

Deeply 385

385 The worst case scenario (5)

Some time ago, because of that incident, PEI Munian often stayed by her side. They slowly returned to being as close as before, and her thoughts could not help but grow again.

No, it should be said that her feelings for PEI Munian had never stopped. She had lost her innocence because she had saved PEI Munian. This was her best opportunity to make use of PEI Munian's guilt to hold him firmly by her side.

However, even if PEI Munian and su Wanwan were in such a deadlock, he didn't have the thought of giving up on her. She also knew that as long as su Wanwan was around, it would always affect his heart and he would never be able to face her. So, she could only think of a way to make su Wanwan give up on her own.

She asked su Wanwan out to meet and provoked her with words. In the end, she was slapped in the face. After that, she disregarded everything and went all out. She asked PEI Munian for a responsible result, but he also rejected her mercilessly.

He said that he could give her anything, except love and marriage.

However, what she wanted was his love and marriage!

After PEI Munian left that night, he did not come over to accompany her with just a call like before. Instead, he hired a caretaker to take care of her personally and even hired a psychologist to counsel her. He even gave her a supplementary card to let her buy whatever she wanted.

He had been so thoughtful and thorough, but it was equivalent to a tight slap on her face.

He had always been like this. He never gave her any extra space to fantasize. He was very clear-cut.

It had not been easy for her to finally get a chance to get close to him again. She had lost such a precious and important first night, and her innocence had been forcibly taken away. How could she be willing to accept that she could not exchange that pain for PEI Munian?

As the saying goes, a thought becomes a devil.

In the end, Xi Zhiwei was not willing to give up. She had given everything and she had to get something in return. She thought about it and thought of Mrs. PEI.

Mrs. PEI had always liked her and had always treated her as half a daughter and future daughter-in-law. She couldn't make su Wanwan take the initiative to divorce, but Mrs. PEI could. To convince Mrs. PEI to help her, that was simple. She only needed a bargaining chip.

She did not expect to receive another piece of good news after she convinced Mrs. PEI.

A paparazzi she was familiar with knew that she had been paying attention to su Wanwan's scandal. He happened to take a photo of su Wanwan and the young master of the gong family dating by the beach. He contacted her and she immediately bought it at a high price and asked him to find a way to publish the news.

On Mrs. PEI's side, after confirming that she was pregnant, she happily said that after PEI Munian and su Wanwan divorced, she would hold a wedding for them.

Everything developed as she expected and everything was so beautiful. Little did she know that PEI Munian and su Wanwan had not filed for divorce yet.

And during this time, she couldn't contact PEI Munian much. She was even more anxious and uneasy, afraid that PEI Munian and su Wanwan would rekindle their old feelings.

Now that she had finally found PEI Munian, she was being ridiculed by assistant Wu. Xi Zhiwei was so angry that her face turned white. However, she could not refute her words and her anger was stuck in her chest.

Suddenly, the phone on the bedside table rang. Xi Zhiwei's attention was immediately attracted to it.

Isn't this brother mu Nian's phone?

Xi Zhiwei reached out and picked up the phone. She glanced at the screen.
