177 Chapter 177

Kate poured the warm tea she just brewed into her glass. She preferred wine for this beautiful night, but she was pregnant and wanted ZERO harm for her baby. 1

People might call her paranoid, but this baby was the miracle baby that Kate had wished to have for years. So she would not let anyone or anything hurt it.

She walked across the wooden cabin barefoot, only wearing the lingerie that she bought to surprise Henry by the time that man entered the cabin.

It was warm in this cabin because the heater was on, so Kate didn't need to worry about feeling cold wearing thin gauze.

In fact, this cabin was very luxurious and spacious, complete with all the amenities, 24-hour food service, and also a voice activated google home assistant. 2

She sat on a sofa that faced the big window.

Kate sipped the tea while staring at the beautiful northern light. She marveled at how the colors of the aurora seemed to mesh together in perfect harmony. She scoffed as she found herself ridiculous, "Why am I talking about harmony and stuff, when I'm staying in this cabin, waiting for my man to destroy my own little sister."

Kate sighed.

"I don't want things to end like this. But Erin is beyond saving, she will ruin me if I don't ruin her first," Kate murmured. She tried to find all kinds of justification, but in the end, she accepted that she was also at fault for Erin's behavior. 1

Kate spoiled Erin rotten to compensate for the damage she caused to the family. Despite it being morally right, she still robbed a little girl out of her father. 1

But it turned her into a huge bitch who felt entitled to everything in this world. She thought she could get away with everything because Erin and their Mom had been excusing her behavior for years.

Kate looked down and gently rubbed her slightly bulging belly. She planned to begin having a pregnancy check-up after this. She would have to do it at least once a month for the first trimester, then twice per month until she had to do it every week for the final trimester.

"My baby, don't worry about everything, Mommy will protect you, no matter what," Kate murmured.

She smiled as she imagined holding her baby for the first time. 1

"I wonder if you'll look like me, or your baby daddy," Kate chuckled as she thought that small version of Henry would be so cute.

Kate's smile slowly dissipated as she remembered Henry again.

She would be lying if she said she had no worries about him.

He was eight years younger than her. He is very handsome and rich, with a charming personality that would definitely hook many women in the future.

She could swear his oath of fidelity so many times, but that wouldn't change the fact he could just grow bored and walk away.

"And if he leaves..."

Kate imagined the situation for a moment and then shook her head quickly. She didn't want to cling too hard to someone because she knew she'd lose him in the end.

Ultimately, Kate used the voice assistant to play a song that befitted her mood while waiting for Henry to arrive.

**

[Song Recommendation: Whitney Houston - I Have Nothing.]

It took a while for the helicopter to land. Henry jumped out of the helicopter and ran back to his car, ignoring all of his subordinates, who were surprised by his rush. 1

Henry drove his car to the cabin where Kate was staying right now. He stopped quickly once he reached the front door.

He stared at the door for a while, taking a few deep breaths to calm himself down, and then opened the door.

The first thing he saw was Kate, who leaned on the sofa, watching the northern light with a cup of tea in her hand. She was wearing sexy purple lingerie. The lingerie was thin, almost transparent even, which boosted her allure even more.

Henry had never seen her wearing something so sultry, and the fact that she stretched her legs lazily got him riled up.

Henry quickly closed the door so nobody, not even a passing animal, could see the beauty he would enjoy tonight.

"I'm home, Kitty," Henry announced his arrival. He removed his jacket, scarf, and jeans, wearing only a thin black shirt and briefs. "Erin is done for, and I'm here to collect my reward," he added to assure her.

Kate finally turned her head towards Henry and had a thin smile on her face, "Thank you so much, Henry. Come here, you can collect your reward now."

Henry was eager at first. He had been thinking about Kate the whole time and that he would finally get what he wanted. He had been enduring jacking off for so long. It was time to release all of his pent-up frustration.

But he soon changed his mind when he noticed that Kate had a trace of melancholy hidden beneath her sultry grin and gaze.

He soon realized that a song was playing from the speaker in the cabin, and it was that classic love song. I Have Nothing on repeat.

He didn't know if this was just a coincidence or if Kate had something to say, but he didn't want to hurt her no matter what.

So he approached her carefully and picked her up gently. He sat on the sofa and allowed Kate to sit on his lap.

He wrapped his arms around Kate's waist but did nothing after that.

~Take my love

I'll never ask for too much

Just all that you are

And everything that you do.~

The silence between them got Kate a bit uncomfortable. She thought that Henry would just ravage her without thinking twice.

"W—What are you waiting for, Henry? Just do me already," Kate said.

"I won't do anything to you until you tell me what's weighing your mind," he replied. He tightened his arms around her and asked, "What's wrong, Kitty?" 3