

Deeply 730

730 The courage to confess (2)

Su Wanwan took her phone and tried to call PEI Munian's number. As expected, it was turned off. She threw the phone back to the bedside table and collapsed on the big bed.

Usually, she did not think that the bed was very big. Today, without PEI Munian, she realized that the bed was extremely spacious and she would not fall off no matter how she rolled on it.

Su Wanwan got up, went to the bathroom to remove her makeup, took a shower, and then lay comfortably on the bed again.

She slept in PEI Munian's position. This place seemed to still have some of his scent. Su Wan hugged his pillow and took a deep breath, as if he was still by her side, making her somewhat chaotic heart slowly calm down.

Everything that had happened tonight was too sudden, and she was at her wits' end. If PEI Munian had not appeared, she would definitely be in a sorry state right now. She might even be on the headlines tomorrow morning, exposing how despicable and shameless she was.

Recently, because of PEI Munian's sudden change in attitude towards her, she had put all her attention on PEI Munian and neglected Xi Zhiwei. Since she hated her so much, she must be watching her all the time to find her faults and take the opportunity to beat her down.

This time, Xiao Zeze's incident had given her a huge alarm. As long as she made a mistake, no matter how well she hid it, it was possible to be discovered. This time, she had almost fallen for it.

Once PEI Munian did not believe her, everything she had done would be for naught. He might not even believe her anymore and want to divorce her.

Su Wanwan thought about it now and felt a wave of fear.

Back then, she was so anxious to find a bargaining chip to let her stay by PEI Munian's side, but she had forgotten the biggest hidden danger. After all, at that time, she was still confident that PEI Munian might love her and would tolerate her after knowing the truth. However, she had forgotten that what if he did not tolerate her?

The matter of the child had always been an extremely sensitive topic between them. After all, they had a falling out because of the first child, and she pretended to abort the second child, Yingluo. If PEI Munian found out that the third child was just a lie, Yingluo, she would be the one lying to her again.

Su Wanwan thought about it and her back couldn't help but break out in a cold sweat.

Sigh, indeed, she had imagined it too beautifully. She had thought that if she could have another child with PEI Munian, she could make up for this fake child. In the end, PEI Munian did not even touch her. She could not give birth to the child on her own!

However, today's banquet was equivalent to completely exposing the child in front of everyone. In the future, the child would receive a lot of attention. Furthermore, with Mrs. PEI's personality, once she knew that the child was her grandson, she would definitely come to see him often or even take care of him herself. That would be in danger of being exposed at any moment. Thus, the child's matter could not be kept a secret any longer.

What was she going to do?

If he said it, he would die, but if he didn't say it, he would die!

But if I say it, I'll die immediately. If I don't say it, Yingluo might be able to drag it out for a while.

Otherwise, she might as well have a test-tube baby. She did not have to go through the trouble of pouncing on PEI Munian and could just get her hands on his cassock.

Su Wanwan's thoughts were running wild when her phone suddenly rang. Su Wanwan took the phone and looked at it. It was PEI Munian calling. Su Wanwan's heart jumped, as if she had been caught doing something bad.

Su Wanwan took a deep breath, eased her mood, and then pressed the answer button.
