

Deeply 386

386 The worst case scenario (6)

Xi Zhiwei reached out and picked up the phone. She glanced at the screen. There was a new text message on the screen. It was from someone named aunt Zhang.

Who was aunt Zhang?

Xi Zhiwei's eyes flashed with confusion. Then, she saw the first few words of the message on the screen. [ miss su is starting to show signs of pregnancy, Yingluo. ]

Xi Zhiwei's eyes suddenly froze. Her black eyes stared at the line of words and she shook her head in disbelief.

Miss su.

Pregnancy.

These two words were like a bomb that exploded in her mind. Her hand trembled and she almost lost her grip on the phone.

Su Wanwan is pregnant?

She was actually pregnant?

No matter how much she calculated, she would never have thought that su Wanwan was actually pregnant!

Xi Zhiwei suddenly remembered that one night, Mrs. PEI wanted to talk to PEI Munian about their relationship and asked him to return to the old mansion. However, when Mrs. PEI mentioned marriage, PEI Munian frowned and rejected her.

Mrs. PEI saw that her expression had changed and sent her away. When she walked out of the living room, a servant took PEI Munian's phone and said that he left it in the dining room. She took it and wanted to give it to him after he finished talking with Mrs. PEI. Unexpectedly, she saw su Wanwan's call. The phone rang once and was quickly cut off.

Xi Zhiwei narrowed her eyes and thought about it. Although she didn't know if su Wanwan made this call intentionally or unintentionally, she still wanted to declare her sovereignty and let her understand that PEI Munian no longer belonged to her.

Hence, she made an excuse that her phone had run out of battery and borrowed PEI Munian's phone to call back.

At that time, she only said hello and su Wanwan hung up the phone. She thought that the call could completely cut off her thoughts because after that, she didn't see su Wanwan pestering PEI Munian again.

She really thought that there was only a divorce agreement left between su Wanwan and PEI Munian, but their Yueyue had a deeper bond?

What was going on? PEI Munian couldn't have been with su Wanwan all this time, right? Did they make up again?

No, no, it's impossible. They've already come this far, how can they make up?

Xi Zhiwei took a deep breath and tried to calm herself down. She could not panic. She had to figure out the ins and outs of the matter!

Xi Zhiwei thought back carefully. She had watched PEI Munian unlock the phone that night and roughly remembered the password. She tried a few times and finally unlocked the phone. Her hands were trembling as she clicked on his messages.

During this time, this Auntie Zhang had sent many text messages to PEI Munian. The contents of the text messages were all about su Wanwan's daily life, about her pregnancy, and about Hanhan's illness.

Xi Zhiwei was shocked again. Su Wan was not only pregnant, but her head was also sick?

After su Wanwan installed the camera, she would take time to look at it almost every day. Every time she looked at it, she was surprised and helpless. She did forget some things in a day's time, but fortunately, she always remembered that she was pregnant and did not do anything dangerous. She slowly put her heart at ease.

Two months passed quietly like this. Su Wanwan was already three months pregnant. Tomorrow, she had to go for a pregnancy test to check if her child was healthy and if he was affected by her headache.
