Chapter 144 I want to live happily with you (14)

Su Wanwan was stunned on the spot until PEI Munian and Xi Zhiwei left the company, got into the car, and slammed the door, waking her up.

She thought of PEI Munian's expression and his words just now, and her heart sank.

She wanted to know what went wrong. The last call between her and PEI Munian a week ago was so sweet. He had called her his wife, said that he missed her, and told her to come home earlier.

Su Wanwan tried hard to recall if she had unintentionally done something wrong and made PEI Munian angry again. However, Wanwan had been in A city for the entire week, separated from him. He didn't even pick up her phone, so how could she have provoked him?

After much thought, the only possibility was that Grandpa had revealed their marriage on his own during Wanwan's dinner party that day, and she had even called him because of that.

Perhaps, he knew about this and knew that she was using him, so he was angry with her.

However, of the people present that day, only she, Grandpa, and uncle du knew about it. How could PEI Munian possibly know? He didn't even see the message she sent!

For a moment, su Wanwan's mind was in a mess. She couldn't sort out her thoughts. She shook her head and simply didn't think about it. No matter what happened to PEI Munian, she had to get him back.

As long as he had feelings for her, she would have confidence.

No matter how cold he was, she had already endured it. She would not be afraid this time!

When su Wanwan chased after her, PEI Munian's car had already left quickly. She quickly hailed a taxi, sat in it, and said to the driver, "Help me follow the car in front!"

The driver glanced at it and was put in a difficult position. miss, how can my car catch up with the car in front? that's a sports car that's worth tens of millions.

Su Wanwan didn't say anything and directly took out her wallet. She opened it, took out a stack of hundred Yuan bills from inside, and handed them all to him. Sir, please.

The master's eyes lit up, and he immediately nodded. sure, no problem!

PEI Munian's car sped all the way and su Wanwan's car followed behind with difficulty. Fortunately, she was able to keep up by a hair's breadth until the car stopped at the gate of dynasty.

PEI Munian alighted from the car and threw the keys to the valet before walking straight for the main entrance. Xi Zhiwei alighted from the car and followed from behind, reaching out to hold PEI Munian's arm again.

PEI Munian glanced at Xi Zhiwei and smiled. Weiwei, I'm a married man. Aren't you afraid that something will happen to a popular actress like you who is holding onto me like this? "

Xi Zhiwei knew what PEI Munian meant by 'something bad'. Wasn't it just being photographed by the paparazzi and making a big deal out of it?

But why would she be afraid? She couldn't wait to make a big deal out of PEI Munian!

Xi Zhiwei's cheeks blushed slightly with a touch of shyness and she said softly, brother mu Nian, you and su Wanwan didn't announce your marriage. You're still a golden Bachelor. Besides, even if Wanwan announced it, I don't mind. I don't mind anything for you.

PEI Munian's lips twitched and she smiled. Her dark eyes scanned Xi Zhiwei's shy face for a while before she opened her mouth and said rudely, "you don't mind, but I do!
