PEI Munian's eyes were filled with a smile. She rubbed su Wanwan's head and replied, "okay."

PEI Munian turned around and walked out of the room. She closed the door gently and took a few steps forward to pick up the red wine and wine glass that he had left on the floor earlier. She walked to the sofa and said, "dad."

Mr. PEI's dark eyes looked up. His eyes were calm and emotionless. He asked calmly, "you two haven't broken up?"

PEI Munian was opening a bottle of red wine when he heard this. He looked up at his father and replied matter-of-factly, "we're husband and wife. Naturally, we won't be separated."

"What about Wei Wei?"

PEI Munian's eyes narrowed. He pulled the lid off the red wine and poured two glasses of red wine. He pushed one glass in front of father PEI and replied unhurriedly, "father, I only treat Weiwei as my younger sister."

if it's a younger sister, what's with the child in her stomach?"

PEI Munian rubbed her tired eyes. He picked up the red wine and took a sip before helplessly saying, "dad, I've said it before. Although I can't explain anything to you about this matter, this child won't change my relationship with Weiwei, and it won't affect my marriage with Wanwan."

Father PEI also took a sip of wine. so, you don't intend to give up on su Wanwan?"

"No, I didn't," PEI Munian answered without hesitation, "I still owe her a status and a wedding. I will make it up to her in one piece."

Mr. PEI fell silent and looked into PEI Munian's eyes for a few seconds. He could see the determination and persistence in his son's eyes. After a long while, he said, "Munian, you're an adult now. I believe that you have your own opinions and ideas, so I've never interfered in your Affairs. However, I have to care about the PEI family's reputation and your mother's thoughts. Your mother was very unhappy about the scandal that happened between Wanwan and that Gong family brat."

"No, I'll see you next time."

Father PEI turned around and walked away. PEI Munian's eyes darkened. It seemed that although her father did not object, he had some opinions about Wanwan.

However, it wasn't a good time to talk about it now, so PEI Munian could only send father PEI out.

Su Wanwan hurriedly washed up and changed into the new clothes that PEI Munian had ordered someone to prepare for her. After tidying herself up, she took a deep breath and was about to go out.
