Su Wanwan blinked her beautiful big eyes and her eyes were a little sore. dad, mom, sister, if only you were all here, ran ran.

She mumbled to herself, and her gaze slowly turned to the beautiful and heroic woman standing beside her, her sister.

After she got married, she cut off all ties with her grandfather and no longer contacted her. She had left decisively.

However, she did not blame her at all.

She had always doted on her so she must have her own reasons for not contacting her, so she did not bother her. She would only send her a text message to wish her well every New Year and festival. She would briefly tell her about her current situation, but she would always pick the good ones because she did not want her to worry.

She would not have bothered her if she had not run out of ideas. The acquisition of shares required a huge sum of money, and it was an urgent need. Her grandfather could not get the money, and neither could she. Therefore, she could only place her last hope on her sister.

Su Wanwan closed her eyes, took a deep breath, and opened her eyes. She picked up her phone and dialed the number that she had memorized but had never dialed.

The Dudu sound rang in her ear. Su Wanwan's heart couldn't help but speed up, pounding her chest. She couldn't help but let her imagination run wild. What if her sister didn't answer her call? What if my sister doesn't have money? What if his sister refused to lend him the money?

The phone was connected in su Wanwan's wild imagination. Her sister's voice was as indifferent as in her memory and also very straightforward, " what's the matter? "

Su Wanwan couldn't help but cough lightly. She originally had a stomach full of words, but now her mind was blank. She was half-mute and only remembered one sentence, " sister, I need money.

"How much?"

Su Wanwan swallowed her saliva and roughly said a number.

Perhaps the number was too big, there was a second of silence on her sister's side. Su Wan opened her mouth and was about to say that if there was no, there was no need to force it. Her sister had already answered, " okay, give me a week's time. I will transfer it to your account.

Su Wanwan was stunned. She stammered, " sister, you, you, you, don't you want to ask me why I need so much money? "

"You're my sister, what's there to ask?"

Just these few simple words instantly made su Wanwan's eyes wet. Her sister left so resolutely at that time. In her heart, she really thought that she had even lost her sister, but it turned out that she had always loved her like this.

her nose was sour and su wanwan's voice trembled slightly, " sister, thank you. i love you. "

After a pause, su Wanwan swallowed the sobs in her throat and continued, " after I'm done with my work, I'll go and see you, okay? "

However, as soon as she said that, her sister hung up the phone without hesitation.

Su Wanwan couldn't help but pout. Her sister's character hasn't changed. She didn't know what happened between her and her brother-in-law. She couldn't be compared to her. She could endure and give in, while her brother-in-law could only stammer.

su wanwan couldn't help but have a headache when she thought of what happened in the past.

A week later, her sister punctually transferred the money into su Wanwan's account. After su Wanwan checked the account and confirmed the amount, she sent a text message to her sister to thank her and immediately let people contact those shareholders.

This was because the PEI family group had bought more shares in the past week, and they were now close to 40%!
