

Deeply 43

Chapter 43 I won't disturb you III

Su Wanwan raised her head and looked at the clock hanging on the wall of the waiting room. The hour hand was already pointing to eleven o'clock, but PEI Munian still hadn't come.

It took a full two hours. Even if there was a traffic jam, they should have arrived by now.

Then, did he have something else to do at the last minute, or did he go back on his word?

Su Wanwan couldn't say what she was feeling at the moment. It's good that she wanted him to go back on his word. She actually didn't want to force him to marry her like this, but she was also afraid that he would go back on his word. After all, it was urgent to look down on Madam su.

Su Wanwan took out her phone and hesitated about whether to call him to ask, but the words he said to her last night floated up in her ears involuntarily and her fingers froze again.

If she were to call him, he would definitely say some extremely unpleasant things, right?

Su Wanwan was really a little afraid of the words he said now because every word he said was like a bone-piercing sharp knife, stabbing people too painfully.

—

PEI Munian could not sleep for the entire night. He sat on the bed and watched as the dark screen gradually turned white and the sun rose. The sun was shining brightly.

Today was a good day for marriage.

It wasn't the day his mother had chosen for him, but the day he had found on the calendar. It was the nearest good day.

No matter how many times he denied it, he could not fool his own heart. Regarding the question Lu Sheng asked him before, his answer was yes.

He married her because he still loved her, and because he still loved her, he hated her schemes even more. He hated her for not loving him.

He watched the clock tick away as time passed. Suddenly, he had the urge to retreat. Was he really going to force a woman who didn't love him to stay by his side in this way?

He thought about it for a long time, but there was no answer.

He only knew that if he didn't force her to stay, he would never be able to get su Wanwan in this life.

He couldn't help but recall the words she had said to him in the hotel that day. you said that I wouldn't appear in front of you again. I won't appear in front of you again, Hanhan. Never again, Hanhan.

Just like three years ago, when he told her not to let him see her again, she really did not let him see her for three years.

As PEI Munian thought about it, she couldn't help but feel a touch of panic.

He didn't want to spend the rest of his life in that kind of pain three years ago and the heart-wrenching three years. He might as well tie her to his side, even if they had to torture each other.

PEI Munian immediately got out of bed, quickly washed up and got dressed. Then, she grabbed her wallet and car keys and quickly went out.

PEI Munian stepped on the accelerator and sped all the way. In less than twenty minutes, she arrived at the Civil Affairs Bureau. It was already 11:55 A. M. There were only five minutes left before work ended in the morning.

He got out of the car, closed the door, and strode into the Civil Affairs Bureau.

—

Su Wanwan raised her head to look at the time for the nth time and then glanced around. The seats were originally full of people, but now she was the only one left.

Su Wanwan knew that she probably didn't have to wait anymore. PEI Munian might be unwilling to marry her.

Although she felt that this was quite good, she couldn't suppress the inexplicable disappointment in her heart. She curled her lips and laughed at herself. Then, she stood up, picked up her bag, and was about to leave.

Suddenly, a tall figure walked into the waiting room. Su Wanwan looked over and was stunned for a moment. Then, in her beautiful big eyes, a trace of light flashed uncontrollably. Her voice was a little light. PEI Munian, you're here, Yingluo.