624 Thirty-six ways to pursue your husband (4)

PEI Munian's hands, which were hanging by his sides, clenched tightly. He furrowed his brows and swept his dark eyes over her body. He quickly retracted his gaze and walked away without hesitation.

Su Wanwan caught a glimpse of PEI Munian's movements from the corner of her eye. Her hands supported herself on the ground and she wanted to get up by herself, but her body had only gotten up a little when she fell back down heavily. Su Wanwan seemed to be in pain from the fall and gasped.

PEI Munian, who was walking up the steps, paused.

When su Wanwan saw this, a trace of slyness flashed in her eyes. Her hand once again supported herself on the ground, but once her body sat up, she fell back weakly. In order to make it look real, su Wanwan could only fall for real. She closed her eyes and waited for the pain to come, but this time, she didn't fall on the hard floor, but in a warm embrace.

Su Wanwan opened her eyes in shock.

She did not know when PEI Munian had returned, but she caught her falling body with both hands. With a tug of his arms, he lifted her up in his arms expressionlessly and strode into the house.

Happiness came too suddenly. Su Wanwan leaned in PEI Munian's arms. She was only pretending to be dizzy, but now she really felt a little dizzy.

PEI Munian still cared about her, didn't he?

So when she was drowning, he jumped into the water to save her without a word. Just now, he couldn't bear to see her fall again and again, so he came over to carry her back to the house.

She knew that she still existed in PEI Munian's heart. Perhaps he was really just angry at her.

Su Wanwan's eyes brightened at the thought of this. Her hands subconsciously wrapped around PEI Munian's neck. Her head leaned against PEI Munian's chest and she listened to his steady and powerful heartbeat. The corners of her lips rose slightly.

Her soft and gentle voice rang out. niannian, you clearly still care about me. If you're just angry, you can be angry for a while longer. It's okay. But Yingluo, don't always push me away, okay? "

She had indeed been too heartless and hurt him too much when she ran away from the marriage.

As long as he still had feelings for her and excluded her, he could be angry however he wanted. In any case, she would be able to coax him back in the end.

However, as soon as su Wanwan's words fell, she was also thrown down.

Before she knew it, PEI Munian had already carried her to the guest room she had slept in last night. She was thrown onto the soft bed. PEI Munian stood by the bed and interrupted her beautiful fantasy without leaving any room for her.

"Su Wanwan, I just don't want to see anyone die in my villa to avoid trouble."

PEI Munian left this sentence unceremoniously, turned around, and strode out of the room. He even slammed the door loudly.

Su Wanwan sat on the bed in a daze and stayed for a long time before she slowly returned to her senses.

Although PEI Munian's words were as cold and impolite as before, this time, she was not as sad and hurt as before. Instead, she felt a strange joy.

She suddenly felt that PEI Munian was using his anger to cover up his true thoughts.

His words were not pleasant to hear, but he was indeed concerned about her. It was a pity that he had left too quickly, and she did not have time to see the expression on his face.

However, she was sure of one thing. PEI Munian could resist her raw strength, but she could not resist her weakness. It seemed that she had been wrong.

Su Wanwan's beautiful eyes blinked and another plan came to her mind!
