

Deeply 194

Chapter 194 Walking on thin ice in happiness (4)

All this time, it was su Wanwan who chased after PEI Munian and shouted that she liked him, but he never said that he liked her, so she was always unable to be sure if she was in his heart.

She really wanted to hear him say something, something that he truly wanted to say.

The Ferris wheel rose higher and higher, but su Wanwan had already forgotten her fear. All her attention was focused on PEI Munian, nervously waiting for his answer.

PEI Munian's Black eyes fixed on su Wanwan. Looking at that beautiful face and her expectant look, his eyes became affectionate little by little. A second before the Ferris wheel rose to the highest point, PEI Munian finally opened her mouth. He said, " su Wanwan, I don't like you.

The light at the bottom of su Wanwan's eyes was like a falling star, quickly losing its light.

As expected, ran ran, was she overthinking?

PEI Munian had promised to live well with her not because she liked her, but because she felt responsible, right?

However, in the next second, when the Ferris wheel reached its highest point, PEI Munian's deep and pleasant voice rang out again. but I love you.

It was rumored that when the Ferris wheel reached its highest point, one would be blessed by the gods if they confessed to their lover. This pair of lovers would live happily ever after.

He had never believed in God, but at this moment, he was praying devoutly, hoping that God would hear his wish and let him be with the girl he loved forever.

As soon as his words fell, PEI Munian pulled su Wan, who was still in a daze, and kissed her lips. His hand held su Wan's hand and interlocked his fingers with hers.

The Ferris wheel slowly returned to its original place. PEI Munian let go of su Wan. Seeing that she was still in a daze, his fingers gently slid su Wanwan's nose and he said hoarsely, " "We're here, we should go down."

Su Wanwan blinked and blinked again. She suddenly reached out and grabbed PEI Munian's arm. PEI Munian, what did you say just now? say it again.

PEI Munian gave su Wanwan a side glance, smiled, and answered smoothly, " I said I don't like you.

"Not this, the last sentence!"

"What did I say after that? I've forgotten."

".....?" Su Wanwan stomped her feet. how can you forget? you said you loved me.

PEI Munian's smile deepened. did I say that? "

"Of course you did!"

"If that's the case, then I'll say it."

".....?"

He was the one who confessed, so why did it seem like she was the one forcing him to confess?

"PEI Munian, you, say that again!"

"It's going to get dark if you don't leave now. Do you want to spend the night here?"

"PEI Munian, don't go! Come back! I'll leave after I say I love you!"

On the way home, su Wanwan kept pestering PEI Munian unwillingly, asking him to say those three words to her again. Just now on the Ferris wheel, she was so shocked that she didn't hear it clearly. This was the first time PEI Munian confessed to her! How could it just disappear like that?

However, no matter how su Wanwan threatened and tempted, PEI Munian was unwilling to speak again. After returning home, PEI Munian was annoyed by su Wanwan's pestering. She directly picked her up, threw her on the bed, and then pressed her down.

Rather than saying that he preferred to do it, he would give her as much love as she wanted.

—

The next day, su Wanwan got up with a backache and couldn't help but secretly curse PEI Munian. He was really too despicable, using this kind of method to make her unable to ask anything.

She got up and suddenly felt something under her, and her eyes turned cold.