The doctor looked up at su Wanwan.

Su Wanwan clenched her hands tightly. Her voice trembled, but her tone was very firm. I won't accept the examination. I can't let my child suffer any harm. Doctor, is there, is there any other way? "

"At the moment, there's no other way, because both CT and MRI scans will affect the child to a certain extent."

miss su, you're still very young, " the doctor said. there's still a chance for you to get pregnant again in the future. Isn't it more important to keep your life now? " Or, you can discuss it with your husband."

"No need!"

Su Wanwan opened her mouth again and refused without hesitation, " doctor, I've already decided. Thank you for your concern.

Su Wanwan pursed her lips. Her voice was a little low and hoarse, with traces of fear. I, I just want to know, if there's really a blood clot in my brain, can I, can I give birth to my child safely? "

The doctor pondered for a moment. I've already analyzed it with you just now. If there really is a blood clot in your brain, it will cause many problems. It might even be life-threatening, Hanhan.

"I know, I know, but even if there's a blood clot, the symptoms will show up slowly, right? It won't affect my child during this period, right? Perhaps, the child will be born before anything happens to me?" Su Wanwan said eagerly.

of course, if you're lucky, this situation will still happen. But if it drags on for so long, no one can predict what will happen. Maybe you'll give birth safely, but it'll be too late for the operation by then.

Su Wanwan's lips curved slightly. as long as the child can be born safely, that's enough.

Su Wanwan slowly stood up, her hand slightly clenched her bag tightly, maintained her smile, and softly said: doctor, thank you for today. I'll take my leave now.

Looking at su Wanwan's determined appearance, the doctor didn't say anything more. However, she was Dr. Yu's good friend after all, so the doctor still persuaded her again, " miss su, it's better to seriously consider things that are related to your life.

The doctor gulped and said, " how about this? since you don't want to be examined now, I'll prescribe you some medicine for external use. Use it first and see if the wound on your forehead will subside. Will your headache get better? this won't affect the fetus.

Su Wanwan's eyes suddenly flashed with a touch of light. okay.

The doctor took the prescription and wrote it down while continuing to remind her, " you must be careful in the future. Don't knock your head again, and avoid any strenuous exercise. Try to rest more and keep your mood good. However, if you find yourself in the condition I told you before, such as hemiplegia, partial blindness, or deliriousness, you must come to the hospital immediately, understand?

Su Wanwan lowered her eyes, her lips moved, but she didn't answer the doctor's words.

PEI Munian, who was standing outside the door, heard the entire conversation inside. He stood there stiffly, as if the blood in his body had frozen.

When he heard that su Wanwan was about a month pregnant, when he learned that the child might be him, his heart suddenly filled with warmth and throbbing, but in the next second, it was ruthlessly shattered.
