul pathways would be a waste of time.

Following the instructions transferred by the white light, I added the 'Yin – Yang Dual body' ability to calamity daughter core. I also noted down the markers on the soul pathways left by the bestowal using my soul pupils this way I will be able to recreate 'Yin – Yang Dual body' for anybody I want. Though I did not see much use for the 'Yin – Yang Dual body' ability I still benefited a lot from this bestowal I was able to clear some of the doubts I had while creating my own lesser version of the bestowal method. This card creation yielded a great harvest, I was able to further enhance my water-downed version of the bestowal method.

Now that all the ability related soul pathways from charcoal fire beetle had been transferred to calamity daughter core and the bestowed skill was also successfully added all that remained was morphing the origin core turned calamity daughter core to the card form. Morphing the core to card form I checked the card info,

[Card Name: Charcoal Fire Calamity Daughter Core

Card Type: Origin card

Card Rank: Unique Grade

Card Rate: -/-

Card Durability: -/-

Card Effect:

Type – Named Calamity Daughter core

1.Pyrokinesis – the subject gains the ability to control and manipulate fire elements.

2.Viltronian Physique – the subject has a similar physique to a Viltronian.

3.Immortal Core – The daughter core has abilities similar to a calamity parent core, it can nourish and protect the soul of the subject. As long as the core is not destroyed the subject will not die.

4.Body Restructure – The subject's flesh and blood have incorporated soul energy constructs to enhance the subject body's strength, agility, regeneration etc. Using this ability the host can switch between different transformations without the risk of losing the real form.

5.Named Calamity Daughter core (Charcoal Fire) – The Subject is bestowed with transformation ability by the calamity parent soul core.

Base Form – Calamity human core form.

Form one – Charcoal Fire Viltronian

Form Two – locked, conditions not met.

Unlock Form 2 for further transformations.

Additional skill – Hive AI

6. Charcoal exoskeleton growth – the subject can grow charcoal exoskeleton on its epidermis and its strength and durability are enhanced based on the subject's physique.

7. Soul energy manipulation – The subject gains abilities to absorb, store and emit soul energy in large quantities in his/her flesh and blood.

8. Bestowal 'Yin – Yang Dual body' – the subject gains the ability to switch between two bodies of different gender, Yin body(Female) Yang body(Male). A gift from Demigod Redfall to his daughter.]

Named Calamity daughter core, mutant version of calamity daughter core mutated based on the fated ingredient used to create it.

If not for my mutated soul and refined soul energy skills I would be envious of Sarah's Charcoal Fire Viltronian physique, which gave her a strong exoskeleton with flame defence and the ability to generate blazing flames and manipulate them with her thoughts.

Chris, Amanda, Maya and Van could not have a named calamity daughter core because they did not have a fated ingredient to enhance their calamity daughter core like Sarah.

After going through the card info I nodded in satisfaction and handed Sarah the card, "here's your origin card, hope it's to your liking."

"Done already I thought it was going to take at least half a day." Said Sarah as she took the origin card and began to go through card info. Which was bad news for me because if she read the name calamity daughter core and Hive AI info in detail my plans will be exposed so I advised her, "skip to the last skill that's what you asked for rest are the bonus skills."

"Okay... wow!" Sarah took my advice and skipped to the last skill, reading it she gasped in astonishment. This skill was more than what she asked for, no it is not a skill but a bestowal gifted to her by her father.

Sarah already knew that demigod Redfall was her father, Van had told her this to console her when she thought her free sexuality made her a freak and a deviant. This actually helped Sarah a lot to come to terms with her sexuality and desires.

Seeing the bestowal skill gifted to her by her father Sarah could no longer wait she hurriedly equipped the Charcoal Fire Calamity Daughter Core without a second thought. As soon as Sarah equipped the origin card her overjoyed expression became stiff and mechanical. Then she looked at me with eyes filled with worship, devotion and faith. Her eyes conveyed that she would do or believe anything that comes out of the mouth of the man standing in front of her.

Chapter 159: Elder's Tranquillity

Date- 25 Mar 2321

Time- 15:25

Location- Sky Blossom City, Guild Association Mall, Warehouse no.234

By the time I was done with Sarah's origin card, Van had already completed the two tasks I had assigned him.

"Master Wyatt, this is Pablo the only son of the late Raven guild leader Boris and this is Fred half brother of the late Sun Boar guild leader Mark. Fellows this is Master Wyatt the young and budding card creationist." Van Introduced me to the two people who will be representing and replacing the guild leaders of Sun Boar and Raven guild.

"Van, I am here to get my little brother's grimoire not fraternize. Now give me my brother's grimoire so I can leave already." Mouthed Fred glaring at Van.

"I am getting there, remember what I told you earlier. A way to increase the chances of inheriting your predecessor's origin card. Master Wyatt if you may." Explained Van as he requested me to take over.

During the massacre of Blue Blossom Lake field dungeon, knowing that they can not escape the guild leaders of Sun Boar and Raven guild entrusted their golden grimoires to Van so that he can pass the grimoires to their families. So that their families and loved ones will not end with their deaths.

