

Dark Ages 105

Chapter 105 - Giant rat flea

Giant mutant mice, killed together with the zombies, the two populations slaughtered each other.

Rats, after all, are flesh-and-blood creatures, while zombies are smelling flesh and blood, biting and killing the flesh and blood of mutant giant mice. Appetite allows these zombies to directly attack the giant mutant mice. Even a four-star giant cannot control these zombies Appetite.

“It’s okay ...” Seeing this, Qin Tiange looked relieved, but the next moment he suddenly mentioned that he seemed to have forgotten something important.

“Ah ... what is this?”

At this moment, the train sent a scream of screaming, someone fell to the ground, constantly struggling and tumbling, grabbing his own clothes with his hands and tearing, as if bitten by something.

It was a woman, a middle-aged woman, rolling back and forth on the ground, her expression extremely painful, as if she was itchy.

“What’s up with her?”

When I saw her like this, many people in the vicinity burst out and spread out with a look of horror. I didn’t understand what was going on, and didn’t dare to approach.

Outside the train, a giant mouse suddenly broke away from the group, instead of attacking the zombies, instead it came over to the crowd and rushed into the train.

“Close the door, stop ...” Moda looked so horrified that he drank it, and was slammed by two fists, shocking him.

I took a closer look and found that the two things that fluttered on him turned out to be terrible bugs, only the size of a fist, but very terrifying, even sucking human blood.

“This is ...” Qin Tiange’s complexion changed slightly. When he saw this thing, his pupils suddenly tightened, and he knew naturally what was in it.

It is a lice, a tiny creature that is parasitic on mice, cats and dogs. It can also be called a flea.

“Ah ... it’s a flea ...”

Finally, the crowd on the train screamed, and saw that there was a fist-sized lice in the hair on the outside of the mouse body, and they jumped into the train at once, pounced on the crowd and began to bite and * blood.

Flea flea, commonly known as lice, mostly parasitizes on the surface of mouse fur and feeds on blood for a living. This creature likes to parasitically * blood on the skin surface of the creature, and once bitten, the body will feel itching, even pain, and itching.

I saw a fist-sized lice jumping out and crawling into the train, and everyone panicked.

“Step on it, ah ... step on it!”

“Don’t bite me ...”

In the train, a group of ordinary people were apprehensive. Because they were bitten by a lice, the body immediately felt a severe itching sensation, and even a terrible lesion, and the skin began to swell.

The crowd was chaotic. Only the people wearing a full set of steel armor survived. Moda and others directly grasped the lice that jumped on them and pinched to death.

Click!

Qin Tiange reached out and grabbed a fist-sized lice that jumped, crushed it, and frowned unconsciously because outside the train, more and more lice jumped off and crawled, Into the train.

The speed and bouncing power of fleas are extremely powerful. Flea-sized fleas can jump a distance of ten meters, which is simply a jumping expert.

These creatures are parasitic on the body of the mouse. As the mutation becomes more terrible, the mutant mouse may be sucked into flesh by the fleas.

Of course, fleas generally don’t die on the spot by sucking all the blood of a mouse, but a little bit of sucking, as parasites parasitize the surface of mouse fur.

Now, when I see a large number of lice jumping up, many people start to panic, one by two and three climb to the body and start biting people to  blood.

“Close the train door, clean up the lice ...” Qin Tiange gave a vague expression and cursed, but had to order the door to be closed to clear the flea coming from the train.

As his voice fell, the panicked people in the carriage calmed down and started to act one by one, catching the lice that crawled in, trampled to death, and so on.

I soon got rid of the lice that had jumped in before, but many people were bitten to  blood, and the body skin became red and swollen and itchy.

“Ah ... it ... it tickles, I can’t stand it!”

A loud scream came, and the lice were killed, but those who had been bitten by the lice not only did not get better, but seemed more painful.

Ticks carry toxins in their bodies, which can cause itching effects on the body parts of the bite, and even cause skin lesions.

At the moment, those who have been bitten all roll on the spot, miserable back and forth in the train carriage, constantly grasping their body skin, getting more and more red and swollen, all catch bleeding.

Many people are afraid and dare not approach these bitten people, because the skin of these people’s body begins to have a red dot, with black, as if they are poisoned.

Qi Qin Tiange stepped forward quickly, frowning to check, and really found that these people were poisoned. He scolded in his heart, grabbed a lice that hadn't died yet, pinched it fiercely, clicked, and the blood on his stomach spit open.

“After these lice are mutated, the virus they carry is even more powerful. Once they are bitten, if they are not treated in time, they may cause the body to rot and die.” Qin Tiange's words were like the sound of a demon from hell, which made those bite Those who have passed are even more desperate.

“No, I don't want to die, please save us, save us ...” Some people couldn't help but lie directly at the feet of Qin Tiange for help.

I can't help it. Of the people here, maybe only Qin Tiange can save them.

Qi Qin Tiange helped the young man lying under his feet and comforted him: “Get up first, I naturally have a way to save you, you will not die.”

He said, he took out a washbasin, filled it with water, and poured a drop of turquoise liquid into it, which instantly blended into the diluted water of life.

Only the water mixed with the liquid of life can solve the toxins injected into the human body by these lice. Qin Tiange did not give up these bitten people.

At least this group of people followed him and even performed well along the way, and will help some people to do their best. There is no big problem in saving a rescue, and it can gather the team's centripetal force.

Uh ...!

Suddenly there was a sound of broken glass, followed by a scream of horror. The crowd turned wild and looked up suddenly. It turned out that the car window was broken by a giant mouse and it directly bit a middle-aged person.

“Ah ...” The middle-aged man screamed, but was quickly bitten by the giant mouse and clicked, his head fell off.

That mutant mouse, scarlet eyes, full of magical violent killings, rushed in and killed a middle-aged man in one bite.

When I saw this, Qin Tiange was furious, but he didn't take any action, and Moda, who was there, took the lead in screaming and raising his sword.

“Animals, die!” Moda roared, with a fierce split, a flutter, the light of the sword, the huge rat's head fell down.

Outside the train, a crowd of mice surrounded the train. Some giant mice even hit the train, and many windows were broken.

Not only that, but some zombies moved by the wind. In addition to attacking the giant mice beside them, they even tapped the train window, which scared everyone in the seat.

“Why not start yet?”

Looking at the situation outside, Qin Tiange himself was anxious, thinking secretly anxiously, why has the train not started yet?

He thought, is there a problem? The train captain is protected by ten people with Qiqi. There should be no problem, but why hasn't it been moving for so long?

“Morda, Liu Yan, you hold the train, I'll go and see.” Qin Tiange felt uneasy, could not sit still, immediately turned around and ran quickly towards the train cockpit.
