

Deep Affection 911

Chapter 911 Mom Doesn't Know Him

When the Shi family arrived at the island, they heard a lot of discussions in the airport.

There were two points of view in the discussion. One was that Michelle was a perfect match for Leon, and then they sent their blessings with tears.

The other one was that Michelle didn't deserve it. They thought Michelle was just a cousin of the Nangong clan and didn't come from a rich family. They thought her career didn't match the Lu clan ...

All people were worldly. But they only discussed it in these two angles.

Nina was fed up with it.

However, all Michelle's efforts over the years were not in vain. Most of the people wished her happiness.

Scher Mountain had already been decorated with festive decorations. The official media and guests came in flocks.

Today's security check was particularly strict. If they wanted to get to Scher Mountain, they had to drive over the elevated bridge or take a ship. And today, no ship was allowed to park in the sea area ten miles around the mountain, and no vehicle was allowed to cross the bridge.

guilty conscience and quickly looked away. She greeted to Bruce, Anne, Van and Don with a smile. Then he asked the two kids.

"Sound, who is the little boy next to you?" Vicente didn't dare to look into her son's clean eyes. She forced a smile.

Sound held Sampson's hand and said in a low voice, "Sampson, he is family."

"Family ?" what?

Sound repeated in a low voice, "My Sampson."

"I see." Seeing that the two kids were on good terms, the smile on Vicente's face gradually softened. She finally looked at Sampson and said, "Sampson, you can continue to play with Sound."

Then Vicente left with Jerry.

She didn't know what to do because of her son's sudden appearance in C Island. She walked faster. Jerry, who was six years old, couldn't keep up with her, so she bent down and picked up the child.

She left in a hurry.

"What happened to Vicente?" "He looks like a ghost chasing after him," said Bruce.

Anne played with the child and didn't notice that.

The group of people took a few steps forward. Suddenly, Sampson turned to look at the direction where Vicente had left. Since Vicente had turned a corner and gone far, Sampson was left staring after her.

Sampson opened his mouth and murmured, "Mom."

He recognized her.

That was his mother, but her mother didn't know him and hugged other children.
