

166 Chapter 166

"You're right, I should compensate you because I got so busy with work today," Henry said. "I should've abandoned my million dollar business deal so I will be by your side whenever you feel like it, right?" 1

Henry's voice had a hint of sarcasm in it, but Erin didn't even catch it. 4

"That's right! You need to be by my side whenever I want, Mr. Grant!" Erin said. "I'm your girl, right? That means I'm far more important than anything in this world for you!"

Henry's lips twitched.

"The audacity of this bitch is staggering," he thought. He was trying to calm himself down so he wouldn't snap, but he got annoyed when he saw Kate holding her laugh on the other side of their bed.

The phone was on loudspeaker, so she could hear Erin's voice as well, and Kate kept that amused look while Henry was suffering right now.

"Look, Miss Ross, I'm sorry that I can't accompany you today. I was so busy that I couldn't even check my phone," Henry said. "But I'm free tomorrow, and I will make it up for you."

"How are you going to make it up for me, Mr. Grant?" Erin asked with her baby voice. "You know, Ewin is bewwy huwttt." 4

"Ugh—" 3

Henry comically fell on his knees when Erin mimicked how a baby talked. 4

"Pfft—" Kate couldn't hold her laugh, so she rushed to the bathroom and closed the door to laugh her ass out without making it suspicious for Erin.

"Mr. Grant?" Erin frowned when she heard that Henry seemed to be hurting. "What's wrong? Did something happen to you?"

"I—It's nothing, Miss Ross. I just tripped and fell," Henry said. He was cringing from head to toe and became physically weak after hearing Erin's baby voice. 3

He had never felt like this before.

Who would've expected Erin's baby voice to be ten times more potent against Henry? He preferred getting into a bloody fistfight over listening to that baby voice one more time. 3

"Oh, okay then, be careful Mr. Grant, I don't want my man to get hurt!" Erin said.

"A—Anyway, I promised that I will compensate you, so how about a special dinner with me tomorrow?" Henry said. "I can't accompany you to the mall because I have things to do in the morning, but we can have a romantic dinner in a cabin, only the two of us, if you know what I mean."

Erin's eyes widened. She got excited thinking that she'd get more money, "Mr. Grant, since you can't accompany me to the mall tomorrow morning, then will you send me money again?"

"Yes, I will send you another twenty thousand dollars," Henry said.

Erin was a little disappointed.

She expected Henry to give her a hundred thousand at least as compensation. 1

But if she begged him for more right now, he might see her as a greedy woman. 1

So she said, "Thank you so much, Mr. Grant! Then I will go shopping before dinner. I want to look ab-so-lute-ly stunning for you!"

"Good, my men will escort you to the cabin where we're going to have dinner together, we will also spend our night together while staring at the northern light. It will be beautiful." 2

Erin began to imagine all the hot sex she would get after dinner.

It had been a while since she had sex.

The last time she had one was with Matt, and Matt's two-inch wonder was barely functional, so she wanted the real thing.

The big gun that would fill her pussy completely.

"I can't wait to spend a night with you, Mr. Grant!"

"Me too, Miss Ross," Henry said. "You should rest now. It's already late and I know you're tired."

"Okay, wuv you so much, wuvv-wuvv!" 2

Beep.

—

Henry felt sick in his stomach when he heard Erin continue using that baby voice. He was so disgusted that he lost his appetite instantly. 3

Kate walked out of the bathroom and laughed loudly, "HAHAHAHAHA! OH MY GOD, THAT'S SO GROSS!"

"It's not funny, Kate," Henry said bitterly. "I'm trying my best not to cringe to death just now." 1

Kate snickered. She tried to hold her laugh and approached Henry, kneeling defeatedly on the floor.

She kneeled before him and said, "I know. Thank you so much for your hard work, Henry. Only one more day before we can throw that bitch away." 1

Henry nodded, "Just one more day and we will be free from her torment."

Kate smiled and added, "Though, I still have one thing to do before we ditch her."

"What thing? Is there something missing within our plan?"

"No, nothing is missing, this is just my way to make sure that my mother won't ask about Erin anymore. Just like what I told you before, Erin will disappear without people knowing."

★★

Erin had a great morning despite what happened yesterday.

She checked her bank account and saw another twenty thousand dollars.

"Ah, twenty thousand is too low," Erin complained. "But it's alright. I can ask for a million dollars after we have sex tonight." 1

She went to the mall and tried her best to spend it all. 3

The mall in this city wasn't as big as the one in Toronto, and not all the luxury brands had a store here, so she had to spend the money buying clothes from cheaper brands.

But of course, she just purchased it, tried it once, and took a pic with it before tossing it away. She didn't want to return to the hotel wearing cheap stuff. 1

But she still felt happy to waste all of Henry's money. It felt liberating to waste away all the money he had just for shopping.

She only bought one winter jacket because she thought Henry would warm her up with his hot rod anyway, so there was no need to buy some ugly winter jackets! 3

Erin ended her shopping spree by sipping her favorite mocha drink in Starbucks. She was scrolling through all the pictures she got after the shopping spree, "Hmm, which one to post on Instagram, choice, choice~."

As she was enjoying her time, her phone suddenly rang, and her eyes peered suspiciously when she saw the caller ID:

Barren Bitch is Calling... 2