243 The peacemaker (3)

Su Wanwan looked at the main road in front of her with teary eyes. In her mind, for a moment, a terrible thought flashed.

If Yueyue just drove the car out like that, would she be free? From then on, she was free from everything. She didn't have to care about the company, her grandfather, PEI Munian, or anyone else. She was free to do what she wanted to do. She could cry and laugh whenever she wanted to. When she was sad, she didn't need to tell others that she wasn't sad. When she was sad, she didn't need to smile and say that she was fine. This was great, Wanwan.

Su Wanwan thought about it, started the engine, and slowly stepped on the accelerator.

The car drove straight ahead.

The speed turned from slow to fast. There was a crossroad in front and a big truck was driving over from the left. On su Wanwan's side, there was already a yellow light warning and the red light would soon turn on.

Su Wanwan's speed didn't slow down at all. Instead, it became faster and faster!

The red light here turned on, and the green light turned on at the intersection on the left. The big truck drove toward the intersection.

Su Wan's hands held the steering wheel tightly. Her black eyes were wide open, as if she was bewitched. It was as if if she could really drive over like this and she could really be freed from this painful abyss.

At the critical moment, her phone suddenly rang.

Su Wanwan was startled by the ringing. Seeing that her car was about to hit the big truck in front of her, her survival instinct drove her to reflexively release the accelerator and step on the brake!

The car stopped quickly. The tires rubbed against the ground and made an extremely harsh sound. Because of inertia, su Wanwan's body fiercely swooped forward and her head hit the steering wheel. She was in so much pain that cold sweat suddenly burst out.

However, this pain also made su Wan sober up.

What was she trying to do just now? She actually wanted Qingqing to drive her car out just like that? She, was she crazy?

Su Wanwan's hands suddenly let go of the steering wheel. A chill emerged on her back and she couldn't help but feel scared.

If the car was really knocked out and something happened to her, what would happen to Grandpa? What about the company? Could she really leave all this behind and not care?

Perhaps she had once envied her sister's carefreeness, but she would never learn from her sister.

Her parents were gone, and so was her sister, but the SU family's Yueyue still needed someone to support her. If she fell, the SU family would really be destroyed in her hands. She couldn't do it, she couldn't!

Her phone kept ringing. Su Wanwan picked up her phone and looked at it. It was her grandfather.

She wiped the cold sweat from her forehead and calmed her wildly beating heart. She took a deep breath and answered the call. Grandpa.

"Wanwan, did you find PEI Munian? How did your discussion go? Will he let concubine su go?" Su Zhenhua's anxious voice came from the other end of the phone, and he asked one question after another.

Su Wanwan's voice suddenly became hoarse.

Grandfather was still waiting for her good news, but she had not been able to bring it back. Grandfather had placed all his hopes on her, so how could she bear to tell him this cruel truth?

Su Wanwan's hand suddenly grabbed her phone tightly. Her lips trembled and she licked her dry lips. In a low voice, she spat out word by word slowly, "Grandpa, I, I didn't get to see PEI Munian, but don't worry, I will stay at the PEI family corporation. I will definitely see him.
