

Deeply 352

352 The choice (8)

PEI Munian's car followed su Wanwan's car all the way to the hospital. When he saw her get out of the car, he also found a parking space and parked the car. Then, he followed su Wanwan into the hospital.

The nurse led su Wanwan to the brain Department. PEI Munian's Black eyes swept over the two words and knew that her intuition was probably right. Su Wanwan's head might really have a problem.

PEI Munian's Black eyes narrowed. She suppressed the worry in her heart and continued to follow.

In order not to be discovered, he always kept a certain distance from su Wanwan, so when he walked to the door of the consultation room, he just happened to hear su Wanwan say that she was pregnant.

PEI Munian's breathing stagnated slightly.

It turned out that Yueyue didn't lie to him about her pregnancy. She was really pregnant. At first, he still had a glimmer of hope that she was just trying to goad him into signing the divorce papers.

PEI Munian lowered her eyes, a dull pain still in her heart.

No man could remain unmoved at this time. Not to mention, su Wanwan was the woman he loved deeply.

PEI Munian's hands clenched unconsciously, and the veins on the back of her hands bulged. However, he could only suppress the pain and turmoil in his heart.

Then, he heard the doctor ask, " How long have you been pregnant? "

PEI Munian unconsciously took two steps back. She didn't want to continue hearing that cruel answer from su Wanwan's mouth. The pain that her words just brought to him was still overflowing in his body. He simply couldn't bear the pain of a sharp knife stabbing his heart ruthlessly a second time.

He lifted his feet and wanted to turn around and leave, but his brows were tightly furrowed. There was struggle and hesitation in his eyes, but in the end, he could not leave. He was worried about her headache and wanted to know the specific cause of her illness.

Su Wanwan finally opened her mouth. Her voice was still a little weak and low, " doctor, I'm now about a month pregnant.

A month's sleep

PEI Munian was already prepared to tear her heart out again, but she did not expect to hear this answer. He was stunned on the spot, his black eyes widened and his pupils constricted. His mind was blank.

Su Wanwan told him the time of her pregnancy and the time written on the pregnancy form was six weeks. If it was six weeks, then it would be one and a half months. Su Wanwan answered that it was about one month. Did she just give a vague answer? one month or so also included one and a half months, or did ran ran's real pregnancy time was only one month?

If it's a month old, could this child be his?

PEI Munian could not describe what she was feeling at this moment. It was as if the skylight was suddenly opened when she was originally trapped in the boundless darkness. Rays of sunlight shone in, and her cold gaze warmed up little by little.

“A month? It’s definitely impossible to do a CT scan at this time, but miss su, a blood clot in the brain can be big or small. You said that you’ve had a headache for quite some time, causing your memory to be blurry and you’re also sleepy. These are all very bad signs, so I suggest that you do a CT scan as soon as possible to find out the cause.”

if I do the examination as soon as possible, what will happen to my child? ” miss su, let’s put it this way. If the results show that there’s something wrong with your brain, you’ll have to undergo surgery. If you undergo surgery, we’ll suggest that you terminate the pregnancy. The child can’t be kept.