Creating two calamity daughter cores I handed them each to Pablo and Fred, explained to them the cores usage, "Add this while you upgrade your grimoire, this increases the chances of inheriting your predecessor's origin card. Don't ask how and why, I don't know either."

"I do not believe such a miraculous thing exists but I trust Uncle Van." Pablo declared.

"Even though I was the eldest son my father chose Mark to inherit grandfather's grimoire and the guild because he knew I had a lesser chance of inheriting the Sun boar possession origin card. So I will try anything if I can inherit the origin card." Expressed Fred.

Van handed Pablo and Fred their respective golden grimoires. The duo then placed the calamity dungeon core and the golden grimoire on their grimoire card creation page and began upgrading their grimoires.

Pablo, Peak Card Master, Silver grimoire holder, zero origin cards.

Boris, Initial Card Lord, golden grimoire, one origin card – Immovable mountain.

Fred, Peak Card Grandmaster, Silver grimoire holder, one origin card – Elder's Tranquillity.

Mark, Initial Card Lord, golden grimoire, one origin card – Sun Boar possession.

Pablo and Fred successfully upgraded their grimoire to golden grades and were also able to inherit the origin cards of their predecessors.

Pablo's Immovable mountain origin card combined with calamity daughter core to form Unshakable calamity daughter core.

[Card Name: Unshakable Calamity Daughter Core

Card Type: Origin card

Card Rank: Unique Grade

Card Rate: -/-

Card Durability: -/-

Card Effect:

1.Unshakable – the subject and ally units within 50 meters are immune to all damages and debuffs when the subject is immobile.

2.Viltronian Physique – the subject has a similar physique to a Viltronian.

3.Immortal Core – The daughter core has abilities similar to a calamity parent core, it can nourish and protect the soul of the subject. As long as the core is not destroyed the subject will not die.

4.Body Restructure – The subject's flesh and blood have incorporated soul energy constructs to enhance the subject body's strength, agility, regeneration etc. Using this ability the host can switch between different transformations without the risk of losing the real form.

5.Named Calamity Daughter core (Unshakable) – The Subject is bestowed with transformation ability by the calamity parent soul core.

Base Form – Calamity human core form.

Form one – Unshakeable Viltronian

Form Two – locked, conditions not met.

Unlock Form 2 for further transformations.

Additional skill – Hive AI

6. Soul energy manipulation – The subject gains abilities to absorb, store and emit soul energy in large quantities in his/her flesh and blood.]

Fred's Sun Boar Possession combined with calamity daughter core to form Sun Boar Calamity daughter core.

[Card Name: Sun Boar Calamity Daughter Core

Card Type: Origin card

Card Rank: Unique Grade

Card Rate: -/-

Card Durability: -/-

Card Effect:

1. Sun Boar mane – the subject gains the mane of sun boar's mane which is as hot as the surface temperature of the sun.

2. Viltronian Physique – the subject has a similar physique to a Viltronian.

3. Immortal Core – The daughter core has abilities similar to a calamity parent core, it can nourish and protect the soul of the subject. As long as the core is not destroyed the subject will not die.

4. Body Restructure – The subject's flesh and blood have incorporated soul energy constructs to enhance the subject body's strength, agility, regeneration etc. Using this ability the host can switch between different transformations without the risk of losing the real form.

5. Named Calamity Daughter core (Unshakable) – The Subject is bestowed with transformation ability by the calamity parent soul core.

Base Form – Calamity human core form.

Form one – Were-Sun boar Viltronian

Form Two – locked, conditions not met.

Unlock Form 2 for further transformations.

Additional skill – Hive AI

6. Soul energy manipulation – The subject gains abilities to absorb, store and emit soul energy in large quantities in his/her flesh and blood.

7. Were-Sun-Boar – the subjects can physically transform into a sun boar and gain all the physical and elemental prowess of a sun boar.

Caution: Sun boar is literally a star that has taken a boar form upon gaining sentient, hence the name sun boar. ]

[Card Name: Elder's Tranquillity

Card Type: Origin card

Card Rank: Unique Grade

Card Rate: -/-

Card Durability: -/-

Card Effect: When active the host gains the inner peace and tranquillity of a wise elder and cultivating active soul control becomes easier for 3 hours per day.

Additional effect: all cards equipped by the user gain -1star card rating.]

Fuck! I could not help but curse seeing the card info of the Elder's tranquillity origin card of Fred. No wonder he was at peak of the card grandmaster realm even though he only had a silver grimoire. With the origin card which helps in the cultivation of the active soul control, he could easily break the cultivation restriction due to a lower grade grimoire.

It seems Pablo and Fred were stuck in their previous realm for too long as they broke through after upgrading their grimoire to golden grade. current, Pablo was an Initial Card grandmaster while Fred had stepped into the initial Card Lord realm. Now that all the pieces were prepared I could begin with my plans.