

Deeply 1079

1079 Karma will come (1)

yes, Miss Xi. The doctor has already announced his death. When the man was sent to the hospital, there were no signs of life. No one was able to save him.

Xi Zhiwei's tensed heart finally relaxed. She hung up the phone and threw it back onto the sofa.

She stood up and slowly walked to the window. Looking at the night sky outside, she closed her eyes, but the smile on her lips did not diminish.

He couldn't blame her. He was too greedy and insatiable. She had already given him so much money, but he still blackmailed her again and again. So she could only let him hold the money and never speak again.

She had treated him quite well. She had given him almost two-thirds of her savings. He loved money so much, so it would be easier for him to walk the road to the underworld.

However, it was still a human life. Xi Zhiwei's hands could not help but tremble and her body felt cold.

She did not want to take such a risk, but she had no choice. She had finally gotten to marry PEI Munian and be his wife. Hence, she would not allow any unstable factors to exist.

So what if it was risky? Wasn't it a risk when she treated ning Jingting?

However, she was so lucky. God was looking after her. With just a little trick, she could make Mrs. PEI's impression of ning Jingting drop and make her lean towards her again. She could get rid of this insatiable man with just a finger.

Su Wanwan was even more convinced that she and PEI Munian would never have any more interactions.

She had successfully chased away all the women around PEI Munian. From now on, she would be the only one left by his side. Everything she had given and persevered for was finally paying off.

As Xi Zhiwei thought about it, her smile grew deeper and finally, she could not hold back her laughter.

In the remaining three days, everything would be settled. She had a long way to go in the future.

Su Wanwan walked out of the hospital. The cold wind outside was blowing and her body unconsciously shivered.

Unknowingly, he had been busy until four in the morning.

The detective followed her out and saw su Wanwan's tired face. He said, " "Miss su, I'll send you home first."

"Alright, I'll have to trouble you."

After sitting in the car, su Wanwan leaned against the back of the chair. Her body was very tired, but her brain was still working at high speed. Did Xi Zhiwei really kill someone on purpose?

Did she know that the car's brakes were broken, or did she not know that the car's brakes were broken, so she let that man drive away? It was as if she did not know that there was a problem with her car at that time, so she accidentally let PEI Munian drive?

But how could it be so coincidental?

Besides, she didn't notice that although there was a problem with her car, it wasn't a problem with the brakes. Later on, it became a problem with the brakes.

Also, it was Xi Zhiwei who pointed out the problem with her car.

That's right, she wasn't the only one who knew that her car had a problem. That day, when Xi Zhiwei had chased after her, didn't she also see that her car had a problem?

Then, her car couldn't have been broken by Xi Zhiwei, right? Just like this time, she also deliberately broke the brakes of her car and let the man drive it. Was her purpose to kill him to silence him? So that he would never be able to say the bad things she had done?
