

Deeply 1050

1050 Why is she here?(4)

Su Wanwan went back to the hotel and called Shen Ziwei to tell him that everything was going well. She also knew about PEI Munian's situation and made him feel at ease. The most important thing was that he must help her keep an eye on Xi Zhiwei and inform her immediately if there was any movement.

Shen Ziwei could not help but laugh. you're better off with PEI Munian who's been watching over you with all her heart. After hearing what you said, I feel that things aren't as simple as they seem. It's a pity that I can't leave. Otherwise, I'd really like to accompany you. Be careful and don't get bullied again."

"Don't worry, I'm not that easy to bully. I'll take good care of myself."

After hanging up the phone, su Wanwan lay on the bed and stared at the White ceiling. Thinking of PEI Munian's appearance, her heart couldn't help but ache.

This car accident had left him on the verge of death, but she had not been able to stay by his side. Even if she had no choice, she still felt guilty.

When people were weak, they would often hope that the person they loved deeply would be by their side. When she woke up from her surgery, it was also PEI Munian who stayed by her side and accompanied her. That was why she could recover so quickly.

However, niannian, don't worry, I'll be by your side soon!

Su Wanwan muttered and her black eyes looked at the phone screen. PEI Munian's photo on the screensaver had already been changed to a photo they took in the Maldives. He was behind her, she had one hand around his neck and the other hand held the phone high. She shouted the word "eggplant" and then with a click, she took a photo.

Su Wanwan's fingers slowly slid across the man's face, and the corners of her lips unconsciously rose. Then, she put the phone to her heart and slowly closed her eyes.

Su Wanwan originally thought that she wouldn't be able to sleep, but her heart was at ease. Her mind was filled with PEI Munian and she fell asleep unconsciously. When she regained consciousness again, the sky outside the window was already bright.

The sun shone in at an angle, mischievously shining on her eyelids. Su Wan's long curly eyelashes trembled and she slowly opened her eyes.

Su Wanwan's blurred eyes gradually became clear. Then, she suddenly sat up from the bed.

She quickly grabbed her phone and glanced at it. She didn't expect it to be past 10 in the morning. Oh my God, it was so late!

Su Wanwan composed herself, her fingers moved on the screen, quickly found ning Jingting's mobile number and dialed it. The beeping sound rang in her ear, but no one picked up.

Su Wanwan frowned and dialed a few times, but no one picked up and the call was automatically hung up.

She thought for a moment and decided not to continue making calls. Instead, she opened her text message and composed a text message: [Jingting, do you still remember me? [I'm su Wanwan, PEI Munian's wife. Due to some reasons, I can't contact PEI Munian now. I saw you visiting PEI Munian in the ward. Can you do me a favor? help me tell mu Nian that I'm in the United States now and ask him to find a way to contact me.]

After a pause, she added, " [I'll turn on my phone 24/7 and wait for him.]

After the text message was sent out, su Wanwan didn't wait in the hotel. She lifted the quilt, got up, walked into the bathroom, and quickly washed up. After changing her clothes, she picked up her bag and went to the hospital.

Perhaps she could find an opportunity to go into the ward to see PEI Munian. In that case, she wouldn't have to trouble others.

He didn't expect that