175 Chapter 175

Erin was frustrated and began to get desperate as the cold was too much for her to bear. 1

Unfortunately, she couldn't find a single winter jacket in her luggage. It was all a bunch of useless branded bags and shoes.

The only saving grace she had was a bunch of expensive sexy dresses she had prepared for her blissful sex life with Henry. 1

Erin gritted her teeth, knowing she wouldn't survive this cold. She quickly pulled out all of her sexy dresses and covered her body from head to toe with it. She didn't even care if she had to tear them apart. All she needed right now was warmth so she wouldn't die from hypothermia! 4

Erin wore one of her shoes and used all her branded bags to cover any part of her exposed body. She then pulled the bed sheet and covered herself with it to get even more warmth because it wasn't enough. 1

All she needed right now was a winter jacket, a thick one, instead of whatever dresses and bags she had right now.

She then grabbed the phone from the floor and sat beside the fireplace to warm herself up.

Her body was shaking, but she was trying her best to survive.

"Please, there must be something I can do," Erin murmured. "I hope there is a reception, so I can call... call the cops or something. I don't want to die here!"

Erin turned on the phone, and her hope was soon squashed when she realized Henry had given her a phone without a sim card, thus stopping her from calling anyone. 1

In fact, there were not even any useful apps, and the phone battery was only ten percent. It was only enough for her to watch whatever video Kate had prepared.

"Fuck! Fuck!" Erin kept cursing as the cold was too much for her. She got desperate and tried to scroll through anything on the phone just to find help.

Ultimately, she knew this phone's sole use was for her to watch the video.

Erin gritted her teeth. She was so angry at Kate for being so fucking vile to her even though she had been nothing but a good sister to Kate. 2

Thus, she opened the video and watched it.

—Video—

Erin saw Kate sitting on a luxurious red sofa, the same sofa used for all the expensive suites in the hotel in Toronto before.

It was proof that Henry wasn't lying when he said he was staying with Kate the whole time during the Canada and Greenland trip.

Kate smiled at the camera and said, "Hi, Sister. I hope that you're in good health the moment you watch this video, because I truly don't want you to die before suffering on that cold deserted island."

"You must be wondering, why am I cruel enough to plan out the whole thing, including tricking you into believing that Henry is in love with you to the point that he's willing to fire me."

"Well, the reason is simple, it's because I want to get rid of you and your toxicity out of my life," Kate looked down and rubbed her slightly bulging belly. "You see, I am currently pregnant. Yes, pregnant—with a real baby. I had a one-night-stand with none other than Henry Grant, the man that you think loves you so much."

"I am currently pregnant with his baby after just one night," Kate couldn't help but chuckle a bit and added, "So you now know that all this time, the problem is not with me. It's Matt with his micropenis and weak swimmer that can't even knock me up for five years straight." 1

Erin's eyes widened. She didn't believe what she heard just now.

Matt was the infertile one this whole time?

But all this time, Erin and the rest of her family always believed that Kat was the infertile one!

After all, the problem of failed pregnancy was always on the woman's side! 4

Erin also couldn't believe that THE Henry Grant was actually the one who knocked her up, not some random ruffian or a homeless man on the streets of Los Angeles!

"No, no way! How could that be!? Why can't it be me!" Erin yelled as she got angry and frustrated. She had dreamed of becoming Henry's wife, having his baby, and using that baby to get everything she wanted.

And now, her ugly sister robbed all of her dreams!

"I've always been tolerant of you, Erin. You've been a huge bitch since you were a child, but I thought you will grow out of it eventually," Kate said. "But once I realized that your bullying has only gotten worse, to the point that you keep endangering our Mom's health and putting me under so much emotional stress, I realized that I have to kick you out of my life for the sake of my baby."

"So I concocted a plan to make you think that you have it all, until you agreed to call Mom and tell her that you're just fine," Kate chuckled. "Now she will think that you are living a great life with your man. She will think that you don't want her to call anymore, and I will continue to fool her until her timely death."

"Oh, I know you're thinking that I've robbed you out of your dream to marry Henry, right? Well, let me show you something," Kate then looked to her left and smiled as the tall and handsome man approached her.

Henry leaned and kissed Kate on the forehead and sat right next to her on the sofa. They were both staring at the camera, smiling maliciously at Erin.

"Wake up, Erina Ross, Henry has never been into you the whole time. In fact, he's the one who always voiced out his disgust about you,"

Kate said. Her voice was cold and held a lot of hostility. "This is your end, my dear little sister. It's sad that we've come to this point, but your life is worth less compared to my baby's life. So enjoy your stay there until you die out of cold, or went insane because of the isolation."

Henry scoffed, adding, "I hope you rot in that cold hell, skank."
