

Deeply 1001

1001 I want a divorce immediately (1)

Su Wanwan frowned slightly and couldn't help but say: "Niannian, what's wrong?"

The other end of the phone buzzed and it was a little noisy. PEI Munian's voice was mixed in with the noise and she sounded confused. the car seems to be in a daze.

However, before he could finish his sentence, an even noisier and more piercing sound came from the other side. It sounded like the sound of a car making a sharp turn and the sound of tires rubbing against the ground.

Su Wanwan couldn't help but feel anxious when she heard this, and her tone became nervous. niannian, what's wrong? " What's wrong with the car?"

PEI Munian said that he had just left the old residence and was going to the airport, but assistant Wu had already gone back to the villa to help him pack his luggage. Did that mean that assistant Wu had driven his car away? Was PEI Munian driving her car now?

Her car did seem to have a small problem. She was going to send it for maintenance, but it was fine the last time she drove it. There was no big problem.

"Niannian, hurry up and say something?"

"There's no Zhenzhen."

The man's voice sounded again, but this time, he only said one word when a huge crash came from the phone. Su Wanwan's Black eyes suddenly widened and her whole person was stunned.

"What, what happened? Niannian! Niannian, Qianqian, answer me, niannian!"

However, PEI Munian no longer responded. There was only a violent explosion on the other side. Su Wanwan's face suddenly turned pale. What happened to niannian? Did she get into a car accident?

No, it can't be. How can it be?

She almost screamed at the other end of the phone, but the call was hung up very quickly. Only the cold beeping sound was left in her ears. Su Wanwan's whole body trembled fiercely, and the blood in her body seemed to have frozen. She was stunned for a second before she suddenly turned around and rushed into the hospital. She grabbed a nurse who was passing by without caring about anything. Her voice was extremely hoarse, with extreme trembling, and she almost couldn't speak, " someone was in a car accident. Go and save the person, quickly get the ambulance to save the person!

"What?" The nurse who was grabbed looked confused. miss, calm down and explain clearly. Where did the accident happen? " it's from the mountainside area, the road to the airport. There's a car accident. Hurry up and send a car over, hurry!

ah, miss, don't worry. We need to confirm the information, Zhenzhen.

“I told you to hurry up, hurry up!”

Su Wanwan shouted a little crazily. The nurse saw her pale and bloodless face and knew that she probably didn’t lie. Her expression also became nervous and she said, “I’ll contact the head nurse immediately.”

When su Wanwan set off with the ambulance, there were already passers-by who called the hospital and told them the exact location of the accident. Su Wanwan sat in the car, her whole body cold. Her hands were twisted together hard, and her fingertips were white.

She couldn’t stop nagging. Niannian would be fine. Niannian would definitely be fine. He had promised her that when he came back from Beijing, he would take her out for a good meal. He wouldn’t go back on his word. He wouldn’t!

The scene of the accident was a mess.

As soon as su Wanwan got out of the car, she saw from afar that her red car had flipped over on the other side of the guardrail. The car had traces of burning and PEI Munian was half stuck in the car, lying on the ground and covered in blood.

Before she could run over, her legs had already gone soft. She couldn’t believe what she had seen.