

Deeply 374

374 You've won (8)

The sunlight from outside the window slanted in and shone on PEI Munian's face. His facial features were surrounded by a circle of light, but he could not feel a trace of warmth. There was only a bone-chilling cold that attacked him fiercely.

PEI Munian closed his eyes and used all his strength to suppress the thought of going back on his words. He forced himself to lift his feet, turn around, and walk out of the ward.

Su Wanwan watched as PEI Munian's figure slowly disappeared from her sight. There was joy in her eyes, but there was also a little sadness. This time, her and PEI Munian's quarrel should have really ended.

She blinked slowly and her eyes turned red again. Her threat of death had forced PEI Munian to show some conscience. This was the first time she had defeated PEI Munian.

She had only won this one time in the love that had lasted since she was 18 years old. It was sad.

Su Wanwan's hand slowly covered her stomach and gently caressed it. Fortunately, she could keep him. In the future, she had a baby, Huahua's and her baby. That was enough.

It was just that she would have to let her baby down because she would never be able to tell him that PEI Munian was his father in this lifetime.

Su Wanwan didn't stay in the hospital for long. She borrowed the nurse's phone and called Xiaomei, asking her to pick her up.

Xiaomei came very quickly and ran into the ward breathlessly. When she saw su Wanwan's weak appearance, her tears fell immediately. sister Wanwan, I couldn't contact you these few days. You scared me to death. Why are you in the hospital? Are you alright?"

"It's fine now. It's all in the past, Zhenzhen." Su Wanwan replied in a low voice and then laughed, "let's go, we'll leave this place first."

Although PEI Munian had promised to let her go, there was a possibility that he would go back on his word. Hence, the most important thing now was for her to leave this hospital as soon as possible and get out of PEI Munian's sight.

—

Xiao Mei helped su Wanwan out of the hospital. She opened the door of the back seat of the car and let su Wanwan sit in. She gently closed the door, then went around to the driver's seat, opened the door, sat in, and started the car.

On the balcony on the second floor of the hospital.

Assistant Wu turned to look at PEI Munian, who was standing quietly at the side. He was like a still statue, standing there without moving. There was no expression on his handsome face, and there was a little warmth. No one could guess what he was thinking.

Assistant Wu looked downstairs again. His eyes were filled with worry and anxiety. He tried to hold it in, but he could not. boss PEI, are you really going to let young Madam leave just like that? ”

She didn't abort the child. The child was a time bomb that could take her life at any moment. Was big Boss going to ignore it?

It was as if PEI Munian did not hear assistant Wu's words. Her dark eyes were deep and unfathomable, without any waves.

Assistant Wu was a typical eunuch who was anxious when the Emperor was not. He had watched the two of them grow in love and truly did not want to see them end up like this. He could not help but say, ” boss PEI, it's not too late for you to regret it now.

Downstairs, the car was already slowly driving away. Assistant Wu looked at PEI Munian's indifferent expression and sighed in regret.

However, before he could finish sighing, he heard PEI Munian's deep voice. I will not give up on su Wanwan.

Assistant Wu was stunned. What did this Wanwan mean?