

Deeply 667

667 I don't want to owe her (13)

Yu Jia had been suppressing her anger, but when she heard his last sentence, she couldn't hold it in anymore. She looked up at Gong Lingyu and smiled.

Gong Lingyu's eyes brightened. He thought that she could finally calm down and was about to say something when Yu Jia suddenly took a step closer to him, bent her knee, and slammed it between Gong Lingyu's legs.

"Wuwuwuwu."

Gong Lingyu groaned and bent down while holding his leg. He frowned in pain and looked at Yu Jia in disbelief. Yu Jia, you ... You ... You ...

"The lady who went on a blind date with you was right. You're a bastard!"

Yu Jia rudely pulled Gong Lingyu away, pulled open the door, sat in the car, started the engine, stepped on the accelerator, and the car sped away.

Through the rearview mirror, Yu Jia looked at Gong Lingyu, who was still curled up in the same place, and bit her lower lip hard.

She had been going on blind dates for so long and finally met such an excellent man, but he ruined her life just like that. Yu Jia's hands were gripping the steering wheel so tightly that the veins on the back of her hands were popping.

When he kissed her just now, her heart actually throbbed. Bastard, bastard, bastard!

Now that she was in such an awkward situation with Dr. Xu, how was she going to help Wanwan find out more? She was so angry!

Yu Jia thought that after she embarrassed Dr. Xu today, she would receive a call from her professor at night to reprimand her. However, she waited for a whole night and her phone was silent. Yu Jia was surprised. She knew that if her previous blind dates choked on her words, they would definitely complain to the matchmaker when they got back. Did Dr. Xu not say anything or did he not say anything?

The next day, Yu Jia went to the hospital cafeteria for lunch. She didn't expect to run into Dr. Xu as soon as she entered the door. Yu Jia's eyes flashed awkwardly. Dr. Xu didn't say anything and just nodded at her indifferently. Then, he walked around her and was about to leave.

Yu Jia pursed her lips and opened her mouth subconsciously. Dr. Xu, I'm really sorry about yesterday.

Dr. Xu stopped in his tracks and smiled. It's okay. I can only say that we're not fated to be together.

Yu Jia's heart was touched again. Was she really going to miss such a gentlemanly man? That's such a pity!

Yu Jia furrowed her brows and said, "Doctor Xu, what happened yesterday was really a misunderstanding. You, you don't have time? Shall we have a chat?"

Doctor Xu hesitated for a few seconds and slowly nodded.

Su Wanwan opened her eyes. The sunlight from outside the window shone in. It was a new day.

She reached over to the bedside table and grabbed her phone. She opened the calendar on her phone. It had been a week since she had been chased back, but PEI Munian and Xi Zhiwei had not returned.

Su Wanwan stared at her phone screen. Her heart was getting more and more uncertain. There was no news from Yu Jia and PEI Munian and Xi Zhiwei were still alone abroad. Were her guesses just self-comforting?

Perhaps PEI Munian was not taking Xi Zhiwei to see a doctor, but really just did not want her to disturb her, so she went abroad to spend some time alone?

However, if that was the case, where should she go?

If PEI Munian really liked Xi Zhiwei and insisted on being with her, was she going to give up just like that? Could she really give up on PEI Munian?
