

Deeply 554

554 Is this what you want?(4)

The sun was just right and it was bright and dazzling. As it was against the light, the guests could not see the person's face clearly. Only PEI Munian's smile froze the moment she looked up.

Yu Jia took a deep breath, lifted her skirt, stepped over the steps, and walked into the church.

She walked in front of PEI Munian and handed the letter to her, saying, "Wanwan asked me to give this to you."

PEI Munian lowered her eyes and her dark eyes fell on the letter in Yu Jia's hands. On the envelope, his name was written in elegant and bright handwriting.

PEI Munian stared at it for a long time before he raised his hand and took the envelope. He then opened it and took out the letter.

PEI Munian, you didn't expect me to take revenge on you in the same way, did you? however, today's wedding is much grander than the banquet. If I dump you in public, you'll probably lose more face than I do. However, that's what you deserve because the pain you've inflicted on me is much more than this.

let me tell you, I've never forgotten the past. After I woke up from the operation, the first time I saw you, I was thinking about how to get revenge, how to get justice for myself and my poor child. So I pretended to lose my memory so that I could stay by your side and look for a chance to take revenge.

PEI Munian, you'll experience all the humiliation I've suffered today. Oh, right, I've already aborted the child. It's a meaningless child anyway. We can call it even now.

"The divorce agreement is in your hands. We've already signed it. You only need to hand it to the lawyer. From now on, we'll have nothing to do with each other!"

PEI Munian's hand that was holding the envelope trembled slightly. The abortion papers inside slipped out, fluttered in the air a few times, and landed at his feet.

PEI Munian's gaze shifted to the list. He bent down and picked it up. After looking at it, he actually smiled. However, that smile was extremely sad.

Wanwan, is this what you want?" He slowly opened his mouth, his voice extremely hoarse.

How could he not see her change? he saw the plane tickets and cash she had put in the drawer, but he hoped that his love could melt her hatred and make her willing to stay by his side.

However, to her, his love had always been the one thing she didn't care for the most.

He didn't mind if she was angry at him or even wanted to take revenge on her. He actually knew that she might not come to today's wedding, so he didn't stop the wedding. He hoped that Hanhan could take revenge on him, but she could stay after she had vented her anger.

However, she was more determined than he had imagined.

A happy future was ultimately just his extravagant wish.

PEI Munian's hands clenched tighter and tighter, and the veins on the back of his hands bulged. He looked at Yu Jia, his voice trembling slightly. she knows that I'm waiting for her, doesn't she? "

"But she still left, didn't she?"

Yu Jia lowered his head and sighed.

—

The wedding was held at 9 am. Su Wanwan's flight was at 9 am. Su Wanwan sat in the waiting room and listened to the broadcast repeatedly reminding her that the plane she was going to take was about to take off. After boarding the plane three times as soon as possible, she stood up and walked towards the boarding gate.

After boarding the plane, the flight attendant checked the seat belt and told the passenger to turn off his seat. Su Wanwan was about to turn off her seat when her phone beeped and a text message came.